Frankly Warns Nations to Drop Bickering and Go to Work

Washington, May 5.—Ambassador Houghton's maiden speech in London, in which he stated with unusual frankness that unless the nations of Europe abandon their war-like bickering and get back to constructive work they need not look to America for any more help, is an accurate reflection of President Coolidge's views, it was ascertained today.

The ambassador, it was said, spoke "by the book" fresh from conferences with President Coolidge, Secretary of State Kellogg and other administration leaders, Mr. Houghton outlined with remarkable clarity and force the major tenets that are to guide the formation of American policy abroad for the next three years.

In every authoritative administration quarter today, there was voiced high praise of Ambassador Houghton's speech—something that has not always been true, concerning Ambassadoria lutterances at pilgrim dinners. Particular commendation was accorded the ambassador for cutting away the usual diplomatic "hokum" and bluntly telling Europe what is in the American mind.

The two paragraphs of Mr. Houghton's speech especially praised in administration circles here today were:

"The full measure of American helpfulness can be obtained only when the American people are assured that the time for destructive methods and policies has passed and that the time for peaceful upbuilding has come.

"Americans are asking themselves if that time has arrived. The answer must come from the people of Europe, who alone can make the decision. If the answer is peace, America will help to her generous utmost. But if that answer shall continue to be confused and doubtful, then I fear those helpful processes must inevitably cease. We are not, as a people, interested in making speculative advances."

In other words, the United States has now told Europe that the American people are willing to invest their money in Europe's future, but are not willing to buy wild cat stock and speculate on it.

As interpreted here, Ambassador Houghton's speech amounted to this:

1—A direct warning to Europe that there will be no more American loans abroad unless Europe ceases bickering and gets to work.

2—A more indirect but nevertheless significant warning to France and her continental allies not to seize upon Hindenburg's elections as an excuse to 'pick on" Germany.

3—A thinly veiled admonition to France that she had better abandon her stubborn opposition to a new arms conferences, such as President Coolidge is willing to call, and go along with the rest of the world toward reduced armaments and lesser military expenditure.

4—A notice to Europe and particularly France that America expects a business-like adjustment of her debts to the United States.

Not only at the White House and the state department was the ambassador's speech read with commendawell.

tory interest, but at the capitol as Senator William E. Borah, chairman of the senate committee on foreign relations, who does not always see eye to eye with the administration on matters of foreign policy, was among those who praised Houghton's utterances.

"I am thoroughly in accord with the sentiments expressed by Ambassador Houghton," said Borah. "He has pronounced a very wise and very timely policy."

Senator Shipstead, Farmer-Laborite of Minnesota, also a member of the committee, declared Houghton "pronounced a policy that should have been laid down at Versailles peace conference."

OBSERVE JUBILEE OF NATIONAL LOOP

Boston, May 5,—Preparations were being made here today for the celebration at Braves field Friday of the biggest baseball day of the year. The golden jubilee of the National League will be officially celebrated by the Braves and the Chicago Cubs, the only charter members of organized baseball. These two teams were in the original league in 1875 and remained throughout all the years.

All the big league officials of the game will be present. Commissioner of Organized Baseball Landis will be the honorary chairman.

The day will be a tribute to the baseball stars of bygone days.

Nap Lajoie, Jimmy Collins, Hans Wagner, John Morrill, George Wright and other past greats, have been invited to attend the jubilee.

START RE-APPRAISAL

McConnelsville, May 5 — Re-appraisal of the real estate of Morgan County has been started under the recently enacted law. Morgan County is a rural and is one of the first in Ohio to start placing its real estate on the tax duplicate at new figures.

"DRY NAVY" SAILS FOR WAR WITH "RUM FLEET"

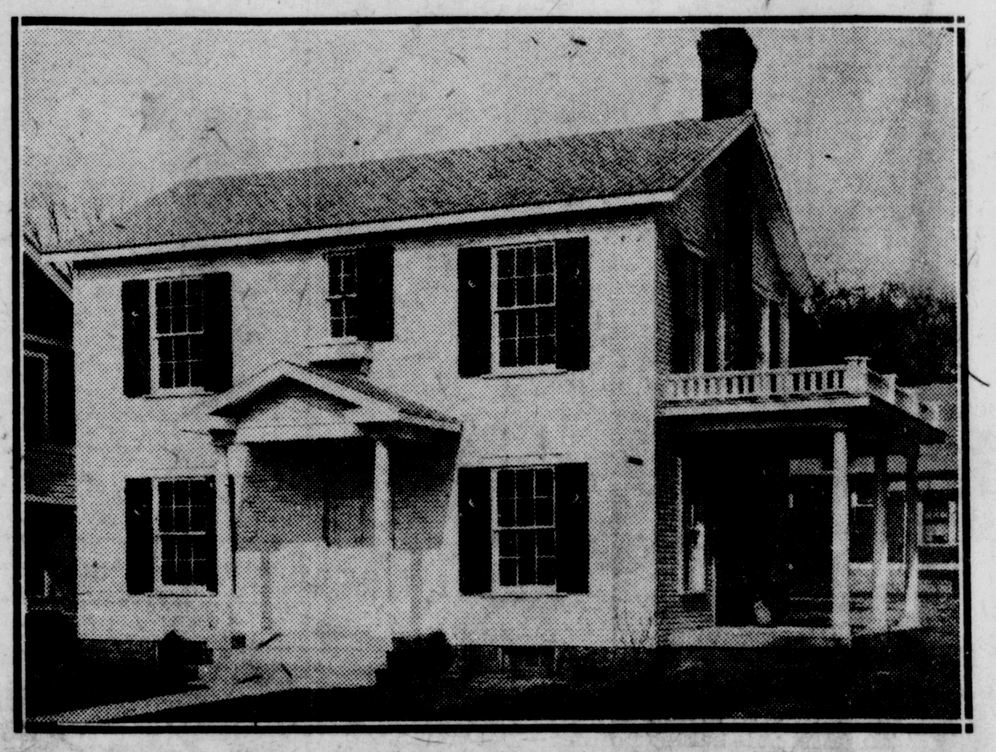
"DREAM HOME" IS READY FOR OPENING HERE THURSDAY



This new and modern residence at 831 North Galloway Street is Xenia's first "Dream Home".

It was erected by Frank L. Johnson who has invested considerably in residence construction on the North Side, as proof of his faith in the qualifications of this section as a home district.

Many Xenia craftsmen have contributed to the erection of this handsome new residence, and now interior decorators and experts in house furnishings, have provided the interior with that home-like atmosphere that is indispensible. These merchants have furnished the residence with everything necessary for a family moving into the house immediately, and in this finished form it will be thrown open to the public Thursday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday afternoons and evenings. The hours of visiting will be between 2 and 5 o'clock each afternoon and 7 and 10 o'clock each night. Visitors will be shown over the house from cellar to garage and it is expected that hundreds of Xenians will avail themselves of the opportunity to see the ideal home.

ARTISANS ADDING FINAL TOUCHES TO IDEAL RESIDENCE

Throngs Expected to Visit New House During Four Days Opening

Xenia's first "Dream Home," is being prettied up for the invasion of visitors expected to greet its opening for public inspection Thursday.

The house erected by Frank L. Johnson at 831 North Galloway Street, will be thrown open to visitors for the first time Thursday marking also the first time a "Dream Home" has been offered for inspection in this city.

The handsome new residence is being furnished and decorated with all the accoutrements of a real home for the influx of visitors Thursday, and elaborate plans are being prepared to receive sight-seers and show them over the house with every courtesy.

The hombe will be open for inspection Thursday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday, between the hours of 2 and 5 o'clock each afternoon and between the hours of 7 and 10 o'clock each evening. Visitors will find the in the block farthest north on Galloway Street, the second house south of Fairground Avenue.

They will be received by Mr. Johnson, builder of the residence, and a representative of the Adair furniture store, which furnished the "Dream Home" from top to bottom This includes properly selected furniture in each of the rooms, while the W. C. W. Company has decorated and papered the walls, the Anderson flower store is adding flowers for the interior and the Tiffany jewelry store has supplied the clocks and a tea set for the dining room.

The Dunkel Grocery Company has outfitted the kitchen with a supply of groceries, and that company will serve hot coffee in the dining room to the visitors. Visitors will find the newly finished house ready for occupancy, with all furnitire ready for use, groceries ready to prepare a meal and a Hudson automobile waiting in the garage.

Although this is the first "Dream Home" in Xenia, its patrons are certain the innovation will prove popular. They expect throngs will visit the residence not only to see the structure itself, with its new and modern features in home-building, to inspect the tastefully selected furnishings, designed best to fit the home both beautifully and comfortably, without extravagence or poor taste.

"DREAM HOME" FACTS

Xenia's first "Dream Home," erected by F. L. Johnson.

Location: 831 North Galloway Street, in block farthest north on that street and second house south of Fairground Avenue.

Opening dates: Thursday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday, May 7, 8, 9 and 10.

Hours: Each afternoon from 2 to 5 o'clock and each evening from 7 to 10 o'clock.

Experts Give Valuation Of Plant To Show Raise Justified

Columbus, O., May 5—Experts of the Logan Gas Company will seek to justify their demands for increased gas rates amounting to a monthly levy of 72 1-2 cents upo each of its tens of thousands of consumers by submitting a valuation of its physical property of $45,385,363, ompiled by Ford, Bacon and Davis, New York appraisal engineers.

Columbus, O., May 5—Experts for the Logan Gas Company today will begin their fight for a flat increase of approximately 73 cents per month, applicable to every consumer in 81 municipalities in norther Ohnio, at a hearing before the state utilities commission. Legal representative of the cities will oppose the proposed new rates as constituting a "camouflaged service charge."

The first move on behalf of the company is expected to be submission of valuation of its properities, reported to have just been completed by Ford, Bacon and Davis, industrial engineers of New York City. This valuation is expected to approxiamte $41,00,000, more than double the company's $20,000,000 capitalization. The last report shows the company paid a four per cent dividend of $800,000 and applied the remaining $60,000 of profits to surplus.

Once the company's valuation figures are before the commission counsel for the cities are expected to ask for time to check the figures submitted, and possibly to take exceptions to the total. The cities may request to submit valuations of their own, inasmuch as the base valuations will provide the main rate making basis and in the final adjudication of the proposed new rates. In the present inquiry, the burden of proof rests upon the company to prove to the commission that the proposed rates are reasonable.

The new rates are exactly like present rates with one exception. The present rate for the first 5,000 cubic feet is 48 cents with a three cent discount for prompt payment. The new rate is 95 cents for the first 500 cubic feet, and 48 cents per thousand for the next 4,500 cubic feet. The proposal in effect is an increase to all consumers of a flat 72 1-2 cents per month. Inasmuch as the company had just failed in a proposal to obtain a 75 cents service charge, opponents of the new rates will contend the new proposed rates constitute a service charge.

HENRY FORD ROAD IS SEEKING AUTHORITY TO ACQUIRE D. T. & I.

Application Says Both Roads Constitute One Road Under Same Management

Washington, May 5.—The Detroit and Ironton railroad, a Henry Ford railroad, applied to the interstate commerce commission today for authority to acquire and operate the Detroit, Toledo and Ironton railroad which also includes the Toledo-Detroit railroad.

The pr sopocaed

The proposed acquisition is to be brought about through issuance of Detroit and Ironton securities in exchange for those of the Detroit, Toledo and Ironton.

The application sets forth that the proposed acquisition and operation are in the public interest for the reason that both roads in fact constitute one road and can be most conveniently economically operated under one corporate management.

The Detroit and Ironton is better able than the Detroit, Toledo and Ironton to finance the ownership and operation of the combined properties, it was stated.

ENGLISH PAPERS COMMENT ON TALK MADE BY HOUGHTON

Post Suggests America Might Re-examine Inter-Allied Debt Problem

London, May 5—English newspapers gave considerable prominence today to the address last night of U. S. Ambassador Alanson B. Houghton at the Pilgrims dinner, in which he warned Europe that American financial and moral assistance will be withheld unless Europe settles its quarrels.

"The speech was one of great moment when the probable effect of recent political changes in Europe is not yet clear," the Times said.

The Post said:

"Houghton's warning was addressed particularly to countries of the continent, cheifly Germany. We suggest that while awaiting evidence of European good faith, America might re-examine the whole question of inter-allied debts. We are convinced the rigid attitude of the American official mind and the dunning speeches of Borah, do not represent the influential sections of the American electorate.

The Manchester Guardian took the position that when the good faith of Europe was assured, America would participate officially in European affairs and "pull with its full weight."

MYSTERY SURROUNDS DEATH OF MAN FOUND FLOATING IN RIVER

Dayton, May 5. — A handkerchief bearing laundry mark "356" and a gold wedding ring on the little finger of the left hand are the only clues through which Coroner John F. Torrence and the police hope to establish the identity of a white man whose body was found floating in the Miami River above Steele dam early Monday morning.

The body was discovered by John Linder, 1205 1-2 East Fifth Street, who was fishing from the dam, which is just below Island Park, and in the rear of McCook field.

DUTCH FLAPPERS COOK FOR PRINCE

Capetown, South Africa, May 5. —Eighteen year old girl residents of the Dutch city of Stollenbosch, Cape of Good Hope, cooked and served the luncheon which featured the visit of the Prince of Wales on his journey into Africa.

Guns from the old Stollenbosch forts, silent for 250 years, fired a salute to the young prince. College students defied a temperature of 90 degrees and pulled the guns two miles to make them available.

The road from Capetown to Stollenbosch is 31 miles long, yet it was lined with people who wanted to get a glimpse of the royal visitor.

The prettiest girls of the district waited on the prince serving him with turkey, chicken, roast beef and cold ham they had prepared and brought in great baskets of fruit and grapes, all of the food and fruit having been produced in the district.

The chairman had announced that there would be no speechmaking. The crowd was insistent that the Prince say a few words.

The prince finally rose and said to the assemblage in words of their native language:

"I thank you for your welcome and for your hospitality."

The fact that he had addressed them in their own tongue evoked a storm of cheers and enthusiastic welcome appeared to give the prince pleasure, for it was only a few months ago that Stollenbosch was the center of a secession movement.

DRUGSTORE COWBOYS AND FLAPPERS ARE O. K.

So Says Lady Aberdeen But Frau Mende Wants Slippers Resurrected

Washington, May 5.—Modern youth was heartily defended today by the Marchioness of Aberdeen, titled president of the International Council of Women.

In an interview with International News Service, the marchioness declared the American bobbed-haired, rouged-kneed, saucy-dispositioned flapper and the equally familiar "drugstore cowboy" will be the salvation of the world.

"I think today's young people are the most splendid the world has seen. They have odd traits, of course, but their independence is at the bottom of that familiar complaint," Lady Aberdeen continued.

"Who would think of comparing an 18-year old today with a similar youth of 100 years ago? The modern boy or girl is more intelligent, thinks independently and refuses to accept every thing blindly.

"Naturally it is disconcerting at times to be forced to accept a radically new attitude from children when we were bound by strict discipline and stricter conventions in our teens. But the new generation should be a direct example of the sound outlook of the present day youth."

Lady Aberdeen believes that refusal by present day children to believe everything they are told will cause an international revision of present day hostilities and pettishness. This view however, met with violent dis-political leader and member of the reichstag, thinks the flapper and her boy friend need a big portion of pre-war discipline—specifically a concerted move by parents toward slippers and hair brushes, dusty with use.

"The war let down the bars and the world must, for its own protection, put them up again," she said.

"Boys were away from the restraining discipline of home life for five years and their younger brothers and sisters were caught in the whirlwind of immorality which swept the world.

"The value of discipline in the raising of children is obvious. Without parental discipline, a child is handicapped both in the race for material success and moral happiness.

"Throughout history, the disciplined have succeeded. Self discipline enables one to master onself and build up a background of invaluable character—and this training must begin at home.

Frau Mende assserted that many of Germany's present day problems could be laid directly at the feet of Germany's children, who, by their refusal to work, prevented a speedy national recovery. She said this was the main reason why parents, in desperation, elected Hindenburg president, because they thought his efforts would cause a return to pre-war discipline.

FRENCH TROOPS AND RIFFIAN FORCES IN TERRIFIC BATTLE

Abdel Krim Is Concentrating Large Force—Spain To Stop Its Aggressive Campaign

Paris, May 5—A fierce battle is going on today between Franch troops and the Riffian forces under Abdel Krim at Bibane. French Morrocco and the situation "is serious," the Franch foreign office admitted this afternoon.

Abdel Krim is concentrating a force of 25.000 men around Chechouan, the foreign office said. The situation was critical the foreign office declared, because of the possiblity of a revolt of the native tribes.

Spain has definitely decided to stop its aggressive campaign against Abdel Krim in Spanish Morocco, a dispatch to the Paris Matin from Seville was taken to indicate. General Primo Reviera, president of the directory and high commissioner of Sapnish Morocco was quoted in a speech at Seville as saying there was "no economic compensation in Morocco to justify the great sacrifice of Spanish money and lives.

WANT SEED POTATOES

Athens, May 5—The Athens County Red Cross Society is making an appeal to farmers for seed potatoes for the gardens of the idle coal miners of the Hocking Valley field. The miners are willing to garden but cannot purchase seed, welfare workers said. Donation of small potatoes, which, otherwise, would be wasted, were requested.

SIX CRUISERS AND TWENTY SPEEDBOATS TO PATROL RUM ROW

Coast Guard Unit Is Ordered To Shoot to Stop Vessels

New York, May 5.—The advance guard of the United States "dry navy" put to sea today to open its war against the "rum fleet" 30 miles at sea.

The deteachment, six cruisers and twenty speedboats left the coast guard base at Clifton, Staten island, under orders to blockade rum row. All the boats were armed with machine guns and "one pounders."

The cruisers were the Seneca, the Rad Wing, the Cresham, the Yanaraw, the Manhatan and the Agusmet.

Another step in one of the government's biggest crugades against bootleggin g was the jailing of the nineteen members of the Staten Island unit of the coast guard. The men were charged with dishonest practices in connection with prohibition enforcement. They were arrested last night.

All along the New Jersey and Long Island coasts, the "dry army" under divisional Provisional Chief A. R. O. Merrick, was guarding every cove and inlet.

Thirty miles at sea where the rum fleet rolls in the Atlantic swells the skipper's were getting uneasy.

It's getting pretty tight" One of the most active captains in the bootlegging business said.

"It looks as though we'll have to pick up and move along. Our landing have fallen off at least fifty percent in the last month.

"We expect to stay out thirty or forty days," one of the coast guardsmen said. "We're going to park there until rum row is cleared of ships."

Captain W. V. E. Jones, commandant of the coast guard in the Yew York area, explained that there had been no orders issued to his men "to shoot to kill."

Coast guard officers said the orders were first to give two preliminary warning shots across the bow of any vessel failing to give signals and then to "shot to hit 'em."

Divisional prohibition Chief R. O. Merrick, who has recently returned from a 350 mile inspection trip along the New Jersey and Long Island coasts declared transportation of contraband liquor had fallen off 90 percent during the month of April.

CRISIS INDICATED IN WEST VIRGINIA COAL STRIKE NEAR

Contempt Charges Come Up In Federal Court Against Score of Miners

Wheeling, W. Va., May 5—Developments in the coal strike in panhandle counties of West Virginia today indicated a crisis near, two events outstanding.

First of these was the coming up of contempt charges in federal court here today against a score of members of the United Mine Workers officials and members alleging violation of strike injunction ,and second, the decision of the mine workers at Pomeroy, Ohio, to break away from the parent organization and go back to work under the 1917 scale. The Pomeroy minres have formed an independent local named "the golden rule" and just what effect their action will have upon other unions is today causing officials of the mine workers much uneasiness and state and national officers are hurrying to Pomeroy in an effort to have the action rescinded.

The first injunction matters against mine workers come before Judge Baker in federal court today, when the special term closes and is merged into opening of the regular May term.

PAIR FINED

Elmer Bowmaster, this city was fined $25 and costs and sentenced to spend thirty days in the County Jail by Judge S. C. Wright when he pleaded guilty to a charge of operating an auto while intoxicated in Probate Court Monday afternoon. John Stewart, colored, East Second Street, arrested with Bowmaster Sunday, was fined $25 and costs on a charge of drunk when he pleaded guilty.

BAKER WILL SPEAK

Oberlin, May 5—The Oberlin College graduation exercises will start June 11, ending June 16. Illumination Night on June 13 and the commencement address, on June 15, by former Secretary of War Baker, Cleveland, are features of the program.

DOCTORS WILL MEET IN BIG CONVENTION IN ATANTIC CITY

Chicago, May 5.—Hotels on the board walk of Atlantic City, during ing the week of May 25-29, will house the greatest number of physicians ever gathered at the sea side city, according to an announcement made here by the Journal of the American Medical Association.

The annual session of the American Medical Association, which will dominate Atlantic City at that time, has arranged to use the entire steel pier for its general meetings and its exhibits and to use available halls in most of the big hotels for special sessions.

In addition to the association, some fifteen or twenty other medical bodies will hold meetings just previous to or following the convention of the major organization.

MEDCAL FILMS

A significant feature of the session will be a motion picture theatre devoted to the showing of special medical films prepared for the occasion.

A film prepared by Dr. Alexi-Carrell, of the Rockefeller institute will reveal the growth of a living human cell outside the body as done experimentally by him in tubes of culture medium.

A film prepared by Dr. Clark W. Finnerud, Chicago, will show the development of ringworm and the different procedures used in healing such a lesion.

A special exhibit will be devoted to heart disease and another to the treatment of children poisoned by lye, or suffering from other destructive injuries to the throat.

MANY EXHIBITS

Virtually all the great organizations devoted to social welfare and general health of the United States, including the American Society for the Control of Cancer and the American Social Hygiene Association, have planned to exhibit their work in the scientific exposition at this session and to demonstarte it through films in the motion picture section.

In the scientific meetings to be held by the sixteen scientific sections some 300 papers will be read on virtually all the advances in medical science during the last year.

The president of the American Medical association to be inaugurated this year, is Dr. William D. Haggard, of Nashville, Tenn. In his address he will point the way for special work by the physicians of the country in aiding the public health during the coming year.

Maple Nut Cake

⅓ cup Crisco
1 cup light brown sugar
½ cup milk
2 eggs
1½ cups flour
¼ teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons baking powder
1 cup chopped nuts
1 teaspoon vanilla extract

Cream Crisco, add sugar, yolks of eggs, milk. Beat. Add flour, salt, baking powder, sifted together. Add nuts, fold in beaten whites of eggs. Add flavoring. Bake in well Criscoed loaf pan in moderate oven for thirty-five to forty-five minutes. Cover with maple icing.

Maple Icing

1 teaspoon butter
4 tablespoons hot milk
1 cup powdered sugar
1 teaspoon baking powder
1 teaspoon maple flavoring, beat well

Mrs. Brown-Lewers says:

I find that I can make delicious cakes with Crisco, just as with expensive butter. When a recipe calls for butter, I use the same amount of Crisco and add one teaspoon of salt for each cup of Crisco used.

Miss Nelle Cherry, matron at the O. S. and S. O. Home, has returned from Indian River City, Fla., where she spent the past five months.

Proceeding on their merry way the Yankees dropped their fifth straight when Bishop socked a homer, Dykes singled and Miller tripled off Jones in the ninth and the Athletics won 8 to 7. Simmons stepped out with two singles, a double, and a home run, Combs robbing him of another.

The Xenia Delphian Chapter will meet at the Parish House Wednesday evening, this week, instead of Tuesday, it is announced.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Richardson and daughter, Jean, of Detroit, Mich., who have been visiting in Cincinnati, with Mr. Richardson's parents, will arrive in Xenia Wednesday morning and spend a few days with Mrs. R. C. West, West Main Street. Mrs. West will return with them to Detroit and spend two weeks.

Those who are planning to attend the County W. C. T. U. Institute at Alpha Wednesday, will take the 10 o'clock traction car. All are asked to bring a box luncheon, cup and spoon.

Mr. Charles S. Dean of Spring Brook Farm, east of this city, who suffered a stroke of paralysis, about three weeks ago, is still severely ill, having had a severe case of grip also.

Russell Dean who suffered a double fracture of the right arm, a few weeks ago, has been able to have the splints removed and is able to use the arm, though still weak. His misfortune was the third accident in eight months to the same arm.

The Giants staked the Phillies outfielders to a cross country run, smiting Decatur, Fillingim and Ulrich for 15 hits and a 12 to 2 victory. Jackson obliged with two home runs and Firsch one.

Marriot's easy fly was permitted to drop safely under the head of unfinished business and Bancroft drifted home with the run that gave the Braves a six to five verdict over the Dodgers.

BRAKEMAN HAS LEG AMPUTATED AFTER WRECK ON PENNSY

Edward Sewell, Columbus, brakeman, had his leg badly crushed, necessitating its amputation at the Good Samaritan Hospital, Cincinnati, when sixteen cars on a freight train of the Columbus-Cincinnati division of the Pennsylvania railroad, were derailed near Morrow, O., early Monday morning.

J. E. Harrison, flagman on the train sprained his ankle when he jumped at the time the wreck occurred but was able to go to his home in Columbus.

The cause of the wreck has not been determined by trainmen, but it is thought that a broken rail caused the pileup.

The cars that were derailed were in the middle of the train and the engine was not derailed. The train left Xenia about 1:50 a. m. and the wreck happened just outside of Morrow at 2:55 o'clock.

FIFEEN BABIES IN KIWANIS CLINIC

Fifteen babies were examined at the first 1925 Kiwanis baby clinic held in the Court House Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock in the office of Dr. R. H. Grube, health commissioner.

Assisting in the work was Dr. H. C. Messenger, Mrs. H. A. Hoffman, Mrs. Karl R. Babb, Mrs. Charles A. Kelble and Miss Jennie Moffet.

The next clinic will be held at the Court House in two weeks, it was announced.

FORMER RESIDENT OF CLIFTON DIES

Mrs. Sarah Ellen Braley, 58, of Springfield, former resident of Clifton, was found dead at the home of her son, Charles Braley, 822 1-2 East Main Street, Springfield, Monday morning at 11:30 o'clock. Death was due to natural causes.

Mrs. Braley is survived by two children, Charles, of Springfield, and Mabel Braley, of Xenia; two brothers, Charles and Abe Burney of Clifton and one sister, Mrs. Charles Hamilton, of Springfield.

Funeral services will be held at the Methodist Church, of Clifton, Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock with interment in Clifton Cemetery.

TRIAL OF LUCILLE JONES POSTPONED

Elyria, O., May 5—The trial of Lucille Jones, 19, on charges of "being a procuress" was postponed today.

Definite news as to cause of adjournment was lacking, but rumors said that one of the jurors,—a woman,—had talked about the case, expressing decided opinions. The prosecuting attorney, his assistant and counsel for Miss Jones went to Lorain to investigate this rumor at its source. Should it prove true, lawyers said, it would be necessary to empanel a new jury to try the girl.

Another report in circulation was to the effect that attorneys for Miss Jones would insist upon a change of venue, alleging that feeling, as a result of newspaper publicity, was such that their client could not hope for a fair trial.

Miss Jones was indicted by the last Lorain County grand jury charged with having arranged meetings between William Monschien, of Elyria, father of a family, and Ethel Kun, 15 years old, Lorain school girl.

Monschien pleaded guilty to contributing to the delinquency of the Kun girl and is counted upon as one of the state's principal witnesses.

ROTARY INSTALLS OFFICERS AT MEET

New Officers of Xenia Rotary Club were installed at the regular meeting at the Elks' Club, Tuesday noon.

Dr. B. R. McClellan, retiring president, who has been succeeded by Dr. W .H. Finley, gave a short talk, praising the work of the club and the cooperation of the members during his service.

Schuyler N. McClellan, the new club secretary, also gave a short talk. The installation and talks took place after luncheon.

8,5000 PEOPLE FILE PERSONAL PROPERTY TAX RETURNS HERE

Virtually all of the 8,500 personal property tax returns due from Xenia and Greene County residents have been received, County Auditor R. O. Wead announced Tuesday. A large number of returns dated for last Friday, the final day, were received Saturday through the mails.

County Auditor Wead stacked the returns to date in one pile and found the pile measured about eight feet in height, he said.

Auditor Wead will be unable to ascertain just how many residents were delinquent until May 12 when the various assessors in the county will assemble and a checking of names will begin. Those persons failing to list their returns in the specified time will be visited by the assessors and must show good cause for their delinquency. Such delinquents lose the $100 exemption on taxable property allowed by law and may also be assessed a 50 per cent penalty, it is announced.

The absence of hurry was noticeable because many persons availed themselves of the early days for filing returns. The greatest rush occurred April 29 and the last day when a steady stream of persons crowded the offices.

HIKERS HERE ON 50,000 MILE TRIP

Fat people who walk for exercise to reduce their weight may learn a lesson from R. E. Baxter, who weighed 117 pounds when he started walking and now tips the beam at 158.

Baxter is living proof that what is one amn's meat is another's poison, but he didn't affect this change in avordupois by a short jaunt before breakfast each morning. When Baxter started out to walk he meant to do just that, and as a result he has covered 39,337 miles since starting on the voluntary hoofing trip. And Mrs. Baxter is right along with him to see that he does not cheat by "hooking" rides.

Mr. and Mrs. Baxter reached Xenia Monday on their 50,000 mile hike, of which they have covered practically four-fifth. During that time they have been treed by timber wolves in Canada; washed away in a cloudburst in Idaho; caught in a forest fire in the Northwest; held up by bandits in Mexico and were lost three days without food and water in the desert outside Goffs, Calif.

These are only a few of their experiences on their jaunt through the United States, Canada, Mexico and Cuba, which they hope to complete in 1927. As further proof that what is one man's meat is another's poison is the fact that the hard-surface roads of which Ohio is justly proud, are not to the liking of the hiking Baxters. They are not only harder to walk on, but they are the cause of so much traffic that pedestrians have to keep almost constantly in the rough along the side of the road, they say.

Baxter is an ex-service man and a member of Monohan Post, No. 64, American Legion, Sioux City, Ia. Upon his discharge from a government hospital, he was advised to get out in the open; if he wanted to live. Baxter wanted to do just that very thing and he took this advice seriously.

He therefore fell in with the proposition of a friend, who proposed that Baxter start out with one cent, walk fifty thousand miles in seven years, making expenses on the trip; never ask for a lift but accept it if offered, but not ride on trains except through heavy swamp land. If the terms are carried out Baxter will receive $10,000 on completion of the journey.

Mrs. Baxter refused to be left at home so they started from Washington D. C., December 14, 1921. Although they seek hotel shelter in the winters, they camp out in the open in the summers, but never let the weather stop their walking program. Mrs. Baxter remembers as an unpleasant experience of camp life, the time a tarantula crawled across her face while she was sleeping in Texas.

"I don't mind bugs of any kind or snakes either," said Mrs. Baxter, "but somehow I can't get used to tarantulas."

Mr. and Mrs. Baxter average thirty to thirty-five miles a day, the most they ever made being forty-nine and one-half miles in twelve hours and ten minutes. Only about 10,000 miles of those they have covered have been on trains, automobiles and boats, they say.

WILBERFORCE WINS OVER ANTIOCH NINE BY FREE-HITTING

BY. L. J. WONES

Wilberforce University baseball team completely outclassed and outplayed Antioch College Monday afternoon at Yellow Springs the former team winning handily by a 12 to 5 score in a slow game that lasted over two hours.

Each team used two hurlers in the game. "Slim" Dawson is charged with the defeat while Lewis, Wilberforce hurler, retired in the fifth, is credited with winning the game as Wilberforce was leading at the time he left the hill. Dawson was touched up rather hard by the colored lads who collected ten bingles off his delivery. His support was not good although if it had been perfect he would have been beaten as Wilberforce earned seven runs. Wood, a left hander, pitched the last inning.

Lewis, Wilberforce's star twirler, started on the mound for the winners but Coach Graves got a bit afraid as Antioch was getting him along about the fourth and fifth rounds so he put Lewis in the outfield and ushered Harris into the box, who pitched nice ball, letting Antioch down without a hit and but one run which came by the aid of a walk and two errors.

The entire Wilberforce team played good ball and each got one or more hits with the exception of Simpkins, Brown and Lewis. Harding and Harris were the real hitting stars, each getting three bingles out of five trips to the plate. Ward played well and got a home run in the eighth. Harding, although he made three errors, played a nice game at short and made one nice catch and several fine stops.

Toomire, Kumler and Snyder played well for the losers, the first named getting a triple and single out of five trips to the pan while Snyder and Kumler each got a hit. Stump played well on the defense and handled seven chances at second without a fluke.

Wilberforce scored in the first inning on hits by Pore, Harris and Harding a passed ball by Hiller an error by Alexander and infield out, let the visitors score four markers

Antioch got two of these back in its half of the third when Wilberforce played sloppy ball, errors by Harris and Brown permitting two runs to score.

Wilberforce increased its lead in the fourth when Harding singled to center and went home when Teele let the ball pass him.

Antioch also scored in their half of the fourth after Hiller singled and went to second and third on infield taps by Alexander and Teele scored when Dawson crashed a safe one to deep left. Antioch added another in the fifth after Toomire tripled to left center and scored on Snyder's line drive over second base. Kumler doubled, but Snyder fell down rounding third and was caught between that base and home and run down.

Wilberforce was a bit leary about a one run lead so in the eighth singles by Harding and Pore and a circuit drive by Ward coupled with a walk, an error and a sacrifice fly by Harris let them score four more tallies which iced the game. They did not stop at this but added three more tallies in the ninth on two hits a walk, an error, two passed balls and a wild pitch by Wood.

A large crowd attended the game. The last two innings were played in a drizzling rain which slowed the game up quite a bit.

DOLLS ARE STILL POPULAR IN PARIS STYLE EXPERT SAYS

Paris May 5— Doll days are still the fashion in the French capital, and according to the latest reports the little "poupee" is to extend its kingdom. Not content with reposing on the cushions of madame's boudoir, it is or in her private salon, it is going to become an important part of her toilette, making a gay splash of color on her costume when she promenades, or do duty as a receptable for mirror and powder puff, while during the evening a fluffy little doll often develops into a pretty fan to flirt with.

Garters are growing fancier every day, if one can judge from the displays of the smart shops in the Rue de la Paix. Made in all colors, a particularly enchanting pair comes with a little elastic loop in which a fancy handkerchief may be stuck. And in this season of short skirts, what would be a better hiding place for the dainty necessary, especially when the coat or dress, has pockets designed for ornament only—or, perhaps, none at all. Little, painted flowers trim other pretty garters, and a very practical model has a flower under which nestles a powder-puff and a lip-stick.

Flowers that never fade are still worn in the buttonhole. A green camelia is the latest novelty, launched by one of the leading couturiers, which has been taken up by many chic Parisiennes. Blossoms, in fuchsia and cyclamen tints, are much in favor and give a bright hue to sombre costumes. Little bouquets of daffodils and cowslips were recently noticed at a fashionable the-dansant. Then, there is always the carnation, a full pink, with shaggy mauve edges, or yellow ones, for wear with brown suits and brunette skins.

SUES IN APPEAL

Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Baxter Walking To Health In

ARCH PRESERVER SHOES

After walking 39,337 miles, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Baxter have arrived in Xenia and are telling of the durability, ease and health-giving qualities of Arch Preserver Shoes, which they have worn exclusively.

The long hike of 50,000 miles was undertaken as the result of advice of Army physicians that Mr. Baxter lead an outdoor life. Their first Arch Preserver Shoes were procured from the Army Commissary in Washington, D. C., their starting point, after they had tried out many other types of flexible shoes. Later, Mr. and Mrs. Baxter were made official representatives of the Selby factory.

Their hike has taken them to every State in the Union, to Cuba, Mexico and Canada. Mrs. Baxter walked 14,310 miles in one pair of Arch Preservers, having them resoled eight times.

We have several different styles of Arch Preserver Shoes for men and women. They are the last word in style as well as in comfort. They come in the following models for women:

Patent Leather 2 and 4 Strap
White Kid 2 Strap
Black Suede Strap
Black and Brown Kid Oxfords
Tan Calf Oxfords

MORE OWNERS OF AMERICA

THE American workman is surely becoming the American investor. We hear that very often, but every investigation brings it more forcefully to mind.

The Academy of Political Science in New York made "Popular Ownership of Property" a special subject at its meeting in March. It is shown there that the number of stockholders in the railroads of this country have increased from 647,000 in 1918 to 966,000 in 1925. In the gas companies there has been an increase of from 1,250,000 in 1918 to 2,611,000 this year.

In all the companies given in the survey, the number of individual stockholders as a whole has doubled. In telegraph and telephone the number of stockholders has increased three-fold. The new spirit is also appearing in the packing industry, which shows an increase of 35,000 shareholders, many of them from the employes.

This new development in American industry not only applies to the very large corporations such as railroads and public services, but also is reaching into the local industries —boots and shoes, clothing, typewriters, department stores.

Most of the stock sold to employes goes out on the installment plan, the period of payment generally ranging from 21 months to five years.

And the farmer, too, is becoming interested. The Department of Agriculture gives figures showing that in 1916 651,000 farmers were interested in cooperative buying or selling organizations. They estimate the number in 1925 at 2,500,000.

How has this affected the savings bank situation? Well, the money used for stock investments apparently has not hurt the bank deposits. There were 10,600,000 savings depositors in the United States on January 1, 1918. Seven years later—January, 1925—the number of depositors had increased to 38,800,000 and deposits had grown from 11 billion to 20 billion.

THE DIRIGIBLE VS. AIRPLANE

IN the trip of the Navy dirigible Los Angeles to Porto Rico the New York Times sees the blazing of the trail of commercial aviation. The Times visions an air line to the Antilles that will put American possessions in that quarter in touch and in tune with the nation. It looks even farther South to faster ties, all as a result of contact by the navigatable balloon. At least this is a delightful flight of the imagination but somehow commercial aviation seems to be going in another direction if it can be said to be going at all. Europe, where there is a beginning of air travel, the heavier-than-air machine is in general use. Of course Germany developed the dirigible years before the war and had regular lines in operation but outside of Germany the London-Paris line, the French lines and the proposed England to India line all adhere to the airplane. In trans-Atlantic flights both England and Ameirca are looking to the dirigible, but as yet there has been no development of commercial aviation in this particular.

The postal service, to give impetus to aerial traffic, is now offering an amount not in excess of four-fifths of the postage they handle to private concerns and all of such contractors use airplanes. Thus, in broadening the scope of the transcontinental air mail line and seeking to encourage aviation among private individuals and corporations that the government itself is withholding, America is fostering the development of the heavier-than-air machine as a mail, freight and passenger carrier. It is a moot question which is the better vehicle of travel—the balloon or the airplan Nevertheless, what development there has been made; has been made in one direction and the dirigible has been used in endless tests that have had amost no practical application.

However rapid may have been the advances of modern science and the mode of locomotion, the instability of the air has proven sufficient to retard aerial travel. The automobile is but little older than the airplane, but what a difference in the development of the two!

A FISHERMAN'S HOPES

I've been tinkering with my reel,
Shined up every bit of steel,
Looked my tackle over, too,
Added just a few things new;
And I'm ready now to go
Fishing in a week or so.

Wondering how they'll bite this year
As I'm sitting dreaming here;
Will it be my luck to get
Some old timer in my net,
One that I can brag about
When at last I've played him out?

Here I'm sitting wondering
What's ahead of me this spring,
Am I going to know the thrill
Of a catch some day which will
Prove to all the angling clan
I'm a worth-while fisherman?

Years are good and years are bad.
There were times when luck I've had.
Times when I was grieved to say
Many a big one got away,
But with hope I'm sitting here
Waiting for another year.

So through life I think we go
Wondering what we're all to know,
Hoping ever there will rise
That great chance before our eyes
Which will prove to all who see
Just how great we've tried to be.

Facts about Child-birth

IT has been proven conclusively that much of the suffering, pain and dread experienced during expectancy, as well as at child-birth is entirely unnecessary.

An eminent physician, Dr. J. H. Holmes, expert in this science, first produced the great remedy "Mother's Friend," which aids the muscles and tissues to expand more easily, during the constant readjustment, month after month, right up to the climax of child-birth.

"Mother's Friend" is applied externally. Three generations of expectant mothers have used it. "Pains disappeared in two days after using 'Mother's Friend,'" writes a user. "I owe my life to 'Mother's Friend,'" declared another. Use "Mother's Friend" as our mothers and grandmothers did, start today and experience the wonderful comfort it will give you.

Mrs. J. H. C.: "Please tell me how I can remove mildew from white linen."

Answer: Mildew is a mould. If it has not been allowed to remain in the material too long, its growth may be stopped by being covered with a paste made of equal parts of powdered chalk and soapsuds, wih a few drops of lemon juice added, and then placed in strong sunshine. Remoisten the mildewed part of the material with his paste as often as it dries, till the mould disappears. It may he necessary, however, to use the following method: Stir two teaspoonfuls of chloride of lime into a pint of cold water in an earthen dish, allow it to setle, then pour off the clear portion; add a few drops of vinegar, and immerse the mildewed portion of the linen in this for 30 minues; transfer the material to a solution of one ounce of hyposulphite of soda to a gallon of water to check the action of the lime, and rinse in clear water.

Youthful Matron: "I have some pine needles and wish to know whether it is necessary to put anything with them in order to make a good pine pillow? Also are two coverings necessary? And is there any conventional size for this kind of pillow?"

Answer: Do not put anything with the needles. I, personally, like two overings—one of white muslin and the upper one of China silk. But many women prefer just one covering of heavy cretonne or crash. No, there is no regulation size, but when I make one I generally make it oblong 12 inches long by seven inches wide.

C. H..: "Is there anythingt that can be put on a old brick chimney, in a room, which will keep the dampness from striking through the wall paper? I have tried several coats of paint, but that has no effect."

Answer: I know of nothing to recommend excpet a waterproof paint. But perhaps some Reader Friend will have something really helpful to suggest, and will write it on a postal and mail it to me in care of this paper?

It's Easy—If You Know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, are gentle in their action yet always effective. They bring about that natural buoyancy which all should enjoy by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are known by their olive color. 15c and 30c.

Today's Talks

MORNING IN A HOUSE

It has been a silent night outdoors. No. wind. Rather sharp and cold. The stars clean cut, like polished diamonds in the blue.

And so morning, turning over from its deep slumber in night, opens its eyes ito a gray day. Everything is soft and still and expectant. Now somebody stirs in the house. A shade is drawn. An hour more of sleep for that one!

But someone is moving in the hall. It is one of the boys whohas had on his mind the task of fixing the furnace. The noise from below awakens others. More stirs and rolling of shades.

Now the sun begins to poke its head into windows, climbing through lacé and silken draperies, and its rays begin to dance upon chairs, tables and floors.

The bird in one of the rooms below is pouring out its heart into song that rivals the sunbeams that kiss its throat.

There is chatter and laughter from the "kiddies'" room.

All becomes activity and movement. The breakfast table is being set. The smell of coffee permeates the house to inform the trady ones that they must hurry.

The gathering of the family is complete. There are smiles and jokes. Nobody settles the affairs of the world at breakfast time. School. The light and wholesome chatter of the community. Talk of this and that. Then the separation. To school, to business.

Somehow morning in a house has so much of thrill to it. Fresh from sleep and with a new day to deal with!

PASTOR DISAGREES WITH SENTIMENT OF NEW YORK MINISTER

Declaring that the work of the church had become secondary to that of the college in modern civilization, the Rev. Charles Francis Potter, announced his resignation as pastor of the Westside Unitarian Church New York to become executive field secretary of Antioch College, Yellow Springs.

Dr. Charles P. Proudfit, president of the Xenia Ministerial Association and pastor of the Second U. P. Church voiced the sentiment of the majority of pastors in disagreeing with the Rev. Mr. Potter's statement.

"The church is the mother of the college in America," declared Dr. Proudfit. "Since the beginning of the settlement of America, the church has been a fostering agency of the school and college always. It would be as abnormal to reverse the relationship between the church and the college as it would be in the biological relation of mother and child," he continued.

"I believe that when education becomes perfected," the Rev. Mr. Potter wrote in a letter announcing his plans," the church will be unnecessary, but that is a long way off. The work of the church has become secondary for a while at least until we have established an education which really prepares for life."

Dr. Potters said that Antioch College, a co-educational institution, founded in 1853 and last year having 375 students and thirty-eight instructors, represented a "revolutionary method of education," which he planned to bring to the attention of the entire country as its field representative.

PHYSICIAN FINED $300 AND COSTS ON LIQUOR OFFENSE

Dr. C. R. McConnell, Washington Street, Jamestown, was fined $300 and costs on a charge of unlawfully prescribing intoxicating liquors by Judge S. C. Wright in Probate Court Tuesday when he entered a plea of guilty to the charge.

In a statement to the court before pleading guilty Dr. McConnell declared he believed he had committed no violation of the law and was pleading guilty entirely for physical and financial reasons.

Dr. McConnell made a detailed and lengthy statement to the court on his authority for issuing prescriptions and his prescription practice in Jamestown since 1923. He said that when he had about 1,600 half pint prescriptions available during a period of more than two years, he had only issued between 170 to 175.

In explaining the different instances of granting prescriptions, Dr. McConnell declared he had issued permits to patients and even to his nurse, his wife and his wife's mother. He said he has already surrendered his permits to issue prescriptions.

In summing up charges against Dr. McConnell contained in an affidavit filed by Prosecuting Attorney J. Carl Marshall, that the former had issued one half pint prescription to F. E. Gary, county detective, and later to A. E. Turner before the lawful ten days had expired, the prosecutor told the court that Gary and Turner were one and the same person and that Turner is a ficticious name. Dr. McConnell knew the man was Gary and in order to evade the law made out the prescription in the name of Turner because of the known fact that many families with the name of Turner reside in and near Jamestown, the prosecutor said.

Prosecutor Marshall said Gary inquired of Dr. McConnell where he could have the prescription filled and the latter told him the nearest place was in Dayton at Todd's drug store.

OBSCURE NUN WINS PRAISE WITH BRUSH BY GREAT EXPERTS

Baltimore, Md., May 5—Working quietly within the cloistered walls of the Dominican Convent at Catonsville, a suburb, an obscure nun, a member of the Dominican community for the past 12 years, is producing works of art with her brush and canvas that astonish local critics.

Until the display of one of her paintings at a local gallery recently brought a flood of inquiries she was known simply as Sister Genevieve. It is revealed that before her entrance into religion she was Miss Mabel Estelle Sargent, of Washington, D. C., and that she is distantly related to the famous John Singer Sargent, whose paintings brought him undying fame both in this country and Europe before his death in London a short time ago.

EXPERTS PRAISE

The painting which astounded the critics is a copy of Ruben's 'Crucifixion." When placed on exhibition it won universal approval, one of the critics declaring that its author showed "all the potential gifts of a great painter."

The work of Sister Genevieve is considered all the more remarkable by the fact that she was first moved to try her skill with brush and paints not because of any great interest in art, but by inspiration.

During her early school life Sister Genevieve displayed little interest in painting, choosing rather to devote herself to music as her particular hobby in the field of art. About four years ago, however, after she had been a member of the Dominican community for eight years, she confided in the Mother Superior of the Catonsville Convent that she desired to paint.

LITTLE TRAINING

Although the order of which she is a member is very poor, the nun was given permission to secure the necessary materials and to follow her inspiration. Ever since she has devoted herself to painting whenever the rigorous duties of her religious life permit.

The only instruction Sister Genevieve ever received was by correspondence from Alon Bennett, director of the Maryland Institute of Art, who regards her work as of exceptional merit. He declared her paintings to be 'powerful and crude" rather than "finicky and nice," the qualities usually found in a beginner.

Efforts are being made by local art lovers to have Sister Genevieve given every opportunity to develop the great talent which it is believed, she possesses.

USE 'REMOTE CONTROL' IN BROADCASTING INVITATION

Link Telephone Lines With Radio To Send Out Telephone Official's Message to Public

The use of long-distance telephone lines in radio broadcasting has advanced the radio art to such a stage that it now is possible for a celebrity to sit in his own home and talk to hundreds of thousands of radio fans merely by having certain mechanical arrangements made in connection with his telephone, according to local telephone officials.

This system, known as "remote control," was used on the night of Friday, January 9, by C. P. Cooper, president of the Ohio Bell Telephone Company, when he broadcast an invitation to all Ohio telephone users and radio fans to visit the company's central offices during "Telephone Week" (January 12 to 17) to see for themselves how local and long-distance telephone calls are handled.

Two systems of broadcasting were used by the company in broadcasting this invitation.

On the evening of January 8, Randolph Eide, Ohio Bell general manager, talked directly from the Union Trust Company station in Cleveland. But a different method was used by President Cooper on the following night.

He sat in his office at 4300 Euclid avenue, Cleveland, and talked through a microphone. This instrument was attached to a long-distance telephone line connecting with the Erner-Hopkins Company broadcasting studio in Columbus. At that station Mr Cooper's invitation was "put on the air" for the radio fans.

From the standpoint of the communication art the event is another demonstration of the possibilities of combined wire and radio telephony as a means of bringing not only amusement, but also educational matters to the whole nation.

This system of "remote control" is the same as used when President Coolidge's addresses, given in Washington, have been transmitted over long-distance telephone lines to New York, Providence, Kansas City and other distant cities and broadcast from there.

CANCER IS CURABLE IF TREATED SOON, SURGEON ASSERTS

Paris May 5— "Cancer is curable," declares Dr. Roger Leroux, noted dermatologist of the Paul Brosse Hospital in Paris, "provided two conditions are scrupulously fulfilled.

"The first condition is that the cure be commenced in time. No matter what the cause, cancer is in its beginning, a local disease and can be treated successfully while the infection remains localized.

"Unfortunately, many people neglect a slight sore, or an insignificant bruise, and then when it is too late, they hasten to their doctor, whose aid at the eleventh hour is to frequently unavailing.

"From the time when the cancer can be eradicated to the moment when it becomes too late for surgical relief, often only a month elapses and sometimes even less.

"Therefore the extraordinary growth of the disease should counsel immediate action.

"The second condition is an honest treatment. Countless are the remedies that claim their efficacy against cancer, but I have found by long experience and research that there are but two treatments that are really worth while radium and X-rays.

"Let me again caution those who have heeded the false promises of patent medicines and cure-alls. They are not always harmful, but they never accomplish what they claim, and their use is a snare and a delusion.

"Between the radium and the X-ray methods there is really very little to choose. It is all a matter of the surgeon's ability. Some doctors have accomplished phenomenal results with radium, but not at all with X-ray. Of late some experiments, not yet conclusive, have been made with serums and chemicals.

"The important thing to be remembered is that cancer in its beginning will rapidly respond to treatment and at that stage can be successfully eradicated. However, that phase passes very quickly, and hence the necessity of immediate surgical intervention before it is ttoo late."

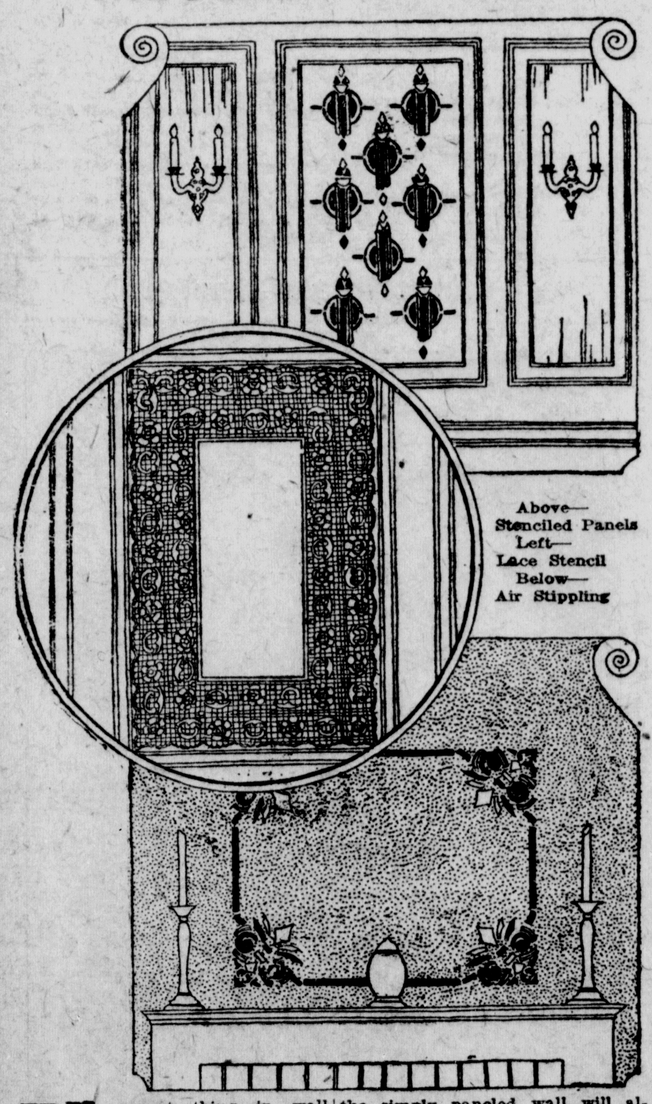
OPPOSITION FILED TO PHONE RATES

Columbus, O., May 5—Opposition to the proposed rate increase sought by the Ohio Bell Telephone interests was filed with the state utilities commission today by George Barrett, Bellaire, Belmont County, secretary of the Belmont Trades Assembly, representing workers in eastern Ohio.

"We think it is high time the corporations be stopped in their price jumping for we maintain that if we are to get anywhere as far as earning power is concerned, increases in the cost of living must stop, a resolution adopted by the assembly said.

The resolution declared employes of the company had not been granted wage increases, and citing declarations of the company that the increases were needed to meet growing demands for service, asserted the company should have diverted part of the money used heretofore to pay nine per cent dividends to capital extensions.

New Fashions For Walls



Above—
Stenciled Panels
Left—
Lace Stencil
Below—
Air Stippling

THE newest thing in wall decoration is the use of lace or net stencils. By this method of painting, an all-over design may be secured that is sanitary, washable and durable. After the wall has been brought up to surface, the lace curtain stencil, made by stretching the piece of fabric on a frame and coating it with shellac, is placed against the wall and the design transferred by means of paint of the desired color. The possibilities this new "tool" opens to the decorator are many indeed.

Color misting, air stippling and spray spatter work are also new and attractive. While the painted wall done in a single color and the simply paneled wall will always remain standard, there are walls in almost every home that would radiate more cheer were they refinished by one of these methods, which are accomplished by mechanical equipment operated with a low air pressure.

Just as new but a little better known is the two-toned method. There are two ways of two-toning; the first is removing portions of a coat of fresh paint by rolling a piece of crumpled paper, a wad of cloth or a sponge down the wall allowing a dry coat of paint of a different color to show through; the second is by tapping a dry painted wall with a sponge dipped in paint of another color.

Bids for Fleet

CAPT. ROBERT DOLLAR

Captain Robert Dollar, millionaire shipping magnate, has entered a bid for the fleet of the United States Shipping Board. His bid is said to be much greater than that entered by the Pacific Mail Steamship Line, the largest operators on the Pacific. Captain Dollar was born seventy-five years ago in Scotland. He has worked as a lumberjack in the Canadian woods and later became a skipper. Stranded in the Philippines, he discovered copra, and the mining of its brought him a fortune estimated now at $22,000,000.

JEAN NASH and SABIT BEY

Even a prince's finances cracked under the strain of supporting the best "dressed woman in Europe," it is alleged, and Sabit Bey, of Egypt, fourth husband of Mrs. Jean Nash, who has that reputation, was arrested in Paris on three charges of swindling preferred by his creditors. The latter declared the Prince was utterly without funds and that he pawned even his first wife's jewels while he was courting Mrs. Nash. His debts are said to total more than 400,000 francs. Mrs. Nash divorced him a little more than a month ago—eighteen days after their marriage.

CHASING DOWN FINE RUGS ADVENTUROUS LIFE SAYS EXPERT

That little rug that caught your fancy in a down town shop window this afternoon—did you stop to consider the hardships and dangers involved in making it possible for you to display it in your parlor?

Some of the hazards and adventures connected n the pursuit of the rug trade have been recounted by C. A. Biglow, a Chicago business man who has just returned to the United States after an eighteen months' trip to the most out-of-way corners of the Orient. During this period, he covered 40,000 miles on camel's back astride a donkey or in an automobile.

It's more exciting and adventurous than a dime novel, this business of scouting for rare rugs, says Biglow In India, where nomads turn from the driving of their flocks to banditry at night, he was in constant peril from the snipers guns. Even the soldiers are not safe there from the bandits. The soldiers have their guns handcuffed to them but when taking a respite from their vigil, the bandits creep up on them and steal the guns by deftly removing the handcuffs. In crossing the Sind desert Biglow was in constant danger, not only of bandits bullets but the stings of scorpions and tarantulas as well. For weeks at a time, during his travels among the Hindus, he went without water quenching his thirst only by the juice of fruits.

It was in Persia that Biglow had to comply with the peculiar custom of the people to keep in their good grace. At Ghourveh he was invited to take luncheon with Amir Afghan, r relative of the Shah and ruler of forty villages. Seated on the floor, with legs crossed in true Pursian fashion, he ate a fifty course luncheon with his fingers. On another occasion the Sardar Sephah, premier of Persia, took tea with Biglow in his tent outside of Sultanbad. To comply with the customs of the people, Biglow slaughtered a dozen lambs upon the arrival of the distinguished guest and scattered the blood over the ground. Before entering the tent the Sardar Sephah touched the tip of his boot in the blood to indicate that he was bringing with him peace and happiness.

In India, rug weaving is done by men and boys, while in Persia the rug makers are all women and girls principally the child wives of the master of the house, according to Mr. Biglow. While working on a big rug which it often taken four women ten months to finish, these wives may be seen with a cord attached to a cradle whch they pull when the infant becomes restless.

SECURED RELIEF THROUGH FOLEY PILLS

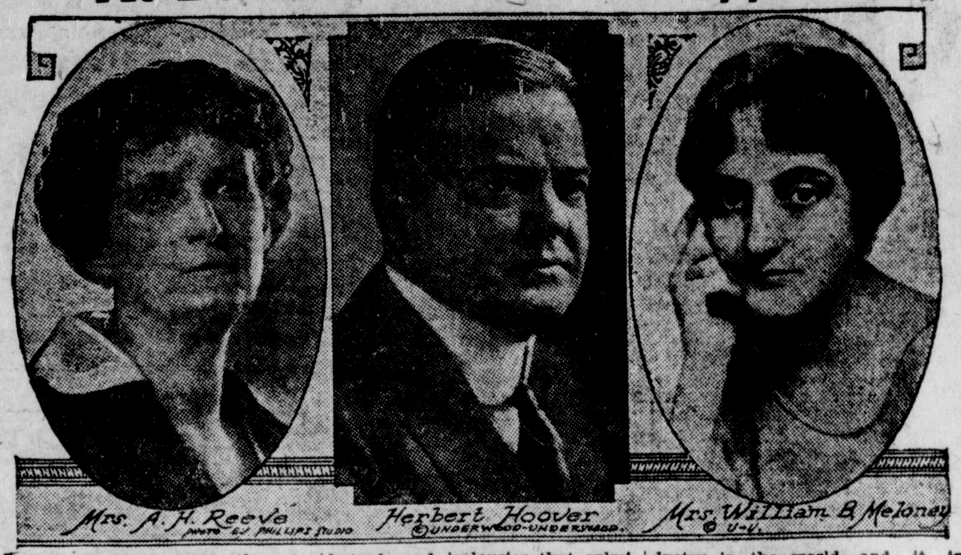
"Good Citizenship Begins At Home" Says Hoover In Better Homes Plea As Demonstration Week Approaches



As is the home, so are the community and the nation. To give every American family the opportunity to make the most of its home in every way, Better Homes in America was formed and now is working throughout the nation.

Herbert Hoover, Secretary of Commerce, who is president of Better Homes in America, is convinced that the home is of the most vital importance to the future of America. He says: "The next generation will be called on to show public spirited citizenship to an increasing degree if it is to find a solution to the problems that await it. Will it move toward clean government, healthy development of our economic and social system, and fair dealing and good will between nations? Or will it drift towards corruption in government, bitter class conflicts, and the international hatreds and jealousies that culminate in war? * * * If good citizenship in the broadest sense of the term is to be the deciding factor, and I believe that it will be, we must make it as vital a matter as earning our daily bread.

The founder of the movement, Mrs. William Brown Meloney, warmly seconds Mr. Hoover's beliefs.

"This is a new day in America," says Mrs. Meloney. "A day of better homes. In every state and every county of this country there are thousands of women hard at work for Better Homes in America.

"There are 18,000,000 homes in America—the largest single industry in the world—and it is worth the thought of the best minds in the land to increase its efficiency, its satisfaction, and therefore its sacred product."

Mrs. A. H. Reeve, president of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers, and a member of the Advisory Council of Better Homes in America, is one of the hardest workers toward the extension of the "better homes" movement so that every American family may receive the benefits of this purely educational and vitally important work. The 12,000 local Parent-Teachers' Associations throughout the United States are co-operating whole-heartedly with the movement, which culminates this year in Better Homes Week—May 11th to 17th inclusive.

MATRIMONY COURSE IN COLLEGE SPHERE

Dean Phillip C. Nash, of the Antioch College faculty, intimated to more than 100 members of the Monday Noonday Club at a luncheon held at the Dayton Y. M. C. A. Monday that a college course in matrimony is entirely within the sphere of the policy of practical service of Antioch College.

Dean Nash gave statistics which he said sustained a belief that marriages of men and women who met in college are more permanent than any other group yet found. He attributed this to the development of mutual interest by classroom contact which tends to create an understanding and greater confidence.

Dean Nash expressed his belief that a matrimonial course would be entirely practical and in keeping with the primary objective of the college to develop men in all aspects of life although he did not promise that such a course would ever be instituted at Antioch.

THINK BURGLARIES CLEARED BY ARRST OF SPRINGFIELD MAN

Frederick Sprinkle, 32, Springfield, said to be the fifth and last member of a gang that committed a series of burglaries in the county recently, was arrested in Springfield Saturday after being caught in the act of robbing a store there.

Sheriff Morris Sharp and O. F. Reeves, of the Reeves and Bryant clothing store, Jamestown, which was robbed of a large quantity of merchandise several weeks ago, went to Springfield Monday and the latter identified a small quantity of men's clothing taken from Sprinkle as part of loot stolen from his store.

Sprinkle will be prosecuted in Clark County on a charge of burglary, it is said, but authorities were unable to say if a similar charge would be placed against him in Greene County and the case further prosecuted here.

Herschel White and Forest Sibole, both of Springfield, were indicted Monday by the Grand Jury on four joint charges of burglary in connection with four burglaries in the county. Harry Franz, Springfield, an alleged fourth member of the gang was released recently to Clark County for prosecution.

In a recent confession to Sheriff Morris Sharp, White admitted complicity in five robberies in the county, which implicated Sibole and Franz and a third man, believed now to be Sprinkle.

Stubborn Skin Irritations Healed With Cranberries

The mild acid juice found in Cranberries seems to kill the tiny skin parasite which is the direct cause of Eczema and most skin irritations. With the cause removed, the healing takes place quickly. Cranolene Healing Cream, used externally, is based on this discovery. In this cream the cranberry juices have been combined with soothing, cooling, healing oils. Instantly stops the itching and speedily restores the skin to natural health and color. Cranolene sold by druggists 35c, $1 and $2.50 or sent postpaid on receipt of price. Address: Cranolene, Girard, Kansas.

MODISH MITZI—Shorter Skirts Disclose Fancies of the Mode — By JAY V. JAY

The Goofer is watchfully waiting—for Mitzi. Such a bore—but, of course, she would be late. Hello, what's this! Does the young woman know that she is showing a sort of—of decoration—on her stocking very near the knee? Does she mean for everyone to see it or doesn't she, wonders the Goofer.

The Goofer cannot help but observe (due to the short skirts, of course) that this young lady is not along in the matter of stocking decorations. There are others. For instance, the pair of garters that seem to be woven into the stockings with a painted flower—and a motif from a deck of cards. Does the Goofer know he has been waiting ten minutes?—He doesn't!

Now that the Goofer has started on his research there is nothing to do but continue. In another ten minutes he finds that the wooden soldier motif from the Chauve Souris embroidered in colors is very alluring on hose. Then there is a new style of roll-tops—striped cuff hosiery.

Mitzi was going to apologize for keeping him waiting for a half hour. The Goofer assures her it seemed like no time at all . . . he has found so many interesting things to look at. Mitzi is suspicious. It's the first time she ever caught the Goofer looking in another direction. Perhaps, Mitzi will be more prompt next time!

MILITARY CHIEF IS NEW JAPANESE MAN OF DESTINY IS SAID

Tokyo, May 5.—A new "man of destiny" has risen above the political horizon in Japan and several heads that wear the crown of statecraft are beginning to lie uneasy.

This new disturber of political placidity is General Baron Giichi Tanaka, a soldier of distinction who has sheathed his sword and donned the mantle of the statesman. He has accepted the leadership, or presidency, of the Seiyukai party, the second largest political organization in Japan, succeeding Korekiyo Takahashi, a former Premier.

An Imperial edict was necessary before General Tanaka could step from the army into politics. Japanese military law forbids soldiers engaging in politics. By special command of the Prince Regent, General Tanaka was placed upon the retired list, although he still has several years to go before reaching the retirement age.

MAY BE PREMIER

The question that everyone is asking since General Tanaka entered the political arena is how he will use the power that adheres to his position as Seiyukai chieftain. Then general expectation is that he will use it to make himself Prime Minister of Japan.

The Seiyukai at present is a member of the coalition of three parties which forms the Japanese Government headed by Premier Kato. It holds second place in the coalition, the Kenseikai, Premier Kato's party, being the dominant factor. It is believed that General Tanaka will not long be content to remain in a subordinate position.

Almost before General Tanaka had announced his acceptance of the Seiyukai leadership, a series of conferences began between political chieftains which gave rise to rumors that the astute General was planning a union of the Seiyuhonto and the Kakushin Club, minority parties, with the Seiyukai. Should this transpire General aTnaka would find himself at the head of the strongest party in the State, holding a majority of the seats in the Diet. Thus fortified, he could turn the Kato Cabinet out almost at will and probably as the head of the majority party, promote himself into the Premiership.

GAVE PLEDGE

For the present, however, General Tanaka is bound by a pledge given by Takahashi, his predecessor, to support the coalition until some issue arises upon which he can legitimately assume an opposng position.

Political observers predict that this issue will arise in July when the Government begins to draft its financial budget for 1926-27. Several pet schemes of the Seiyukai were rejected when the budget of 1925-26 was drafted and a divergence of opinion is certain to arise over items in the forthcoming budget. It is not improbable that General Tanaka may seize this opportunity to break away from the calition and seek a test of strength with the Kenseikai.

General Tanaka's only previous experience in governmental affairs was in 1922 when he was Minister of War in the Cabinet of Premier Hara. His teure of this office was marked by the famous Nikolaievsk affair when he sent a military expedition to Siberia in retaliation for the alleged massacre of Japanese by Russians at Nikolaievsk. The sending of this expedition was widely criticised at the time.

General Tanaka was born in 1863, being 62 years old, and has held many important commands in the Japanese army. He was created a baron in 1920 in recognition of services to the government during the European war.

AILMENTS OF YOUNG GIRLS

Relieved by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound
School Teacher's Experience

Evanston, Wyoming.—"A few years ago I had troubles every month such as girls often have, and would suffer awfully every time. I was teaching school and it made it hard for me as I had to go to bed for two or three days. One day my mother suggested that I take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which I did, and it did wonders for me. In the course of a year I married and after my first baby was born I got up too soon and it caused a displacement. This troubled me so that I could hardly walk or do my housework. I knew what the Vegetable Compound did for me before so I took it again. It strengthened me and now I have five little kiddies. The eldest is six, the baby is five months old and I have twin boys three years old and a boy of five years. I do all my own housework, washing and ironing, and I never felt better in my life. I owe my health to your wonderful medicine and I recommend it to all my friends."—Mrs. VERBENA CARPENTER, 127 2nd Avenue, Evanston, Wyoming.

LADIES' AID SOCIETY OF FIRST M. E. CHURCH TO PUT IN FLOORING

Authority was given the Ladies Aid Society of the First M. E. Church in its arrangements to place a new flooring in the church auditorium, at the meeting of the official board Monday night. The plan has been contemplated for some time, and the members have the money raised to finance the work, which will probably be done during the pastor's summer vacation.

The following program of Bishop T. S. Henderson, outlined for the entire Cincinnati Area, was adopted for the month of May: the pastor to observe the risen life of Christ from Easter to Pentecost; the evangel of stewardship to be presented; minute men to be appointed to speak each Sunday upon World Service.

Charles A. Bone, E. F. Canby, George McKee and Harvey Elam were appointed "minute men." May 17 is to be observed as Life Service Sunday; May 24 as Ascension Sunday and May 31 as Pentecost Sunday. An every-member canvass for pledges for World Service for the coming year, will culminate Pentecost Sunday. The month's program will close with an evening of special music by the choir, May 31.

The pastor, the Rev. F. W. Stanton, was authorized to carry out the above program. Reports showed the church to be in a prosperous condition.

PROSECUTOR SPEAKS ON ENFORCEMENT

Prosecuting Attorney J. Carl Marshall delivered a brief talk after Sunday School at the Reformed Presbyterian Church of Cedarville Sunday on "Law Enforcement" in which he characterized the present period as a test of law enforcement in the country.

Prosecutor Marshall told his hearers that this was the testing time in the country of whether the law is being adequately enforced and expressed his belief that the United States has never yet failed in the crisis. Law enforcement is a paramount question today, he said.

"I believe that the law would be better enforced if officials were placed in responsible positions that sincerely believed in the law which they are charged to enforce," declared the prosecuting attorney.

PASTEURIZER EXPLODES

Defiance, May 5—Leaking steam caused the $500 pasteurizer at the creamery of the Gray and White Company here to explode with such force that the cap to the tank was hurled forty feet across he room where it smashed a hole in the wall. The twenty-two pound cover was fastened down with three screws which broke. The past was a complete wreck.

Junior Cross Word Puzzle

HOW TO SOLVE PUZZLE

The words start in the numbered squares and run either across or down. Only one letter is placed in each white square. If the proper words are found each combination of letters in the white squares will form words. The key to the puzzle—the first word—is given in the drawing. Below are keys to the other words.

RUNNING ACROSS

Word 1. It's in the pitcher.
Word 3. A greating.
Word 7. A large constellation in the heavens. Also a Greek god.
Word 8. A narrow flat surface or shelf.
Word 9. One who rules.

RUNNING DOWN

Word 1. One who attends school.
Word 4. Before.
Word 5. That which covers the opening of a box or chest.
Word 6. A portion of a tree trunk ready for the mill.

U. S. Bureau Chief and Civic Leader Urge Better Homes For Sake of Growing Boys and Girls

The home in its relation to the child, as the place where the character of the future citizens of the republic is most influenced and molded, is one of the major concerns of Better Homes in America. The National Congress of Parents and Teachers with its 12,000 local Parent-Teachers' Association, for instance, is one of the great national organizations co-operating fully with Better Homes in America.

Miss Grace Abbott, chief of the Children's Bureau of the United States Department of Labor, who is a member of the Advisory Council of Better Homes in America, has expressed this phase of the educational work of that organization in the following terms:

"The home is the child's world during the most important habit-forming period of his life. 'Better homes' could be provided for the vast majority of American children during this year of our Lord 1925 with little real sacrifice. Better Homes Week could serve no more useful purpose than as a rededication of the home to the object for which it really exists and stimulating community co-operation in the elimination of everything that defeats its purpose."

J. Horace McFarland, president of the American Civic Association, also a member of the Better Homes in America Advisory Council, speaking of the movement, says:

"The work that has been done and is being done by Better Homes in America cannot be comprehended in the accomplishments of one year. The movement as it has proceeded is the best answer to the old, un-Christian, unsocial and uncitizenshiplike fallacy which refers the housing of our people to the law of supply and demand.

"The Better Homes movement, even if construed by this fallacious old law, improves the demand, but far more important than that it sets up ideals, provides principles and promotes accomplishments which go far toward securing the stability of our government by promoting contented citizenship, only possible when homes are suitable, sightly and satisfactory."

Better Homes Week this year is from May 11th to 17th, inclusive. Dr. James Ford, executive director of this organization reports from its National Headquarters at Washington that more than fifteen hundred communities have organized campaigns in co-operation with Better Homes in America this year in order to do what they can to raise the standards of local housing and of home life.

IRISH FARMERS ARE OPPOSED TO TARIFF

Dublin, May 5—The Irish Farmers Union wants the tariff policy of the Irish Free State either abandoned or applied to the agricultural industry.

The high cost of living is being maintained by the tariff policy, the union maintains.

The Farmers' Union has passed the following resolution:

"We protest against what is apparently the settled policy of the Government in imposing protective tariffs in favor of certain industries outside of agriculture.

"The advantages of any such policy are more than counter-balanced by the resultant increase in the cost of living, which reacts mainly against the national industry—agriculture.

"We demand that, if the Government persists in its protectionist policy, this policy be then applied to safe guard the agricultural industry also.

Deputy Gorey, Leader of the Farmer's Party in the Dail, declares that the imposition of tariffs is "protection for inefficiency and going slow." "It does not build up the country," he said, "but maintains inefficiency, small output and dishonesty."

BURGLARS OBTAIN CASH AT FAIRFIELD

Sneak thieves broke into the residence of John Miller, in Fairfield, about 8 o'clock. Monday night. They completed their work in about fifteen minutes time, taking only money.

Oscar Richman, who with his wife, rooms at the Miller home, was relieved of $40 and a bank book but the thieves over looked about $75 of Mr. Miller's.

It is thought the thieves were frightened away by Mr. Miller returning from church. Marchal W. A. Schnider, Osborn, was called but has obtained no clue.

MONEY AT WORK

Brief but Important Lessons in Finance, Markets, Stocks, Bonds and Investments

If you depend on luck to build your future income, remember, although there is plenty of luck in finance, lost of it is bad luck.

You may be able to engage in a piece of speculation and through sheer luck make money. Some large sums have been made in this way, but probably one thousand times as many large sums have been lost through "luck." At best, good luck is very much more uncertain than bad.

There is nothing uncertain about a steady accumulation of funds through regular deposits and investments Funds built up in this way stand ready to produce regular incomes for your benefit—and there is nothing lucky about that income.

If you really wish to have surplus money depend upon the "steam roller" method rather than the "will o' the wisp" luck.

DEPARTMENT ADOPTS ORPHANS OF HEROES

Paris May 5— The department of the Seine, through the General Council, has decided to adopt the children of all employes of the Civil Government who lose their lives in the performance of their duties.

A policeman of the Department of the Seine was recently shot by bandits and his widow was left with four children to support. This prompted a special meeting of the Council, which decided upon the adoption of the orphans. In the future the Government will assure thes upport and education of all children who may become orphans through their father's faithful service.

OPENING OF XENIA'S NEW DREAM HOME

Xenia is City of Homes and Homes Make the City After All, Contractors Point Out; You Must Visit "Dream Home"

"The character of a people," says Herbert Hoover, "is largely affected by the homes in which they dwell. The profoundest influences of early childhood are those of the family circle. The warmest memories of later years center in the home. It is the environment of most of life deepest experiences of human life. The house should always be a fitting symbol of the ideals and aspirations of the family which it shelters.

"The highest civilizations have been built, not by nomadic peoples, but by nations in which the mass of the population is of home-owners and homelovers. Countless American families who in the past struck out into the wilderness, breaking their old associations, have shown us the value of setting out in a practical way to make our visions come true."

Thus does Mr. Hoover, president of the "Better Homes in America" movement, explain his idea for nation-wide cooperation and participation in the campaign for better and more liveable homes.

There has been more private construction, that of homes and other personal structures, during the last two years in Xenia, than during any previous like period in the history of the city, according to Frank McCurran, of McCurran Brothers, Xenia contractors.

Building conditions are drifting toward a pre-war status, according to Mr. McCurran and he voices the optimistic sentiment of other builders. People are realizing the value of building as an investment, and in these times, when every dollar must make its return, building has been on the increase in Xenia, which is typical of every city in the country.

The cost of labor and material for building is on average with the contractors past two years. Mr. McCurran said. Xenia and Greene County should appreciate the large addition of public buildings in this locality, recently, he said, a number of business and public structures being completed.

It is the purpose of the "Better Homes in America" organization to encourage home ownership and to advise with the earnest energetic man of small income regarding ways and means.

There is no word in our language that holds so much meaning as home, lest it be mother. And the two are closely allied, on thing true to all that the heart of a boy or girl holds dear, as to be synonymous.

The movement for better homes and for home ownership has swept the country, and the interest of Xenians in the "Dream Home" has reflected the co-operation of Americans the country over in domestic interests.

Through a visit to the "Dream Home" you will learn those slight touches which translate home into a better home. You will see the display pieces of furniture that you will admire and cherish through the long years of friendly association.

The completion and opening of the "Dream Home" has united Xenia merchants and builders who appear in this issue in one big organization to help make your home into a better home. Each and every one will gladly give you his counsel and experience.

A city is often misjudged by the size and scope of its business district, and the important factor of its homes neglected. Visitors to Xenia are immediately attracted by the residence districts of the city and the number of pretty homes that are situated on every street.

Xenia's homes are results of the investment of its citizens and the experience and fine workmanship of its contractors.

FURNISHINGS MAKE HOME OUT OF JUST PLAIN HOUSE IN THIS CITY'S HANDSOME FIRST DREAM HOME

Adair Furniture Store Works Miracle With Proper Fittings; Other Merchants Add Necessary Touches To Complete Ideal Home.

Of the number of people that have visited the "Dream Home" on North Galloway since its recent completion, and who will, preceding the opening, Thursday, May 7, all have realized how lacking in inviting atmosphere is the house, a mere skeleton of a "home," without the comfortable fittings and furnishings.

Realizing the importance of the right selection of furniture with every home lover and the big part furniture plays in bringing out every attractive detail, the Adair Furniture Store, North Detroit Street, furnished the "Dream Home" Tuesday, every one of the rooms being completely outfitted.

Now the "Dream Home" has every accessory that goes to make a real home, from the washing machine in the basement to an automobile in the garage.

From the large stock at the Adair Furniture Store, the handsomest pieces of furniture were chosen to outfit the "Dream Home." Visitors at the newly completed structure, will be received in the living room, which will be fitted with a davenport, rug, chair, spinet desk, davenport table, floor lamp, bridge lamp, console table, and mirror.

In the dining room, which is situated in the room adjoining the living room, there will be a buffet, six chairs table, tea wagon and rug.

In the bower kitchen, which attracts the eye of the domestic woman, there will be a white porcelain range, kitchen stool and chair. A breakfast room adjoins the kitchen, and in here will be a breakfast set in red and gill.

Three bedrooms are on the second floor and in the smallest of these will be a day bed, writing desk, straight chair and rocker.

Three-piece bedroom suites will be placed in the two larger bedrooms.

The Adair Store also furnished the rugs and blinds for the entire house.

The importance of good taste in the selection of wall paper for the dream home was satisfied at the W. C. W. Company, East Main Street, where the wall fittings for the entire house were purchased.

The walls of each of the rooms have been papered with subtle designs, delicate color etchings and patterns being selected in the right taste. In the dainty little breakfast room, a vivid coloring was used in the paper, to bring out the attractiveness of this nook.

The electrical fixtures in the "Dream Home" were installed by the Hornick Electric Company, East Main Street. A silver chandelier was hung in the living room, with a candle effect being brought out in the electric tapers. Adequate but soft lighting characterizees the other fixtures.

The plans of F. L. Johnson for a real "Dream Home" have been realized with the completion of the attractive residence. Mr. Johnson's plans were carried out with the assistance of several Xenia business houses.

The construction of the house was in charge of A. J. Wyatt, Xenia contractor. After Mr. Wyatt's work was completed, Humphrey Brothers, New Jasper, painted the structure, using a pure white body with green shutters and other trimmings.

The material for the house construction was purchased from The Greene County Lumber Company, this city, insuring best quality.

The plumbing fixtures were installed by John A. North, who conducts one of the oldest plumbing houses in Greene County. Sand and gravel purchased during the work on the house were purchased from Ralph Horney, and taken from the Horney pit, West Second Street.

The coal bin in the basement of the "Dream Home" was filled with the choicest mining of The Stout Coal Company, Xenia firm. Another important basement fixture, the furnace, was installed by Frank Scott, who contracted for the furnace and sheet metal work.

The charm of music in a "Dream Home" will be furnished by the Sutton Music Store, East Main Street, which installed a piano in the living room.

Several beautiful floral displays will be placed in the "Dream Home" by the Anderson Floral Shop, West Main Street.

A Hudson coach was installed in the garage by the N. N. Hunter agency, South Detroit Street.

If any of the hundreds of visitors that are expected to be conducted through the "Dream Home" during the next few days, happen to meet with injury, they will be covered with liability insurance by the Ray Cox agency, South Detroit Street. Mr. Cox has also covered the household goods with insurance against damage.

If a family took up its abode in the "Dream Home" Thursday, they would be ready for any emergency, even to a well stocked pantry, a large supply of groceries, being placed in the kitchen by the Dunkel Grocery Company.

Those interested in the "Dream Home" have made every effort to supply every need of a home and can think of no item that has been neglected. Xenians are urged to visit the ideal home and realize its attractiveness.

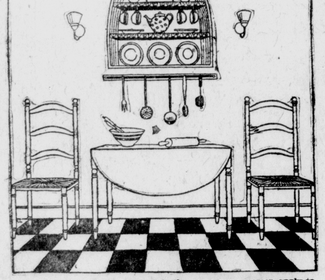
Painted Walls and Furniture



A "treadmill of dreary routine" is the name some women apply to their kitchen work, for beauty, that all important item which oils the mechanism, is frequently neglected.
The free use of paint solves the the question of kitchen beauty. Moreover, a kitchen in which all wood and plaster surfaces are painted is easy to keep clean, sanitary and durable.
Woodwork and furniture enameled, outlined and stenciled to match will give the kitchen that desirable complete look. Almost any kitchen furniture, if it be plain or quaint in design, can be made beautiful if this simple idea be followed. A painted and varnished floor, or floor covering, needs no scrubbing. Wiping with a damp cloth leaves it absolutely clean.

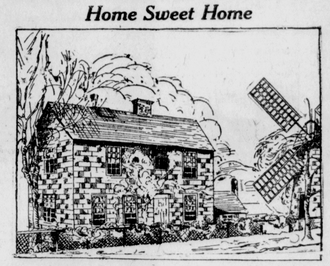
Home Sweet Home



ONE Christmas Eve a long time ago, a weary exile found himself in London, amid its cheerless fogs and alien firesides. During the night, while he suffered all the pangs of homesickness, the agony of his heart leaped into verse and he poured it all out to the world in the tenderest song ever written. The song was "Home, Sweet Home," and the man was John Howard Payne, a wandering American playwright and actor.

The original of the song, the "Home, Sweet Home," which Payne had in mind, and which he hungered so for on that lonely Christmas Eve nearly a hundred years ago, was his boyhood home at East Hampton, Long Island.

DRINKABLE ALCOHOL BEING SHIPPED TO U. S. FROM GERMANY?

Washington, May 5 — Federal authorities may soon have a new prohibition problem on their hands as the result of a veritable flood of German alcohol that is flowing into the United States, it was learned today.

Tests are now being conducted in government laboratories to determine whether this liquid, described as methyhol alcohol and manufactured by a cheap process that costs but slightly over 20 cents a gallon, is drinkable. More than sixty thousand gallons came in last month.

Not only the prohibition authorities are interested, but the American wood alcohol manufacturers as well, for the German product, is being utilized by American manufacturers to such an extent that the American makers have professed fears of being driven out of business. The German product is made at about one third the cost of American wood alcohol.

Prior to this year, American manufacturers were exporting considerable wood alcohol to Germany, but since the discovery of the new process, the tide has turned and Germany is now exporting a huge volume.

Request has been made to the treasury for an anti-dumping order to restrict the portion.

Prohibition authorities heretofore have considered the German product to be poisonous and unfit for human consumption. The astounding growth of imports in recent months, however, have raised in their minds the question of whether this German concoction is not readily convertible into beverage alcohol. The tests now being made will decide this point.

"There is some doubt as to whether it is poisonous," said Wayne B. Wheeler, head of Anti-Saloon leogue. "We are going to find out. However, we are not worried."

MOTORS REPLACE DUTCH WINDMILLS

The Hague, May 5—Holland's chief characteristic—the windmill—is threatened by electricity.

Little by little windmills have been giving way to electric motors, whch are now used not only for grinding corn, but also for pumping and fighting the continual battle against inrushing water.

So rapidly have windmills disappeared that it has now become a public issue. A society, "Holland Mills" has been formd to wage a war for the retention of the windmill, charging that Holland will become a dull and dreary sight to the traveler when all of the windmills are gone.

Professor Van Eysinga argues thtat in times of international disturbance Holland's electrical supply may be cut off, and therefore it is the duty of the Government to maintain the windmill as a measure of political safety.

BERNARR MACFADDEN

Health Hints by the Father of Physical Culture

The greatest difficulty experienced by those who are not familiar with fasting methods is to strengthen the will to the extent that it is essential to the maintenance of a fast. One may say, after a hearty meal in the evening, that he will fast all the next day; he has eaten too much; he has a feeling of discomfort because of the hearty meal. He arises the next morning and recalls his determination to fast during the day. Breakfast time is nearly at hand. His determination begins to waver, and finally he concludes that he will try the fast at some other time., A policy of this kind will, of course, make fasting more difficult. Do not, however, give up after your first failure, but continue with your determination to fast and it will not be long before you will develop the strength of will essential. Times often appear when one is really not hungry. He has no especial desire to eat. But it is meal time and he sits down and takes the food largely from a matter of habit. He does not feel just right unless he follows this particular habit. It is well for all my readers to learn that eating is largly a matter of habit; that is regular eating. One eats at regular times, and naturally after a while the stomach demands food at those particular times. If one could be so interested in his occupation as entirely to forget meal time, he could go without his regular meal and not notice it. You must remember also that there is what is termed habit appetite. That is, a person will have the desire for food at a certain time, not because there is actual need for it, but simply as a matter of habit. The proof of this statement is found in the disappearance of appetite in many persons if they pass by meal-time without eating. You have often heard a man say, for instance, if he has been compelled to miss his regular meal, that his appetite has disappeared. On occasions the wife will neglect to get the meal on time. The husband comes home then he proceeds to berate his spouse because of her neglect, maintaining that he had lost his appetite through waiting so long. An appetite lost in this manner is better lost, because it was not real hunger in the beginning; it was simply habit appetite

Below: MARIE PREVOST & GOV. VICTOR DONAHEY.

Additional guards have been assigned to protect Foreign Secretary Austen Chamberlain, following discovery of a Communist plot against his life. President Emeritus Arthur T. Hadley, of Yale University, speaking on "Law Enforcement" at New Haven, Conn., declared the dry laws are an infringement on personal liberty, dangerous to democracy. Marie Prevost, motion picture actress, was among thirty-five persons injured in the wreck of a Santa Fe train near San Diego, Cal. Declaring religious teaching in the homes, Sunday schools and churches is much preferable to compulsory teaching of religion by the State, Governor Donahey, of Ohio, vetoed a bill providing for compulsory Bible reading.

WALL STREET CLERK BECOMES LEADING PAINTER IN PARIS

Paris May 5 —The delightful Gallery Simonson has never attracted more distinguished visitors to its rooms in the little Rue Caumartin than were the visitors of the last few weeks during the exhibition of the paintings of the American artist George Waller Parker, who is well known to the French in Paris.

On the opening day Monsier Frantz Charlet, the celebrated Belgian artist said that he believed Mr. Parker's would be one of the most successful expositions of the season. Within an hour after the opening two acnvases were marked "Sold" — "Perspective" and "Les Peupliers Jumeaux."

Mr. Parker comes from the small town of Gouverneur, up in New York state, but has spent much of his time in the Adirondacks and in New York City itself.

BROWN GRADUATE

He was graduated from Brown university and was well established inn a broker's firm when he decided he wanted to study art. He went to the country, accepting ten dollars a week as a hotel clerk, studying and painting during his off hours. It was not long before his talent began to appear.

At the Lake Placid Club, in the Adirondacks, he studied landscape problems and later taught in the Montemare School, taking the pupils to Florida for six months and painting in the mountains the remainder of the year.

After attending the Art Students' League in New York, the artist came to Julian's Academy, in Paris. Then the war came on, and commercial art in the advertising line was about all he had time for between battles. When it was over he came back to fill two commissions—a decorative frieze for the Montemare school and decorations for the home of Mrs. Frank Warren, on Park Avenue, New York City. Paris has been his home ever since but he is on the "go" much of the time in search of material.

PAINTS SPAIN

Many of his pictures are the artistic results of his excursions into Spain and Northern Africa. In the latter he penetrated as far as the fascinating oasis of Touggourt, "Le Marche aux Dattes," "Une Vielle Rue a la Constantine", "Le Marche aux Chameaux" and "Pont Elcantara," are all delightful bits of life one sees every day in this sunny land. His color is rich and studied, each picture presenting a striking unity of effect.

The more familiar spots have no less interest, for Mr. Parker has the faculty of giving each its true value from the point of view of the picturesque and interesting light and atmospheric effects. He is a landscape painter who works with great care and neatness.

This successful exposition certainly shows that Parker has found a place among the most highly reputed landscape painters of the French school and yet he doesn't seem as pleased over it as he might be. He says that the long run of his exhibition has kept him in Paris and away from his favorite sport—skiing. But then some people are never satisfied.

DARWIN'S COFFIN FOUND IN ENGLAND

Farnborough, England, May 5—Charles Darwin's coffin, in which the body of the author of "The Origin of Species," rested for thirty-six hours after his death, has been found here in the coach-house of New Inn.

The brass nameplate carries the inscription:

"Charles Robert Darwin. Died April 19, 1882."

The coffin was made of solid oak from the estate of Darwin, at Down, near here, where the great scientist wished to be buried.

When it was arranged that the burial should take place in Westminster Abbey, another and more elaborate coffin was provided. Proprietors of New Inn do not know how the coffin found its way to the old coach-house, now used as a garage.

OLD-TIME BASEBALL STARS FIND JOBS IN MINORS; ALL ACTIVE

New York, May 5—Where are the stars of yesterday? asked the great bard, and echo answers where? A fortunate few retire to a life of ease and go into various small businesses, some of which make money. But the vast majority find a haven in some minor league, getting by on what they know, if anything. Sooner or later, Age, the inevitable, overtakes them and then—oblivion. They can't all be Joe McGinnitys, pitching winning base ball at fifty-two.

Some of them, however, last an unconscionable time. Take the case of Beals Becker, for example. Beals was in the majors some seventeen years ago and since passing down below has been one of the leading hitters of the Class AA leagues. He is doing nicely right now with Seattle. On the same club is Jim Bagby who topped the American League pitchers as late as 1920.

OLD TIMERS

Not far away, at Sacramento, is Ray Keating, a Yankee pitcher of the pre-Chance era; Merlin Kopp, with the Athletics eight years ago and Bob Schang, brother of Wally and once with the Giants. At San Francisco you will find Jeff Pfeffer, Pete Kilduff and Sam Agnew, to say nothing of Archie Yelle. Tim Hendryx, another old-time Yankee, and Frank Brower.

Ferdie Schupp, who left handed the National League silly in 1917-18, is with aKnsas City in the American Association. So is Dr. John Lavan, Jimmy Zinn, Frank Ellerbe and several others.

Down below we find Harry Courtney ex-Senator; Hugh Bedient, star of the 1912 world series while with the Boston Red Sox; "Red" Smith, ex-Dodger and ex-Brave; Wilbur Good, Paul Fittery and Bert Niehoff teamed up on the Atlanta Crackers with several recent major league discards, identity unimportant.

Ray Caldwell, one of the best pitchers of a decade, when right, which was seldom, is with Little Rock. So is Hod Eller, the shine baller who fanned six White Sox in a row, establishing a world series record in 1919.

Larry Kopf, Red shortstop in the same series, is another Little Rock asset, and right alongside of him is Russel Blackburne, whose $12,000 purchase by the White Sox years ago startled the baseball world of that time.

BANDITS GET $2,300 IN INDIANA TOWN

Hartford City, Ind, May 5— A gang of bandits invaded the town of Eaton, eight miles ffrom here early today, terriorized the populace of 1500 with dynamite, explosions, and pistol shots, blew open the safe of the Eaton State bank and escaped wtih all the money in the bank—$2300.

MAY WANT LOAN

London, May 5—The possibility that Germany will seek a loan of $375,000,000 by the end of the year was indicated today in a dispatch which the Daily Mail received from Strasbourg. It said that Germany has used practically all of the initial loan alloted it under the Dawes plan by the allies and that it is planning to ask another loan.

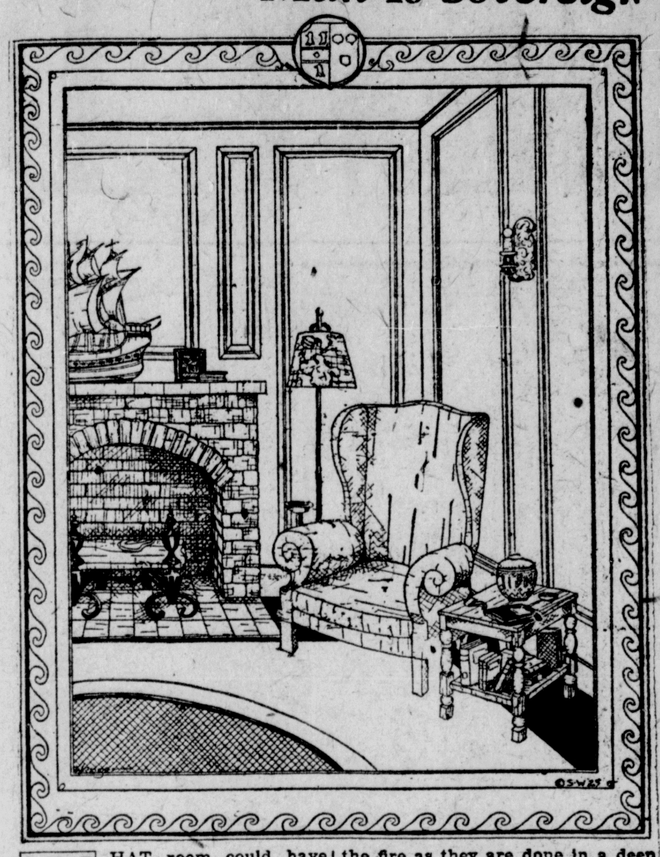
A Comfy Room Where Man Is Sovereign



WHAT room could have about it more the atmosphere of a place for a man to secret himself among his trophies and books than the one sketched above? From the old ship model, beautifully preserved in its coat of velvet finish varnish, to the handy table in a colorful enameloid, the room bespeaks its ownership.

The walls and ceiling are in a soft gray old Dutch enamel, the latter being a trifle lighter in tone. The panels and mantel-piece as well as the floor are finished in floorlac, a varnish and stain combined.

The tiles bring out the glow of the fire as they are done in a deep rich red, and the andirons in a flat tone black paint. The comfy chair is of a vari-colored velour tapestry and the room is further enhanced by having the rug brought out in a warm red combined with deep blue and gray shades.

An individual touch is given through the adjustable lampshade. It has an interesting old map glued on the parchment frame being protected and retaining its antique appearance by a coat of velvet finish varnish.

A room so arranged cannot help but prove engaging for it suggests comfort and snugness as well as beauty.

"NOT POSSIBLE TO CLASSIFY" BY MACK SAUER

A few jottings of the day by Samuel Pepys, Jr.: I out of bed when the clock went four and got me a heavy coat to put on the bed to keep us warm, but could not find the cat, as did Edgar Allen Poe, so the story goes. Finally, up to fix the furnace at which I shot my ire, but long it took to return the fire, so that my coal bill will be high enough, heaven knows.

To breakfast, where my wife, poor wretch, had me some sausage and a mince pie, and we dined in state, but of a truth the mince pie a luxury I could ill afford. By and by to my labors where came a poem about bobbed hair, it being well done and of choice phrasing, but of a truth just a little too trashy for putting in print. Many letters, too, about good results from Gazette classified ads.

Came two fellows walking from coast to coast to visit me, and right away I observed something of good character they ahve got, but a great deal, if not too much of a liking for roaming about, but fear all profit they have made in travel will signify little. Made them a brave speech about a rolling stone gathering no moss, yet if the truth were known, I would like to be with them myself.

To the Bijou in the evening where sat close to the pipe organ, a mighty good show and well put on; sat through the show crunching some parched corn I carried in my pockets, much to the discomfort of those around me, who said nothing,only giving sharp glances.

Home through the throng and at the Presbyterian church, was come upon by a beggar, who asked me for a helping. Gave him a handful of parched corn which he threw in the street and so late home reading about Charles Dawes, a man I love above all else.

Here's Yesterday's Puzzle Solution

GRAND JURY RETURNS SIX INDICTMENTS AFTER MAY SESSON

Six true bills including one secret indictment were returned by the May Grand Jury after deliberating slightly more than three hours Monday afternoon.

Eight witnesses were examined and four jcint indictments were retured against Forest Sibole and Herschel White, both of Springfield, on charges of burglary and larceny. One indictment was returned against Lewis Swan, Xenia, on a charge of unlawfully possessing drugs.

After conducting the usual inspection of the County Jail, it was respectfully suggested by the jury that the jail be better ventilated.

The first indictment against White and Sibole on a burglary and larceny charge was in connection with the robbery of the Reeves and Bryant clothing store, Jamestown, April 12 of a quantity of men's haberdashery. A value of $255.75 was placed on the loot obtained.

A second indictment against the pair charged them with robbing the M. C. Nagley grocery store of Cedarville, April 23 of cash and merchandise valued at $26.08.

The third indictment was in connection with the burglary of the Ross Company Store, of Bowersville April 9 of goods valued at $86.40. Another indictment charged them with implication in the robbery of the Vincent Rigio pool room, of Cedarville of goods valued at $26.70 including 2,000 cigarettes.

Lewis Swan, was indicted on a charge of unlawfully possessing drugs, namely, six tablets of morphine.

Each of the men indicted by the Grand Jury will probably be arraigned in Common Pleas Court within three days on the charges.

ZIMMERMAN

Mr. and Mrs. Alvah (Joe) Stine were callers at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Stine, Sunday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Homer Koogler and Monroe Snyder and family, of Belmont, spent Sunday with the latter's parents. Mr. and Mrs. Snyder, at Brookville.

John Bailey, of Oklahoma, is visiting his brother, Marion Bailey, and half brother, Lewis Bailey, and other relatives in Beavercreek and aso at Urbana.

Ed Wright and wife and Harley Parker wife and baby, of Dayon, were recent Sunday guests of their sister, Mrs. Charles Stewart, and Mr. Stewart.

A very enjoyable concert was given at this place Wednesday evening April 22, by the Manchester Glee Club, composed of eighteen students of Manchester College. Both sacred and secular songs were beautifully sung. Several readings were well rendered. Much credit is due their excellent training as shown in their solo, quartet and ensemble singing.

The primary grades and their teacher, Miss Gladys Grier are very proud of the banner which they won for the highest per centage in attendance and punctualty for April, for the the schools of Beavercreek township.

Simplicity marked the ceremony which united Miss Pauline Brown and Mr. Raph Shoup in marriage, at 6:45 Thursday, April 16, at the home of Dr. Christman in Dayton. The double ring service was used. The bride was becomingly attired in grey crepe dress with hose to match, and black kid pumps.

Mrs. Shoup is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Brown,and a graduate of Beavercreek High School, Class of 1922. She is an accomplished young lady and a popular singer. The groom is an industrious young farmer, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Shoup, and grandson of Mr. Ephriam Shoup of Shoup's Station.

Following the ceremony the briday couple went to the home of the groom's parents where refreshments were served. Only the immediate family were present. They are now domiciled at the houp farm home on the Xenia Pike, which was recently vacated by Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Shoup, who now live at Shoup's Station

Then young people of Mh. Zion neighborhood gave a pleasant affair at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Shoup Saturday evening, following their marriage, honoring Mrs. Shoup with a shower of many beautiful and useful presents. Games were played, and refreshments served. Present were: Viola Huston, Sarah Ferguson, Dessie Thomas, Olive Belt, Marcena Hawker Helen Benham, Irene and Forence Stafford, Etta Marie Kable, Charlotte Gabler, Helen Greer, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Swigart, Mr. and Mrs. Ward Boyer, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Shoup, Mrs. I. N. Kable, Mrs. E. Stafford, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas, Estel Johnson, Oscar Kable, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Shoup.

Mr. and Mrs. Hower Cosler entertained at dinner Sunday, the latter's mother, Mrs. I. N. Kable, and Miss Eta Marie Kable and Oscar Kable.

Garfield Zimmerman and wife were guests of the latter's parents,Mr. and Mrs. George Stine Sunday.

Rev. E. B. (Colonel) Bagwell, of North Manchester, Ind., preached at this place Sunday morning and evening. Rev. B. was pastor of the church here for several years. This is his first visit since he left twenty six years ago. He is now connected with Manchester College and came Sunday in the interest of that institution.

Mrs. Lewis Stewart was a dinner and supper guest of Mrs. I. M. McCoy, Sunday.

A Mother's Day program will be given at this place Sunday, May 10, at 10:30 fast time.

How's Your Stomach

MRS. LAURA HAGER

"It is just wonderful what Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will do for any one who suffers with stomach and bowel trouble," said Mrs. Laura Hager of 630 Vinton St., Toledo. "I had typhoid fever and it left me in very bad health, my bowels would not act, my food would set heavy on my stomach, did not digest properly. Gas would form and cause me great distress. I was weak, nervous, and in a rundown condition. I took the 'Golden Medical Discovery' and it cured me of my stomach and bowel trouble and built me up in good health. What 'Golden Medical Discovery' has done for me I am sure it will do for others."

NEW PASTOR WILL BEGIN PASTORATE IN XENIA THIS WEEK

Appointment for the coming year of the Revs. F. H. and Zelda Landgrabe as pastors of the Church of the Nazarene in this city was announced at the annual Ohio District Assembly at Marion, O., which adjourned its meeting Monday.

The Rev. M. R. Gilley, pastor of the local church, who resigned at the annual meeting April 22, has been assigned to the Church of the Nazarene at Warren, Pa. The Rev. Gilley left Monday for his home in Olivet, Ill., for a few weeks vacation before taking over the pastorate at Warren June 1.

The Rev. and Mrs. Rev. F. H. Landgrabe were called to the pastorate here following the acceptance of the Rev. Gilley's resignation and will arrive in Xenia the latter part of the week, it is announced.

They come highly recommended by the district superintendent and the church of Newark where they have served as pastors for the last five years.

Among other appointments made at the district assembly, is the announcement of the assignment of the Rev. H. W. Welch, district evangelist at the local Church of the Nazarene for the past two years to Hamilton, O., for the coming year. The Rev. Mr. Welch was elected by the assembly two years ago from Franklin, O., and has served successively here for two years. The Rev. Mr. Welch will leave next Sunday for his new post at Hamilton.

The Rev. Frank Watkin, former pastor of the local church was again assigned to the pastorate at Marion, O., for the coming year, it was announced.

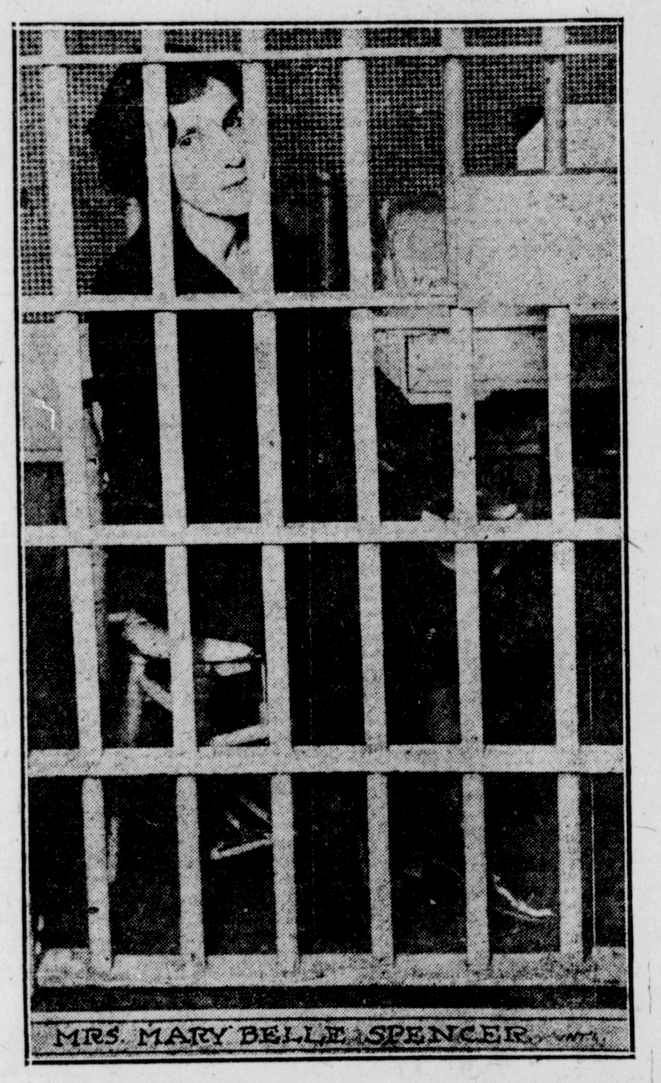
Client Free, Portia Jailed



Mrs. Mary Belle Spencer, of Chicago, one of the best known women lawyers in the country, in defending Pedro Rojas, who was accused of burglary, openly accused Judge Williams of prejudice. Her client was acquitted, but after the trial was over she was sent to jail for contempt of court.

EARL SHORT NAMED CLERK OF ELECTION BOARD AT MEETING

Earl Short, Republican, was re-elected clerk of the Greene County Board of Elections and John Alexander, Democrat, Yellow Springs, was elected chief at the organization meeting in the Court House Monday night.

Mr. Short, who is deputy clerk of courts, was elected clerk on the first ballot, a departure from the usual conflict of recent years when a division between Republican and Democratic members resulted in the clerkship being decided by a drawing after five ballots.

Mr. Alexander was also elected chief on the first ballot, succeeding H. A. Higgins, whose place on the board has been taken by Ed Wood, board are D. O. Jones, Beavercreek, and Walton Spahr, Bellbrook, both Republicans.

The board prepared petitions on request of residents of New Osborn to be circulated in that village for additional taxation to provide $3,247.64 for current operating expenses. If the petition attract sufficient names, they will be returned to the board and certified by the board to the county auditor to be put on the tax duplicate, eliminating the necessity for a special election to acquire the extra levy. Action on this matter influenced the early meeting of the board.

INDIANA TEACHES SCHOOL BOYS HOW LAWS ARE ENACTED

Indianapolis, May 5.— When Hoosier educators this year made possible the first Indiana Junior Legislature, they set a precedent. But present indications are that when the second session is held in 1927, the Junior General Assemblies also will be convened in a dozen other States.

As introduced in Indiana, the purpose of the junior body of "lawmakers," is to give the high school students practical experience in disposing of the State's big issues of the day.

Senators and Representatives are selected from the high schools in each community in much the same manner as the regular Legislators are elected, only the student's scholarship, rather than popularity is the deciding factor.

REGULAR SESSIONS

At the close or the regular Legislature, the high school "lawmakers" journey to the state capital, where their session is convened under the guidance of officers of the regular Senate and House.

The experiment in this State proved such a complete success that requests have been received by Dr. Henry Noble Sherwood, State Superintendent of Education from sixteen other State Boards of Education interested in adopting the plan.

Student Legislature avails the youth

Dr. Sherwood points out that the of the State actual experience in the art of lawmaking this being materially more profitable and instructive than information culled from textbooks.

REAL BENEFIT

"The real benefit to the high school pupil," said Dr. Sherwood, "is not alone the widening of his perspective by discussing the pressing problems in open forum. Obviously, present-day problems must be solved in sweat from the brows of bona fide lawmakers, but the Junior Legislature does prepare the youth for shouldering this responsibility when his time comes."

The junior Indiana "lawmakers," at their first session, followed closely the calendar of the regular General Assembly, even to the staging of a "strike" by the minority Senate group which differed with the majority on a "gerrymander" measure.

A student Speaker presided in the House and the Senate elected a President pro tem. from its own ranks. But the presiding officers of the regular Senate and House sat close by to unravel parliamentary knots and define legislative procedure.

Governor Ed Jackson frequently conferred with the "administration" groups in both Houses and outlined at the opening of the session his desire for the enactment of certain "laws."

SCOUTS TO MEET

Boy Scout Troop No. 1 will hold its regular weekly meeting Wednesday night at 7:30 o'clock in the new quarters at the Company L Armory, East Main Street, it is announced by Scoutmaster R. H. Kingsbury. A full attendance is desired.

Dr. H. C. Messenger delivered a short talk to the scouts at the last meeting on first aid treatment and bandaging, Scoutmaster Kingsbury said.

Local Boy Scouts are looking forward to exercises on Memorial Day and it is desired that each scout have a regular uniform by that day.

LOW AIR PRESSURE

IF YOU can cut down the air pressure in your balloon tires it will add just that much more to their cushioning effect.

Maybe you can't do this safely with your present make of balloon tires.

But you can with the new U. S. "Royal low-pressure Balloons—

Because—

These tires have the new U. S. "Low-Pressure Tread." This tread gives a much greater area of road contact than a round tread.

It distributes the load evenly over the tread surface and reduces the weight on the individual tread blocks. This does away with early, uneven and disfiguring tread wear.

U. S. Royal Balloon gives long service even at lower air pressures than have been recommended in the past.

For in addition to this new Low-Pressure tread they are built of Latex-Treated Web Cord. The only cord construction in which the cords are webbed together with pure rubber latex. This gives maximum strength and maximum flexibility.

Ride on genuine low pressure.

It will surprise you to know what a difference it makes.

MICHAEL'S MARRIAGE

By MICHAEL

CHAPTER XXXIII.

What does one talk about at the dinner-table with an undertaker? The question occupied Michael as he drove to the Pharley house. There was the weather, of course, but could one ask if the weather had any effect on business? He smiled. He imagined that Lonnie Cappers could give some amusing answers to the question.

He was admitted by a coal-black but intelligent appearing maid and led to the library. "Miss Lilah asks to be excused for a few minutes." The room impressed him favorably. tI really was a library, containing many cases of books. "I wonder if they're all about embalming and that sort of thing?" He smiled and inspected one of the cases. Hardy, Meredith, Fielding, Lever. The pictures on the walls were not those that are usually seen in American homes. There was an original landscape by Relinck, a good Corot reproduction, two etchings by Whisler and a portrait that Michael imagined might be a family heirloom, celebrating some stone-faced Puritan ancestor. Taken in general the library was a room that radiated cultivation and taste.

Lilah appeared in the doorway between her father and mother. Mr. Pharley wore his dinner coat in a comfortable manner that reflected ease and familiarity. It was plain that Lilah derived her good looks from him, not from her mother. Michael did not feel as uncomfortable as he had expected.

"Well, this is the whole damn family," Lilah laughed. Mrs. Pharley appeared slightly shocked; her husband's welcoming smile was unchanged.

They were not kept long waiting for dinner. It began with a fruit cocktail in which Michael was sure he detected a trace of liquor. "Well, well!" he thought.

The conversation moved in conventional channels. Michael was very comfortable. He thought of Elaine Alloway and the letter he had received from her that afternoon; and he contrasted the Pharleys with the Alloways. He was glad the Pharleys were giving him that prospective son-in-law look. Lilah was regarding hi madoringly and smiling encouragingly. He wondered how he would broach the subject to her father. Should he just say: "I wish to marry your daughter!" Somehow that didn't see madequate. He suddenly decided that it would be better to speak now than to wait until he was alone with Mr. Pharley.

"I suppose Lilah has told you that I asked her to be my wife?" He spoke calmly, addressing himself midway between Lilah and her father. There was no response for several seconds. The eyes of Pharley pere and Pharley mere met. Lilah flushed. She was surprised.

"Yes, she has, Michael," Mrs. Pharley answered finally. "We are proud of the fact." Her husband nodded.

"Then it is all right with you—I mean you consider me worthy of being Lilah's husband?"

Mr. Pharley cleared his throat.. "This is a matter I expected to hear from you about in private, Mr. M—er, Michael. There are several points that I think should be taken up before we—er, give our final consent." Lilah's eyes were upon the table. Michael was regarding the speaker with intensity.

Mrs. Pharley spoke: "Mr. Pharley means that we have no objections, Michael, but that there are several matters which we think ought to be agreed upon. Parents you know—" She did not complete the sentence. Tears appeared in her eyes. Lilah jumped up and went to her mother's side.

"There, mother!" she patted her upon the shoulder. Mr. Pharley was uncomfortable. Michael, glancing furtively at him, wished ardently that it was all over. He always wanted to flee when a woman began to cry.

The dinner went on, but it was enveloped in the same restrained air.

"An or deal, wasn't it?" Lilah said gayly when she at last was alone with Michael, admiring the engagement ring sparkling in the dim light.

"Well, I suppose a fellow gets used to it along about the time he gets married the sixth time."

Lilah cuddled closer to him. "Let's plan what we're going to do," she said enthusiastically.

"All right. But, Lilah, there's one thing I wanted to discuss with you."

She looked up at him expectantly.

"I think we ought to have a long engagement. It'll give us time to know ourselves for sure."

She sat up erect and her eyes bored into his: "Aren't you SURE now, Michael?"

"DRY NAVY" SAILS FOR WAR WITH "RUM FLEET"

Frankly Warns Nations to Drop Bickering and Go to Work

Washington, May 5.—Ambassador Houghton's maiden speech in London, in which he stated with unusual frankness that unless the nations of Europe abandon their war-like bickering and get back to constructive work they need not look to America for any more help, is an accurate reflection of President Coolidge's views, it was ascertained today.

The ambassador, it was said, spoke "by the book" fresh from conferences with President Coolidge, Secretary of State Kellogg and other administration leaders, Mr. Houghton outlined with remarkable clarity and force the major tenets that are to guide the formation of American policy abroad for the next three years.

In every authoritative administration quarter today, there was voiced high praise of Ambassador Houghton's speech—something that has not always been true, concerning Ambassadoria lutterances at pilgrim dinners. Particular commendation was accorded the ambassador for cutting away the usual diplomatic "hokum" and bluntly telling Europe what is in the American mind.

The two paragraphs of Mr. Houghton's speech especially praised in administration circles here today were:

"The full measure of American helpfulness can be obtained only when the American people are assured that the time for destructive methods and policies has passed and that the time for peaceful upbuilding has come.

"Americans are asking themselves if that time has arrived. The answer must come from the people of Europe, who alone can make the decision. If the answer is peace, America will help to her generous utmost. But if that answer shall continue to be confused and doubtful, then I fear those helpful processes must inevitably cease. We are not, as a people, interested in making speculative advances."

In other words, the United States has now told Europe that the American people are willing to invest their money in Europe's future, but are not willing to buy wild cat stock and speculate on it.

As interpreted here, Ambassador Houghton's speech amounted to this:

1—A direct warning to Europe that there will be no more American loans abroad unless Europe ceases bickering and gets to work.

2—A more indirect but nevertheless significant warning to France and her continental allies not to seize upon Hindenburg's elections as an excuse to 'pick on" Germany.

3—A thinly veiled admonition to France that she had better abandon her stubborn opposition to a new arms conferences, such as President Coolidge is willing to call, and go along with the rest of the world toward reduced armaments and lesser military expenditure.

4—A notice to Europe and particularly France that America expects a business-like adjustment of her debts to the United States.

Not only at the White House and the state department was the ambassador's speech read with commendawell.

tory interest, but at the capitol as Senator William E. Borah, chairman of the senate committee on foreign relations, who does not always see eye to eye with the administration on matters of foreign policy, was among those who praised Houghton's utterances.

"I am thoroughly in accord with the sentiments expressed by Ambassador Houghton," said Borah. "He has pronounced a very wise and very timely policy."

Senator Shipstead, Farmer-Laborite of Minnesota, also a member of the committee, declared Houghton "pronounced a policy that should have been laid down at Versailles peace conference."

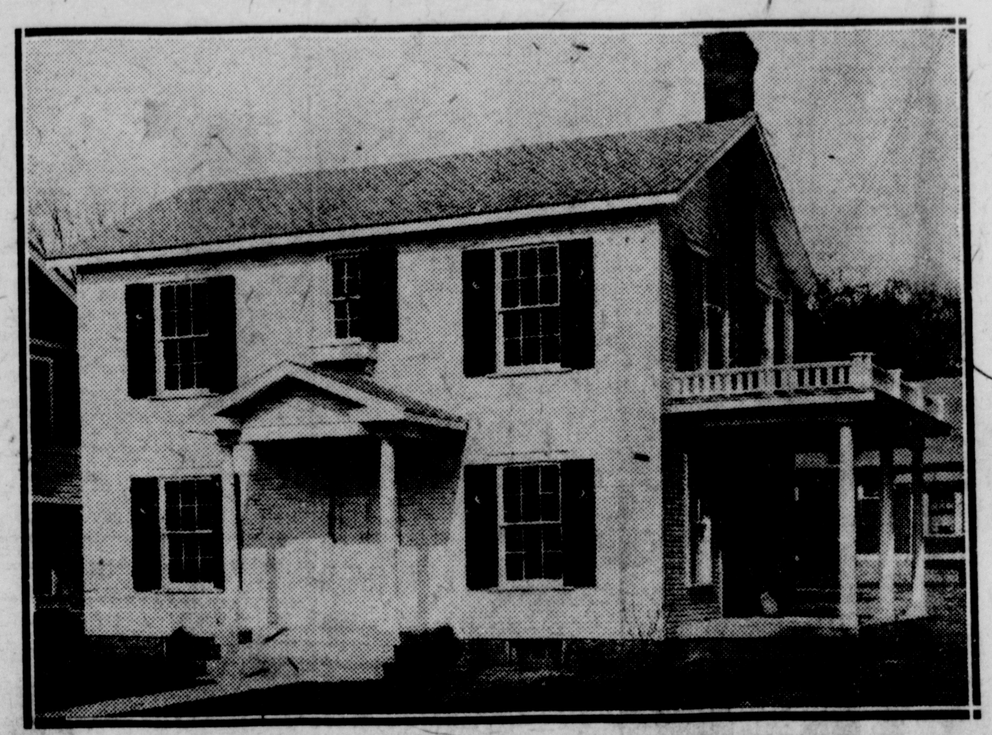
"DREAM HOME" IS READY FOR OPENING HERE THURSDAY



This new and modern residence at 831 North Galloway Street is Xenia's first "Dream Home".

It was erected by Frank L. Johnson who has invested considerably in residence construction on the North Side, as proof of his faith in the qualifications of this section as a home district.

Many Xenia craftsmen have contributed to the erection of this handsome new residence, and now interior decorators and experts in house furnishings, have provided the interior with that home-like atmosphere that is indispensible. These merchants have furnished the residence with everything necessary for a family moving into the house immediately, and in this finished form it will be thrown open to the public Thursday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday afternoons and evenings. The hours of visiting will be between 2 and 5 o'clock each afternoon and 7 and 10 o'clock each night. Visitors will be shown over the house from cellar to garage and it is expected that hundreds of Xenians will avail themselves of the opportunity to see the ideal home.

ARTISANS ADDING FINAL TOUCHES TO IDEAL RESIDENCE

Throngs Expected to Visit New House During Four Days Opening

Xenia's first "Dream Home," is being prettied up for the invasion of visitors expected to greet its opening for public inspection Thursday.

The house erected by Frank L. Johnson at 831 North Galloway Street, will be thrown open to visitors for the first time Thursday marking also the first time a "Dream Home" has been offered for inspection in this city.

The handsome new residence is being furnished and decorated with all the accoutrements of a real home for the influx of visitors Thursday, and elaborate plans are being prepared to receive sight-seers and show them over the house with every courtesy.

The hombe will be open for inspection Thursday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday, between the hours of 2 and 5 o'clock each afternoon and between the hours of 7 and 10 o'clock each evening. Visitors will find the in the block farthest north on Galloway Street, the second house south of Fairground Avenue.

They will be received by Mr. Johnson, builder of the residence, and a representative of the Adair furniture store, which furnished the "Dream Home" from top to bottom This includes properly selected furniture in each of the rooms, while the W. C. W. Company has decorated and papered the walls, the Anderson flower store is adding flowers for the interior and the Tiffany jewelry store has supplied the clocks and a tea set for the dining room.

The Dunkel Grocery Company has outfitted the kitchen with a supply of groceries, and that company will serve hot coffee in the dining room to the visitors. Visitors will find the newly finished house ready for occupancy, with all furnitire ready for use, groceries ready to prepare a meal and a Hudson automobile waiting in the garage.

Although this is the first "Dream Home" in Xenia, its patrons are certain the innovation will prove popular. They expect throngs will visit the residence not only to see the structure itself, with its new and modern features in home-building, to inspect the tastefully selected furnishings, designed best to fit the home both beautifully and comfortably, without extravagence or poor taste.

DRUGSTORE COWBOYS AND FLAPPERS ARE O. K.

So Says Lady Aberdeen But Frau Mende Wants Slippers Resurrected

Washington, May 5.—Modern youth was heartily defended today by the Marchioness of Aberdeen, titled president of the International Council of Women.

In an interview with International News Service, the marchioness declared the American bobbed-haired, rouged-kneed, saucy-dispositioned flapper and the equally familiar "drugstore cowboy" will be the salvation of the world.

"I think today's young people are the most splendid the world has seen. They have odd traits, of course, but their independence is at the bottom of that familiar complaint," Lady Aberdeen continued.

"Who would think of comparing an 18-year old today with a similar youth of 100 years ago? The modern boy or girl is more intelligent, thinks independently and refuses to accept every thing blindly.

"Naturally it is disconcerting at times to be forced to accept a radically new attitude from children when we were bound by strict discipline and stricter conventions in our teens. But the new generation should be a direct example of the sound outlook of the present day youth."

Lady Aberdeen believes that refusal by present day children to believe everything they are told will cause an international revision of present day hostilities and pettishness. This view however, met with violent dis-political leader and member of the reichstag, thinks the flapper and her boy friend need a big portion of pre-war discipline—specifically a concerted move by parents toward slippers and hair brushes, dusty with use.

"The war let down the bars and the world must, for its own protection, put them up again," she said.

"Boys were away from the restraining discipline of home life for five years and their younger brothers and sisters were caught in the whirlwind of immorality which swept the world.

"The value of discipline in the raising of children is obvious. Without parental discipline, a child is handicapped both in the race for material success and moral happiness.

"Throughout history, the disciplined have succeeded. Self discipline enables one to master onself and build up a background of invaluable character—and this training must begin at home.

Frau Mende asserted that many of Germany's present day problems could be laid directly at the feet of Germany's children, who, by their refusal to work, prevented a speedy national recovery. She said this was the main reason why parents, in desperation, elected Hindenburg president, because they thought his efforts would cause a return to pre-war discipline.

SIX CRUISERS AND TWENTY SPEEDBOATS TO PATROL RUM ROW

Coast Guard Unit Is Ordered To Shoot to Stop Vessels

New York, May 5.—The advance guard of the United States "dry navy" put to sea today to open its war against the "rum fleet" 30 miles at sea.

The deteachment, six cruisers and twenty speedboats left the coast guard base at Clifton, Staten island, under orders to blockade rum row. All the boats were armed with machine guns and "one pounders."

The cruisers were the Seneca, the Rad Wing, the Cresham, the Yanaraw, the Manhatan and the Agusmet.

Another step in one of the government's biggest crugades against bootleggin g was the jailing of the nineteen members of the Staten Island unit of the coast guard. The men were charged with dishonest practices in connection with prohibition enforcement. They were arrested last night.

All along the New Jersey and Long Island coasts, the "dry army" under divisional Provisional Chief A. R. O. Merrick, was guarding every cove and inlet.

Thirty miles at sea where the rum fleet rolls in the Atlantic swells the skipper's were getting uneasy.

It's getting pretty tight" One of the most active captains in the bootlegging business said.

"It looks as though we'll have to pick up and move along. Our landing have fallen off at least fifty percent in the last month.

"We expect to stay out thirty or forty days," one of the coast guardsmen said. "We're going to park there until rum row is cleared of ships."

Captain W. V. E. Jones, commandant of the coast guard in the Yew York area, explained that there had been no orders issued to his men "to shoot to kill."

Coast guard officers said the orders were first to give two preliminary warning shots across the bow of any vessel failing to give signals and then to "shot to hit 'em."

Divisional prohibition Chief R. O. Merrick, who has recently returned from a 350 mile inspection trip along the New Jersey and Long Island coasts declared transportation of contraband liquor had fallen off 90 percent during the month of April.

Columbus, O., May 5—Experts of the Logan Gas Company will seek to justify their demands for increased gas rates amounting to a monthly levy of 72 1-2 cents upo each of its tens of thousands of consumers by submitting a valuation of its physical property of $45,385,363, ompiled by Ford, Bacon and Davis, New York appraisal engineers.

Columbus, O., May 5—Experts for the Logan Gas Company today will begin their fight for a flat increase of approximately 73 cents per month, applicable to every consumer in 81 municipalities in norther Ohnio, at a hearing before the state utilities commission. Legal representative of the cities will oppose the proposed new rates as constituting a "camouflaged service charge."

The first move on behalf of the company is expected to be submission of valuation of its properities, reported to have just been completed by Ford, Bacon and Davis, industrial engineers of New York City. This valuation is expected to approxiamte $41,00,000, more than double the company's $20,000,000 capitalization. The last report shows the company paid a four per cent dividend of $800,000 and applied the remaining $60,000 of profits to surplus.

Once the company's valuation figures are before the commission counsel for the cities are expected to ask for time to check the figures submitted, and possibly to take exceptions to the total. The cities may request to submit valuations of their own, inasmuch as the base valuations will provide the main rate making basis and in the final adjudication of the proposed new rates. In the present inquiry, the burden of proof rests upon the company to prove to the commission that the proposed rates are reasonable.

The new rates are exactly like present rates with one exception. The present rate for the first 5,000 cubic feet is 48 cents with a three cent discount for prompt payment. The new rate is 95 cents for the first 500 cubic feet, and 48 cents per thousand for the next 4,500 cubic feet. The proposal in effect is an increase to all consumers of a flat 72 1-2 cents per month. Inasmuch as the company had just failed in a proposal to obtain a 75 cents service charge, opponents of the new rates will contend the new proposed rates constitute a service charge.

HENRY FORD ROAD IS SEEKING AUTHORITY TO ACQUIRE D. T. & I.

Application Says Both Roads Constitute One Road Under Same Management

Washington, May 5.—The Detroit, and Ironton railroad, a Henry Ford railroad, applied to the interstate commerce commission today for authority to acquire and operate the Detroit, Toledo and Ironton railroad which also includes the Toledo-Detroit railroad.

The pr sopocaed

The proposed acquisition is to be brought about through issuance of Detroit and Ironton securities in exchange for those of the Detroit, Toledo and Ironton.

The application sets forth that the proposed acquisition and operation are in the public interest for the reason that both roads in fact constitute one road and can be most conveniently economically operated under one corporate management.

The Detroit and Ironton is better able than the Detroit, Toledo and Ironton to finance the ownership and operation of the combined properties, it was stated.

ENGLISH PAPERS COMMENT ON TALK MADE BY HOUGHTON

Post Suggests America Might Re-examine Inter-Allied Debt Problem

London, May 5—English newspapers gave considerable prominence today to the address last night of U. S. Ambassador Alanson B. Houghton at the Pilgrims dinner, in which he warned Europe that American financial and moral assistance will be withheld unless Europe settles its quarrels.

"The speech was one of great moment when the probable effect of recent political changes in Europe is not yet clear," the Times said.

The Post said:

"Houghton's warning was addressed particularly to countries of the continent, cheifly Germany. We suggest that while awaiting evidence of European good faith, America might re-examine the whole question of inter-allied debts. We are convinced the rigid attitude of the American official mind and the dunning speeches of Borah, do not represent the influential sections of the American electorate.

The Telegraph suggests that Ambassador Houghton's warning was inspired by President Coolidge.

The Manchester Guardian took the position that when the good faith of Europe was assured, America would participate officially in European affairs and "pull with its full weight."

MYSTERY SURROUNDS DEATH OF MAN FOUND FLOATING IN RIVER

Dayton, May 5. — A handkerchief bearing laundry mark "356" and a gold wedding ring on the little finger of the left hand are the only clues through which Coroner John F. Torrence and the police hope to establish the identity of a white man whose body was found floating in the Miami River above Steele dam early Monday morning.

The body was discovered by John Linder, 1205 1-2 East Fifth Street, who was fishing from the dam, which is just below Island Park, and in the rear of McCook field.

FRENCH TROOPS AND RIFFIAN FORCES IN TERRIFIC BATTLE

Abdel Krim Is Concentrating Large Force—Spain To Stop Its Aggressive Campaign

Paris, May 5—A fierce battle is going on today between Franch troops and the Riffian forces under Abdel Krim at Bibane. French Morrocco and the situation "is serious," the Franch foreign office admitted this afternoon.

Abdel Krim is concentrating a force of 25.000 men around Chechouan, the foreign office said. The situation was critical the foreign office declared, because of the possiblity of a revolt of the native tribes.

Spain has definitely decided to stop its aggressive campaign against Abdel Krim in Spanish Morocco, a dispatch to the Paris Matin from Seville was taken to indicate. General Primo Reviera, president of the directory and high commissioner of Sapnish Morocco was quoted in a speech at Seville as saying there was "no economic compensation in Morocco to justify the great sacrifice of Spanish money and lives.

WANT SEED POTATOES

Athens, May 5—The Athens County Red Cross Society is making an appeal to farmers for seed potatoes for the gardens of the idle coal miners of the Hocking Valley field. The miners are willing to garden but cannot purchase seed, welfare workers said. Donation of small potatoes, which, otherwise, would be wasted, were requested.

CRISIS INDICATED IN WEST VIRGINIA COAL STRIKE NEAR

Contempt Charges Come Up In Federal Court Against Score of Miners

Wheeling, W. Va., May 5—Developments in the coal strike in panhandle counties of West Virginia today indicated a crisis near, two events outstanding.

First of these was the coming up of contempt charges in federal court here today against a score of members of the United Mine Workers officials and members alleging violation of strike injunction and second, the decision of the mine workers at Pomeroy, Ohio, to break away from the parent organization and go back to work under the 1917 scale. The Pomeroy minres have formed an independent local named "the golden rule" and just what effect their action will have upon other unions is today causing officials of the mine workers much uneasiness and state and national officers are hurrying to Pomeroy in an effort to have the action rescinded.

The first injunction matters against mine workers come before Judge Baker in federal court today, when the special term closes and is merged into opening of the regular May term.

OBSERVE JUBILEE OF NATIONAL LOOP

Boston, May 5,—Preparations were being made here today for the celebration at Braves field Friday of the biggest baseball day of the year. The golden jubilee of the National League will be officially celebrated by the Braves and the Chicago Cubs, the only charter members of organized baseball. These two teams were in the original league in 1875 and remained throughout all the years.

All the big league officials of the game will be present. Commissioner of Organized Baseball Landis will be the honorary chairman.

The day will be a tribute to the baseball stars of bygone days.

Nap Lajoie, Jimmy Collins, Hans Wagner, John Morrill, George Wright and other past greats, have been invited to attend the jubilee.

START RE-APPRAISAL

McConnelsville, May 5 — Re-appraisal of the real estate of Morgan County has been started under the recently enacted law. Morgan County is a rural and is one of the first in Ohio to start placing its real estate on the tax duplicate at new figures.

DUTCH FLAPPERS COOK FOR PRINCE

Capetown, South Africa, May 5.—Eighteen year old girl residents of the Dutch city of Stollenbosch, Cape of Good Hope, cooked and served the luncheon which featured the visit of the Prince of Wales on his journey into Africa.

Guns from the old Stollenbosch forts, silent for 250 years, fired a salute to the young prince. College students defied a temperature of 90 degrees and pulled the guns two miles to make them available.

The road from Capetown to Stollenbosch is 31 miles long, yet it was lined with people who wanted to get a glimpse of the royal visitor.

The prettiest girls of the district waited on the prince serving him with turkey, chicken, roast beef and cold ham they had prepared and brought in great baskets of fruit and grapes, all of the food and fruit having been produced in the district.

The chairman had announced that there would be no speech-making. The crowd was insistent that the Prince say a few words.

The prince finally rose and said to the assemblage in words of their native language:

"I thank you for your welcome and for your hospitality."

The fact that he had addressed them in their own tongue evoked a storm of cheers and enthusiastic welcome appeared to give the prince pleasure, for it was only a few months ago that Stollenbosch was the center of a secession movement.

PAIR FINED

Elmer Bowmaster, this city was fined $25 and costs and sentenced to spend thirty days in the County Jail by Judge S. C. Wright when he pleaded guilty to a charge of operating an auto while intoxicated in Probate Court Monday afternoon. John Stewart, colored, East Second Street, arrested with Bowmaster Sunday, was fined $25 and costs on a charge of drunk when he pleaded guilty.

BAKER WILL SPEAK

Oberlin, May 5—The Oberlin College graduation exercises will start June 11, ending June 16. Illumination Night on June 13 and the commencement address, on June 15, by former Secretary of War Baker, Cleveland, are features of the program.

DOCTORS WILL MEET IN BIG CONVENTION IN ATANTIC CITY

Chicago, May 5.—Hotels on the board walk of Atlantic City, during the week of May 25-29, will house the greatest number of physicians ever gathered at the sea side city, according to an announcement made here by the Journal of the American Medical Association.

The annual session of the American Medical Association, which will dominate Atlantic City at that time, has arranged to use the entire steel pier for its general meetings and its exhibits and to use available halls in most of the big hotels for special sessions.

In addition to the association, some fifteen or twenty other medical bodies will hold meetings just previous to or following the convention of the major organization.

MEDCAL FILMS

A significant feature of the session will be a motion picture theatre devoted to the showing of special medical films prepared for the occasion.

A film prepared by Dr. Alexi-Carrell, of the Rockefeller institute will reveal the growth of a living human cell outside the body as done experimentally by him in tubes of culture medium.

A film prepared by Dr. Clark W. Finnerud, Chicago, will show the development of ringworm and the different procedures used in healing such a lesion.

A special exhibit will be devoted to heart disease and another to the treatment of children poisoned by lye, or suffering from other destructive injuries to the throat.

MANY EXHIBITS

Virtually all the great organizations devoted to social welfare and general health of the United States, including the American Society for the Control of Cancer and the American Social Hygiene Association, have planned to exhibit their work in the scientific exposition at this session and to demonstarte it through films in the motion picture section.

In the scientific meetings to be held by the sixteen scientific sections some 300 papers will be read on virtually all the advances in medical science during the last year.

The president of the American Medical association to be inaugurated this year, is Dr. William D. Haggard, of Nashville, Tenn. In his address he will point the way for special work by the physicians of the country in aiding the public health during the coming year.

Maple Nut Cake

½ cup Crisco
1 cup light brown sugar
½ cup milk
2 eggs
1½ cups flour
¼ teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons baking powder
1 cup chopped nuts
1 teaspoon vanilla extract

Cream Crisco, add sugar, yolks of eggs, milk. Beat. Add flour, salt, baking powder, sifted together. Add nuts, fold in beaten whites of eggs. Add flavoring. Bake in well Criscoed loaf pan in moderate oven for thirty-five to forty-five minutes. Cover with maple icing.

Maple Icing

1 teaspoon butter
4 tablespoons hot milk
1 cup powdered sugar
1 teaspoon baking powder
1 teaspoon maple flavoring, beat well

Mrs. Brown-Lewers says:

I find that I can make delicious cakes with Crisco, just as with expensive butter. When a recipe calls for butter, I use the same amount of Crisco and add one teaspoon of salt for each cup of Crisco used.

BRAKEMAN HAS LEG AMPUTATED AFTER WRECK ON PENNSY

Edward Sewell, Columbus, brakeman, had his leg badly crushed, necessitating its amputation at the Good Samaritan Hospital, Cincinnati, when sixteen cars on a freight train of the Columbus-Cincinnati division of the Pennsylvania raliroad, were derailed, near Morrow, O., early Monday morning.

J. E. Harrison, flagman on the train sprained his ankle when he jumped at the time the wreck occurred but was able to go to his home in Columbus.

The cause of the wreck has not been determined by trainmen, but it is thought that a broken rail caused the pileup.

The cars that were derailed were in the middle of the train and the engine was not derailed. The train left Xenia about 1:50 a. m. and the wreck happened just outside of Morrow at 2:55 o'clock.

TRIAL OF LUCILLE JONES POSTPONED

Elyria, O., May 5—The trial of Lucille Jones, 19, on charges of "being a procuress" was postponed today.

Definite news as to cause of adjournment was lacking, but rumors said that one of the jurors,—a woman,—had talked about the case, expressing decided opinions. The prosecuting attorney, his assistant and counsel for Miss Jones went to Lorain to investigate this rumor at its source. Should it prove true, lawyers said, it would be necessary to empanel a new jury to try the girl.

Another report in circulation was to the effect that attorneys for Miss Jones would insist upon a change of venue, alleging that feeling, as a result of newspaper publicity, was such that their client could not hope for a fair trial.

Miss Jones was indicted by the last Lorain County grand jury charged with having arranged meetings between William Monschien, of Elyria, father of a family, and Ethel Kun, 15 years old, Lorain school girl.

Monschien pleaded guilty to contributing to the delinquency of the Kun girl and is counted upon as one of the state's principal witnesses.

8,5000 PEOPLE FILE PERSONAL PROPERTY TAX RETURNS HERE

Virtually all of the 8,500 personal property tax returns due from Xenia and Greene County residents have been received, County Auditor R. O. Wead announced Tuesday. A large number of returns dated for last Friday, the final day, were received Saturday through the mails.

County Auditor Wead stacked the returns to date in one pile and found the pile measured about eight feet in height, he said.

Auditor Wead will be unable to ascertain just how many residents were delinquent until May 12 when the various assessors in the county will assemble and a checking of names will begin. Those persons failing to list their returns in the specified time will be visited by the assessors and must show good cause for their delinquency. Such delinquents lose the $100 exemption on taxable property allowed by law and may also be assessed a 50 per cent penalty, it is announced.

The absence of hurry was noticeable because many persons availed themselves of the early days for filing returns. The greatest rush occurred April 29 and the last day when a steady stream of persons crowded the offices.

HIKERS HERE ON 50,000 MILE TRIP

Fat people who walk for exercise to reduce their weight may learn a lesson from R. E. Baxter, who weighed 117 pounds when he started walking and now tips the beam at 158.

Baxter is living proof that what is one amn's meat is another's poison, but he didn't affect this change in avordupois by a short jaunt before breakfast each morning. When Baxter started out to walk he meant to do just that, and as a result he has covered 39,337 miles since starting on the voluntary hoofing trip. And Mrs. Baxter is right along with him to see that he does not cheat by "hooking" rides.

Mr. and Mrs. Baxter reached Xenia Monday on their 50,000 mile hike, of which they have covered practically four-fifth. During that time they have been treed by timber wolves in Canada; washed away in a cloudburst in Idaho; caught in a forest fire in the Northwest; held up by bandits in Mexico and were lost three days without food and water in the desert outside Goffs, Calif.

These are only a few of their experiences on their jaunt through the United States, Canada, Mexico and Cuba, which they hope to complete in 1927. As further proof that what is one man's meat is another's poison is the fact that the hard-surface roads of which Ohio is justly proud, are not to the liking of the hiking Baxters. They are not only harder to walk on, but they are the cause of so much traffic that pedestrians have to keep almost constantly in the rough along the side of the road, they say.

Baxter is an ex-service man and a member of Monohan Post, No. 64, American Legion, Sioux City, Ia. Upon his discharge from a government hospital, he was advised to get out in the open if he wanted to live. Baxter wanted to do just that very thing and he took this advice seriously.

He therefore fell in with the proposition of a friend, who proposed that Baxter start out with one cent, walk fifty thousand miles in seven years, making expenses on the trip; never ask for a lift but accept it if offered, but not ride on trains except through heavy swamp land. If the terms are carried out Baxter will receive $10,000 on completion of the journey.

Mrs. Baxter refused to be left at home so they started from Washington D. C., December 14, 1921. Although they seek hotel shelter in the winters, they camp out in the open in the summers, but never let the weather stop their walking program. Mrs. Baxter remembers as an unpleasant experience of camp life, the time a tarantula crawled across her face while she was sleeping in Texas.

"I don't mind bugs of any kind or snakes either," said Mrs. Baxter, "but somehow I can't get used to tarantulas."

Mr. and Mrs. Baxter average thirty to thirty-five miles a day, the most they ever made being forty-nine and one-half miles in twelve hours and ten minutes. Only about 10,000 miles of those they have covered have been on trains, automobiles and boats, they say.

WILBERFORCE WINS OVER ANTIOCH NINE BY FREE-HITTING

BY. L. J. WONES

Wilberforce University baseball team completely outclassed and outplayed Antioch College Monday afternoon at Yellow Springs the former team winning handily by a 12 to 5 score in a slow game that lasted over two hours.

Each team used two hurlers in the game. "Slim" Dawson is charged with the defeat while Lewis, Wilberforce hurler, retired in the fifth, is credited with winning the game as Wilberforce was leading at the time he left the hill. Dawson was touched up rather hard by the colored lads who collected ten bingles off his delivery. His support was not good although if it had been perfect he would have been beaten as Wilberforce earned seven runs. Wood, a left hander, pitched the last inning.

Lewis, Wilberforce's star twirler, started on the mound for the winners but Coach Graves got a bit afraid as Antioch was getting him along about the fourth and fifth rounds so he put Lewis in the outfield and ushered Harris into the box, who pitched nice ball, letting Antioch down without a hit and but one run which came by the aid of a walk and two errors.

The entire Wilberforce team played good ball and each got one or more hits with the exception of Simpkins, Brown and Lewis. Harding and Harris were the real hitting stars, each getting three bingles out of five trips to the plate. Ward played well and got a home run in the eighth. Harding, although he made three errors, played a nice game at short and made one nice catch and several fine stops.

Toomire, Kumler and Snyder played well for the losers, the first named getting a triple and single out of five trips to the pan while Snyder and Kumler each got a hit. Stump played well on the defense and handled seven chances at second without a fluke.

Wilberforce scored in the first inning on hits by Pore, Harris and Harding a passed ball by Hilier an error by Alexander and infield out, let the visitors score four markers

Antioch got two of these back in its half of the third when Wilberforce played sloppy ball, errors by Harris and Brown permitting two runs to score.

Wilberforce increased its lead in the fourth when Harding singled to center and went home when Teele let the ball pass him.

Antioch also scored in their half of the fourth after Hiller singled and went to second and third on infield taps by Alexander and Teele scored when Dawson crashed a safe one to deep left. Antioch added another in the fifth after Toomire tripled to left center and scored on Snyder's line drive over second base. Kumler doubled, but Snyder fell down rounding third and was caught between that base and home and run down.

Wilberforce was a bit leary about a one run lead so in the eighth singles by Harding and Pore and a circuit drive by Ward coupled with a walk, an error and a sacrifice fly by Harris let them score four more tallies which iced the game. They did not stop at this but added three more tallies in the ninth on two hits a walk, an error, two passed balls and a wild pitch by Wood.

A large crowd attended the game. The last two innings were played in a drizzling rain which slowed the game up quite a bit.

DOLLS ARE STILL POPULAR IN PARIS STYLE EXPERT SAYS

Paris May 5— Doll days are still the fashion in the French capital, and according to the latest reports the little "poupee" is to extend its kingdom. Not content with reposing on the cushions of madame's boudoir, it is or in her private salon, it is going to become an important part of her toilette, making a gay splash of color on her costume when she promenades, or do duty as a receptable for mirror and powder puff, while during the evening a fluffy little doll often develops into a pretty fan to flirt with.

Garters are growing fancier every day, if one can judge from the displays of the smart shops in the Rue de la Paix. Made in all colors, a particularly enchanting pair comes with a little elastic loop in which a fancy handkerchief may be stuck. And in this season of short skirts, what would be a better hiding place for the dainty necessary, especially when the coat or dress, has pockets designed for ornament only—or, perhaps, none at all. Little, painted flowers trim other pretty garters, and a very practical model has a flower under which nestles a powder-puff and a lip-stick.

Flowers that never fade are still worn in the buttonhole. A green camelia is the latest novelty, launched by one of the leading couturiers, which has been taken up by many chic Parisiennes. Blossoms, in fuchsia and cyclamen tints, are much in favor and give a bright hue to sombre costumes. Little bouquets of daffodils and cowslips were recently noticed at a fashionable the-dansant. Then there is always the carnation, a full pink, with shaggy mauve edges, or yellow ones, for wear with brown suits and brunette skins.

ARCH PRESERVER SHOES

After walking 39,337 miles, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Baxter have arrived in Xenia and are telling of the durability, ease and health-giving qualities of Arch Preserver Shoes, which they have worn exclusively.

The long hike of 50,000 miles was undertaken as the result of advice of Army physicians that Mr. Baxter lead an outdoor life. Their first Arch Preserver Shoes were procured from the Army Commissary in Washington, D. C., their starting point, after they had tried out many other types of flexible shoes. Later, Mr. and Mrs. Baxter were made official representatives of the Selby factory.

Their hike has taken them to every State in the Union, to Cuba, Mexico and Canada. Mrs. Baxter walked 14,310 miles in one pair of Arch Preservers, having them resoled eight times.

We have several different styles of Arch Preserver Shoes for men and women. They are the last word in style as well as in comfort. They come in the following models for women:

MORE OWNERS OF AMERICA

THE American workman is surely becoming the American investor. We hear that very often, but every investigation brings it more forcefully to mind.

The Academy of Political Science in New York made "Popular Ownership of Property" a special subject at its meeting in March. It is shown there that the number of stockholders in the railroads of this country have increased from 647,000 in 1918 to 966,000 in 1925. In the gas companies there has been an increase of from 1,250,000 in 1918 to 2,611,000 this year.

In all the companies given in the survey, the number of individual stockholders as a whole has doubled. In telegraph and telephone the number of stockholders has increased three-fold. The new spirit is also appearing in the packing industry, which shows an increase of 35,000 shareholders, many of them from the employes.

This new development in American industry not only applies to the very large corporations such as railroads and public services, but also is reaching into the local industries—boots and shoes, clothing, typewriters, department stores.

Most of the stock sold to employes goes out on the installment plan, the period of payment generally ranging from 21 months to five years.

And the farmer, too, is becoming interested. The Department of Agriculture gives figures showing that in 1916 651,000 farmers were interested in cooperative buying or selling organizations. They estimate the number in 1925 at 2,500,000.

How has this affected the savings bank situation? Well, the money used for stock investments apparently has not hurt the bank deposits. There were 10,600,000 savings depositors in the United States on January 1, 1918. Seven years later—January, 1925—the number of depositors had increased to 38,800,000 and deposits had grown from 11 billion to 20 billion.

THE DIRIGIBLE VS. AIRPLANE

IN the trip of the Navy dirigible Los Angeles to Porto Rico the New York Times sees the blazing of the trail of commercial aviation. The Times visions an air line to the Antilles that will put American possessions in that quarter in touch and in tune with the nation. It looks even farther South to faster ties, all as a result of contact by the navigatable balloon. At least this is a delightful flight of the imagination but somehow commercial aviation seems to be going in another direction if it can be said to be going at all. Europe, where there is a beginning of air travel, the heavier-than-air machine is in general use. Of course Germany developed the dirigible years before the war and had regular lines in operation but outside of Germany the London-Paris line, the French lines and the proposed England to India line all adhere to the airplane. In trans-Atlantic flights both England and Ameirca are looking to the dirigible, but as yet there has been no development of commercial aviation in this particular.

The postal service, to give impetus to aerial traffic, is now offering an amount not in excess of four-fifths of the postage they handle to private concerns and all of such contractors use airplanes. Thus, in broadening the scope of the transcontinental air mail line and seeking to encourage aviation among private individuals and corporations that the government itself is withholding, America is fostering the development of the heavier-than-air machine as a mail, freight and passenger carrier. It is a moot question which is the better vehicle of travel—the balloon or the airplan Nevertheless, what development there has been made; has been made in one direction and the dirigible has been used in endless tests that have had amost no practical application.

However rapid may have been the advances of modern science and the mode of locomotion, the instability of the air has proven sufficient to retard aerial travel. The automobile is but little older than the airplane, but what a difference in the development of the two!

A FISHERMAN'S HOPES

I've been tinkering with my reel,
Shined up every bit of steel,
Looked my tackle over, too,
Added just a few things new;
And I'm ready now to go
Fishing in a week or so.

Wondering how they'll bite this year
As I'm sitting dreaming here;
Will it be my luck to get
Some old timer in my net
One that I can brag about
When at last I've played him out?

Here I'm sitting wondering
What's ahead of me this spring,
Am I going to know the thrill
Of a catch some day which will
Prove to all the angling clan
I'm a worth-while fisherman?

Years are good and years are bad,
There were times when luck I've had.
Times when I was grieved to say
Many a big one got away,
But with hope I'm sitting here
Waiting for another year.

So through life I think we go
Wondering what we're all to know,
Hoping ever there will rise
That great chance before our eyes
Which will prove to all who see
Just how great we've tried to be.

facts about Child-birth

IT has been proven conclusively that much of the suffering, pain and dread experienced during expectancy, as well as at child-birth is entirely unnecessary.

An eminent physician, Dr. J. H. Holmes, expert in this science, first produced the great remedy "Mother's Friend," which aids the muscles and tissues to expand more easily, during the constant readjustment, month after month, right up to the climax of child-birth.

"Mother's Friend" is applied externally. Three generations of expectant mothers have used it. "Pains disappeared in two days after using 'Mother's Friend,'" writes a user. "I owe my life to 'Mother's Friend,'" declared another. Use "Mother's Friend" as our mothers and grandmothers did, start today and experience the wonderful comfort it will give you.

Mrs. J. H. C.: "Please tell me how I can remove mildew from white linen."

Answer: Mildew is a mould. If it has not been allowed to remain in the material too long, its growth may be stopped by being covered with a paste made of equal parts of powdered chalk and soapsuds, wih a few drops of lemon juice added, and then placed in strong sunshine. Remoisten the mildewed part of the material with his paste as often as it dries, till the mould disappears. It may he necessary, however, to use the following method: Stir two teaspoonfuls of chloride of lime into a pint of cold water in an earthen dish, allow it to setle, then pour off the clear portion; add a few drops of vinegar, and immerse the mildewed portion of the linen in this for 30 minues; transfer the material to a solution of one ounce of hyposulphite of soda to a gallon of water to check the action of the lime, and rinse in clear water.

Youthful Matron: "I have some pine needles and wish to know whether it is necessary to put anything with them in order to make a good pine pillow? Also are two coverings necessary? And is there any conventional size for this kind of pillow?"

Answer: Do not put anything with the needles. I, personally, like two overings—one of white muslin and the upper one of China silk. But many women prefer just one covering of heavy cretonne or crash. No, there is no regulation size, but when I make one I generally make it oblong 12 inches long by seven inches wide.

C. H.: "Is there anythingt that can be put on a old brick chimney, in a room, which will keep the dampness from striking through the wall paper? I have tried several coats of paint, but that has no effect."

Answer: I know of nothing to recommend except a waterproof paint. But perhaps some Reader Friend will have something really helpful to suggest, and will write it on a postal and mail it to me in care of this paper?

KEEP LOOKING YOUNG

It's Easy—If You Know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, are gentle in their action yet always effective. They bring about that natural buoyancy which all should enjoy by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are known by their olive color. 15c and 30c.

MORNING IN A HOUSE

It has been a silent night outdoors. No. wind. Rather sharp and cold. The stars clean cut, like polished diamonds in the blue.

And so morning, turning over from its deep slumber in night, opens its eyes ito a gray day. Everything is soft and still and expectant. Now somebody stirs in the house. A shade is drawn. An hour more of sleep for that one!

But someone is moving in the hall. It is one of the boys whohas had on his mind the task of fixing the furnace. The noise from below awakens others. More stirs and rolling of shades.

Now the sun begins to poke its head into windows, climbing through lacé and silken draperies, and its rays begin to dance upon chairs, tables and floors.

There is chatter and laughter from the "kiddies'" room.

All becomes activity and movement. The breakfast table is being set. The smell of coffee permeates the house to inform the trady ones that they must hurry.

The gathering of the family is complete. There are smiles and jokes. Nobody settles the affairs of the world at breakfast time. School. The light and wholesome chatter of the community. Talk of this and that. Then the separation. To school, to business.

Somehow morning in a house has so much of thrill to it. Fresh from sleep and with a new day to deal with!

Declaring that the work of the church had become secondary to that of the college in modern civilization, the Rev. Charles Francis Potter, announced his resignation as pastor of the Westside Unitarian Church New York to become executive field secretary of Antioch College, Yellow Springs.

Dr. Charles P. Proudfit, president of the Xenia Ministerial Association and pastor of the Second U. P. Church voiced the sentiment of the majority of pastors in disagreeing with the Rev. Mr. Potter's statement.

"The church is the mother of the college in America," declared Dr. Proudfit. "Since the beginning of the settlement of America, the church has been a fostering agency of the school and college always. It would be as abnormal to reverse the relationship between the church and the college as it would be in the biological relation of mother and child," he continued.

"I believe that when education becomes perfected," the Rev. Mr. Potter wrote in a letter announcing his plans," the church will be unnecessary, but that is a long way off. The work of the church has become secondary for a while at least until we have established an education which really prepares for life."

Dr. Potters said that Antioch College, a co-educational institution, founded in 1853 and last year having 375 students and thirty-eight instructors, represented a "revolutionary method of education," which he planned to bring to the attention of the entire country as its field representative.

PHYSICIAN FINED $300 AND COSTS ON LIQUOR OFFENSE

Dr. C. R. McConnell, Washington Street, Jamestown, was fined $300 and costs on a charge of unlawfully prescribing intoxicating liquors by Judge S. C. Wright in Probate Court Tuesday when he entered a plea of guilty to the charge.

In a statement to the court before pleading guilty Dr. McConnell declared he believed he had committed no violation of the law and was pleading guilty entirely for physical and financial reasons.

Dr. McConnell made a detailed and lengthy statement to the court on his authority for issuing prescriptions and his prescription practice in Jamestown since 1923. He said that when he had about 1,600 half pint prescriptions available during a period of more than two years, he had only issued between 170 to 175.

In explaining the different instances of granting prescriptions, Dr. McConnell declared he had issued permits to patients and even to his nurse, his wife and his wife's mother. He said he has already surrendered his permits to issue prescriptions.

In summing up charges against Dr. McConnell contained in an affidavit filed by Prosecuting Attorney J. Carl Marshall, that the former had issued one half pint prescription to F. E. Gary, county detective, and later to A. E. Turner before the lawful ten days had expired, the prosecutor told the court that Gary and Turner were one and the same person and that Turner is a ficticious name. Dr. McConnell knew the man was Gary and in order to evade the law made out the prescription in the name of Turner because of the known fact that many families with the name of Turner reside in and near Jamestown, the prosecutor said.

Prosecutor Marshall said Gary inquired of Dr. McConnell where he could have the prescription filled and the latter told him the nearest place was in Dayton at Todd's drug store.

OBSCURE NUN WINS PRAISE WITH BRUSH BY GREAT EXPERTS

Baltimore, Md., May 5—Working quietly within the cloistered walls of the Dominican Convent at Catonsville ,a suburb, an obscure nun, a member of the Dominican community for the past 12 years, is producing works of art with her brush and canvas that astonish local critics.

Until the display of one of her paintings at a local gallery recently brought a flood of inquiries she was known simply as Sister Genevieve. It is revealed that before her entrance into religion she was Miss Mabel Estelle Sargent, of Washington, D. C., and that she is distantly related to the famous John Singer Sargent, whose paintings brought him undying fame both in this country and Europe before his death in London a short time ago.

EXPERTS PRAISE

The painting which astounded the critics is a copy of Ruben's 'Crucifixion." When placed on exhibition it won universal approval, one of the critics declaring that its author showed "all the potential gifts of a great painter."

The work of Sister Genevieve is considered all the more remarkable by the fact that she was first moved to try her skill with brush and paints not because of any great interest in art, but by inspiration.

During her early school life Sister Genevieve displayed little interest in painting, choosing rather to devote herself to music as her particular hobby in the field of art. About four years ago, however, after she had been a member of the Dominican community for eight years, she confided in the Mother Superior of the Catonsville Convent that she desired to paint.

LITTLE TRAINING

Although the order of which she is a member is very poor, the nun was given permission to secure the necessary materials and to follow her inspiration. Ever since she has devoted herself to painting whenever the rigorous duties of her religious life permit.

The only instruction Sister Genevieve ever received was by correspondence from Alon Bennett, director of the Maryland Institute of Art, who regards her work as of exceptional merit. He declared her paintings to be 'powerful and crude" rather than "finicky and nice," the qualities usually found in a beginner.

Efforts are being made by local art lovers to have Sister Genevieve given every opportunity to develop the great talent which it is believed, she possesses.

USE 'REMOTE CONTROL' IN BROADCASTING INVITATION

Link Telephone Lines With Radio To Send Out Telephone Official's Message to Public

The use of long-distance telephone lines in radio broadcasting has advanced the radio art to such a stage that it now is possible for a celebrity to sit in his own home and talk to hundreds of thousands of radio fans merely by having certain mechanical arrangements made in connection with his telephone, according to local telephone officials.

This system, known as "remote control," was used on the night of Friday, January 9, by C. P. Cooper, president of the Ohio Bell Telephone Company, when he broadcast an invitation to all Ohio telephone users and radio fans to visit the company's central offices during "Telephone Week" (January 12 to 17) to see for themselves how local and long-distance telephone calls are handled.

Two systems of broadcasting were used by the company in broadcasting this invitation.

On the evening of January 8, Randolph Eide, Ohio Bell general manager, talked directly from the Union Trust Company station in Cleveland. But a different method was used by President Cooper on the following night.

He sat in his office at 4300 Euclid avenue, Cleveland, and talked through a microphone. This instrument was attached to a long-distance telephone line connecting with the Erner-Hopkins Company broadcasting studio in Columbus. At that station Mr Cooper's invitation was "put on the air" for the radio fans.

From the standpoint of the communication art the event is another demonstration of the possibilities of combined wire and radio telephony as a means of bringing not only amusement, but also educational matters to the whole nation.

This system of "remote control" is the same as used when President Coolidge's addresses, given in Washington, have been transmitted over long-distance telephone lines to New York, Providence, Kansas City and other distant cities and broadcast from there.

CANCER IS CURABLE IF TREATED SOON, SURGEON ASSERTS

Paris May 5— "Cancer is curable," declares Dr. Roger Leroux, noted dermatologist of the Paul Brosse Hospital in Paris, "provided two conditions are scrupulously fulfilled.

"The first condition is that the cure be commenced in time. No matter what the cause, 'cancer' is in its beginning, a local disease and can be treated successfully while the infection remains localized.

"Unfortunately, many people neglect a slight sore, or an insignificant bruise, and then when it is too late, they hasten to their doctor, whose aid at the eleventh hour is to frequently unavailing.

"From the time when the cancer can be eradicated to the moment when it becomes too late for surgical relief, often only a month elapses and sometimes even less.

"Therefore the extraordinary growth of the disease should counsel immediate action.

"The second condition is an honest treatment. Countless are the remedies that claim their efficacy against cancer, but I have found by long experience and research that there are but two treatments that are really worth while radium and X-rays.

"Let me again caution those who have heeded the false promises of patent medicines and cure-alls They are not always harmful, but they never accomplish what they claim, and their use is a snare and a delusion.

"Between the radium and the X-ray methods there is really very little to choose. It is all a matter of the surgeon's ability. Some doctors have accomplished phenomenal results with radium, but not at all with X-ray. Of late some experiments, not yet conclusive, have been made with serums and chemicals.

"The important thing to be remembered is that cancer in its beginning will rapidly respond to treatment and at that stage can be successfully eradicated. However, that phase passes very quickly, and hence the necessity of immediate surgical intervention before it is ttoo late."

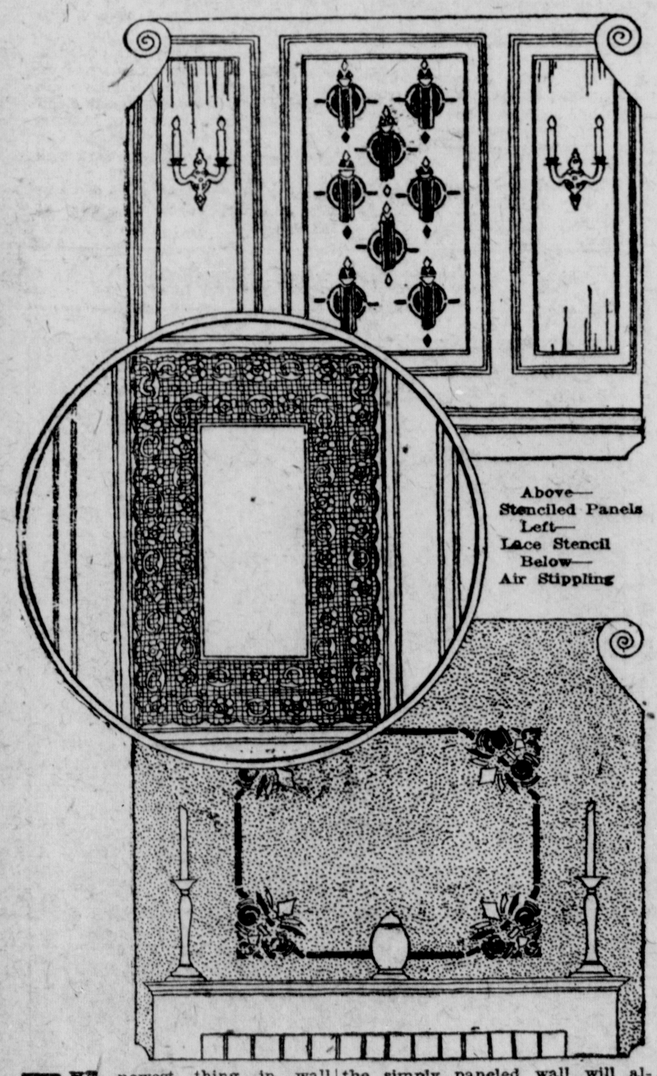
OPPOSITION FILED TO PHONE RATES

Columbus, O., May 5—Opposition to the proposed rate increase sought by the Ohio Bell Telephone interests was filed with the state utilities commission today by George Barrett, Bellaire, Belmont County, secretary of the Belmont Trades Assembly, representing workers in eastern Ohio.

"We think it is high time the corporations be stopped in their price jumping for we maintain that if we are to get anywhere as far as earning power is concerned, increases in the cost of living must stop, a resolution adopted by the assembly said.

The resolution declared employes of the company had not been granted wage increases, and citing declarations of the company that the increases were needed to meet growing demands for service, asserted the company should have diverted part of the money used heretofore to pay nine per cent dividends to capital extensions.

New Fashions For Walls



Above—
Left—
Air Stippling

THE newest thing in wall decoration is the use of lace or net stencils. By this method of painting, an all-over design may be secured that is sanitary, washable and durable. After the wall has been brought up to surface, the lace curtain stencil, made by stretching the piece of fabric on a frame and coating it with shellac, is placed against the wall and the design transferred by means of paint of the desired color. The possibilities this new "tool" opens to the decorator are many indeed.

Color misting, air stippling and spray spatter work are also new and attractive. While the painted wall done in a single color and the simply paneled wall will always remain standard, there are walls in almost every home that would radiate more cheer were they refinished by one of these methods, which are accomplished by mechanical equipment operated with a low air pressure.

Just as new but a little better known is the two-toned method. There are two ways of two-toning; the first is removing portions of a coat of fresh paint by rolling a piece of crumpled paper, a wad of cloth or a sponge down the wall allowing a dry coat of paint of a different color to show through; the second is by tapping a dry painted wall with a sponge dipped in paint of another color.

That little rug that caught your fancy in a down town shop window this afternoon—did you stop to consider the hardships and dangers involved in making it possible for you to display it in your parlor?

Some of the hazards and adventures connected n the pursuit of the rug trade have been recounted by C. A. Biglow, a Chicago business man who has just returned to the United States after an eighteen months' trip to the most out-of-way corners of the Orient. During this period, he covered 40,000 miles on camel's back, astride a donkey or in an automobile.

It's more exciting and adventurous than a dime novel, this business of scouting for rare rugs, says Biglow In India, where nomads turn from the driving of their flocks to banditry at night, he was in constant peril from the snipers guns. Even the soldiers are not safe there from the bandits. The soldiers have their guns handcuffed to them but when taking a respite from their vigil, the bandits creep up on them and steal the guns by deftly removing the handcuffs. In crossing the Sind desert Biglow was in constant danger, not only of bandits bullets but the stings of scorpions and tarantulas as well. For weeks at a time, during his travels among the Hindus, he went without water quenching his thirst only by the juice of fruits.

It was in Persia that Biglow had to comply with the peculiar custom of the people to keep in their good grace. At Ghourveh he was invited to take luncheon with Amir Afghan, r relative of the Shah and ruler of forty villages. Seated on the floor, with legs crossed in true Pursian fashion, he ate a fifty course luncheon with his fingers. On another occasion the Sardar Sephah, premier of Persia, took tea with Biglow in his tent outside of Sultanbad. To comply with the customs of the people, Biglow slaughtered a dozen lambs upon the arrival of the distinguished guest and scattered the blood over the ground. Before entering the tent the Sardar Sephah touched the tip of his boot in the blood to indicate that he was bringing with him peace and happiness.

In India, rug weaving is done by men and boys, while in Persia the rug makers are all women and girls principally the child wives of the master of the house, according to Mr. Biglow. While working on a big rug which it often taken four women ten months to finish, these wives may be seen with a cord attached to a cradle whch they pull when the infant becomes restless.

"Good Citizenship Begins At Home" Says Hoover In Better Homes Plea As Demonstration Week Approaches

As is the home, so are the community and the nation. To give every American family the opportunity to make the most of its home in every way, Better Homes in America was formed and now is working throughout the nation.

Herbert Hoover, Secretary of Commerce, who is president of Better Homes in America, is convinced that the home is of the most vital importance to the future of America. He says: "The next generation will be called on to show public spirited citizenship to an increasing degree if it is to find a solution to the problems that await it. Will it move toward clean government, healthy development of our economic and social system, and fair dealing and good will between nations? Or will it drift towards corruption in government, bitter class conflicts, and the international hatreds and jealousies that culminate in war? * * * If good citizenship in the broadest sense of the term is to be the deciding factor, and I believe that it will be, we must make it as vital a matter as earning our daily bread.

"This is a new day in America," says Mrs. Meloney. "A day of better homes. In every state and every county of this country there are thousands of women hard at work for Better Homes in America.

"There are 18,000,000 homes in America—the largest single industry in the world—and it is worth the thought of the best minds in the land to increase its efficiency, its satisfaction, and therefore its sacred product."

Mrs. A. H. Reeve, president of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers, and a member of the Advisory Council of Better Homes in America, is one of the hardest workers toward the extension of the "better homes" movement so that every American family may receive the benefits of this purely educational and vitally important work. The 12,000 local Parent-Teachers' Associations throughout the United States are co-operating whole-heartedly with the movement, which culminates this year in Better Homes Week—May 11th to 17th inclusive.

MATRIMONY COURSE IN COLLEGE SPHERE

Dean Phillip C. Nash, of the Antioch College faculty, intimated to more than 100 members of the Monday Noonday Club at a luncheon held at the Dayton Y. M. C. A. Monday that a college course in matrimony is entirely within the sphere of the policy of practical service of Antioch College.

Dean Nash gave statistics which he said sustained a belief that marriages of men and women who met in college are more permanent than any other group yet found. He attributed this to the development of mutual interest by classroom contact which tends to create an understanding and greater confidence.

Dean Nash expressed his belief that a matrimonial course would be entirely practical and in keeping with the primary objective of the college to develop men in all aspects of life although he did not promise that such a course would ever be instituted at Antioch.

THINK BURGLARIES CLEARED BY ARRST OF SPRINGFIELD MAN

Frederick Sprinkle, 32, Springfield, said to be the fifth and last member of a gang that committed a series of burglaries in the county recently, was arrested in Springfield Saturday after being caught in the act of robbing a store there.

Sheriff Morris Sharp and O. F. Reeves, of the Reeves and Bryant clothing store, Jamestown, which was robbed of a large quantity of merchandise several weeks ago, went to Springfield Monday and the latter identified a small quantity of men's clothing taken from Sprinkle as part of loot stolen from his store.

Sprinkle will be prosecuted in Clark County on a charge of burglary, it is said, but authorities were unable to say if a similar charge would be placed against him in Greene County and the case further prosecuted here.

Herschel White and Forest Sibole, both of Springfield, were indicted Monday by the Grand Jury on four joint charges of burglary in connection with four burglaries in the county. Harry Franz, Springfield, an alleged fourth member of the gang was released recently to Clark County for prosecution.

In a recent confession to Sheriff Morris Sharp, White admitted complicity in five robberies in the county, which implicated Sibole and Franz and a third man, believed now to be Sprinkle.

Why Your Blood Needs Sulphur in Spring

Famous Old Dutch Tonic Now in Tasteless Capsules

Everybody knows that in Spring the blood is usually loaded with impurities, and needs a good Spring tonic to cleanse it, and make it rich and red again.

For this purpose nothing is better than Sulphur—and now, you can take this great blood purifier without any messy molasses or tart, biting taste. For that famous old Dutch Sulphur compound—now known as Red Mill Haarlem Oil—is being put up in easy-to-take, tasteless capsules.

It not only quickly purifies the blood but besides tones up and invigorates the liver, kidneys and other internal organs. So the entire system is cleansed, and tired feeling, weakness, loss of appetite, etc., vanish like magic, and you feel like a brand new person. Red Mill Haarlem Oil is sold here by—

Stubborn Skin Irritations Healed With Cranberries

The mild acid juice found in Cranberries seems to kill the tiny skin parasite which is the direct cause of Eczema and most skin irritations. With the cause removed, the healing takes place quickly. Cranolene Healing Cream, used externally, is based on this discovery. In this cream the cranberry juices have been combined with soothing, cooling, healing oils. Instantly stops the itching and speedily restores the skin to natural health and color. Cranolene sold by druggists 35c, $1 and $2.50 or sent postpaid on receipt of price. Address: Cranolene, Girard, Kansas.

FOR INACTIVE KIDNEYS

When the kidneys are in need of a good flushing take FOLEY PILLS, a diuretic stimulant for the kidneys. They promptly and effectively flush the kidneys, increase their activity and bring pleasant relief. Landon Taylor, Dorchester, Iowa, writes: "I can truthfully say that FOLEY PILLS are the best I ever used. I had lots of trouble with my kidneys and liver; I couldn't lift anything my ack was so weak. Every morning I was dizzy, could hardly walk, but now I feel fine." Sold everywhere. adv

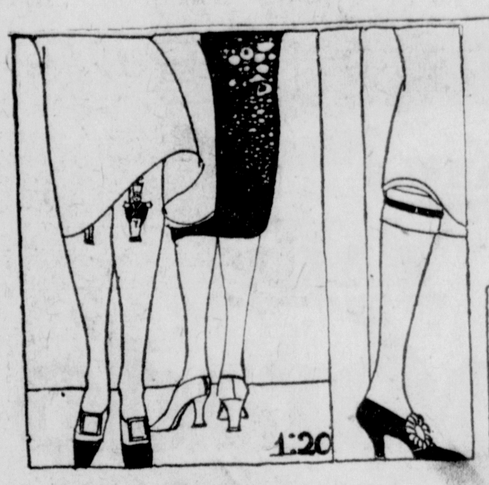
The Goofer is watchfully waiting—for Mitzi. Such a bore—but, of course, she would be late. Hello, what's this! Does the young woman know that she is showing a sort of—of decoration—on her stocking very near the knee? Does she mean for everyone to see it or doesn't she, wonders the Goofer.

The Goofer cannot help but observe (due to the short skirts, of course) that this young lady is not along in the matter of stocking decorations. There are others. For instance, the pair of garters that seem to be woven into the stockings with a painted flower—and a motif from a deck of cards. Does the Goofer know he has been waiting ten minutes?—He doesn't!

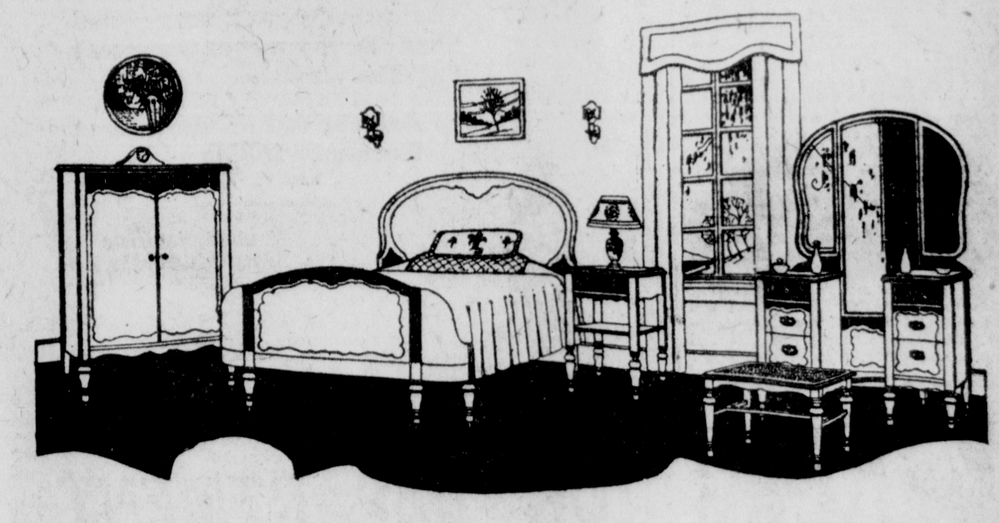


Now that the Goofer has started on his research there is nothing to do but continue. In another ten minutes he finds that the wooden soldier motif from the Chauve Souris embroidered in colors is very alluring on hose. Then there is a new style of roll-tops—striped cuff hosiery.

Mitzi was going to apologize for keeping him waiting for a half hour. The Goofer assures her it seemed like no time at all . . . he has found so many interesting things to look at. Mitzi is suspicious. It's the first time she ever caught the Goofer looking in another direction. Perhaps, Mitzi will be more prompt next time!

A Charming Bed Room Suit

Decorated With Rosewood Overlays Over Genuine Walnut Figured Veneers



This handsome suite is an adaptation of the Tudor Period design. The inherent beauty of the genuine walnut and rosewood veneers used on its handsome surfaces is protected by the nationally famous Duco finish—the most beautiful and enduring finish ever applied to furniture. The suite is priced at $126.00 and can be seen at The Adair Furniture Store.

MILITARY CHIEF IS NEW JAPANESE MAN OF DESTINY IS SAID

Tokyo, May 5.—A new "man of destiny" has risen above the political horizon in Japan and several heads that wear the crown of statecraft are beginning to lie uneasy.

This new disturber of political placidity is General Baron Giichi Tanaka, a soldier of distinction who has sheathed his sword and donned the mantle of the statesman. He has accepted the leadership, or presidency, of the Seiyukai party, the second largest political organization in Japan, succeeding Korekiyo Takahashi, a former Premier.

An Imperial edict was necessary before General Tanaka could step from the army into politics. Japanese military law forbids soldiers engaging in politics. By special command of the Prince Regent, General Tanaka was placed upon the retired list, although he still has several years to go before reaching the retirement age.

MAY BE PREMIER

The question that everyone is asking since General Tanaka entered the political arena is how he will use the power that adheres to his position as Seiyukai chieftain. Then general expectation is that he will use it to make himself Prime Minister of Japan.

The Seiyukai at present is a member of the coalition of three parties which forms the Japanese Government headed by Premier Kato. It holds second place in the coalition, the Kenseikai, Premier Kato's party, being the dominant factor. It is believed that General Tanaka will not long be content to remain in a subordinate position.

Almost before General Tanaka had announced his acceptance of the Seiyukai leadership, a series of conferences began between political chieftains which gave rise to rumors that the astute General was planning a union of the Seiyuhonto and the Kakushin Club, minority parties, with the Seiyukai. Should this transpire General aTnaka would find himself at the head of the strongest party in the State, holding a majority of the seats in the Diet. Thus fortified, he could turn the Kato Cabinet out almost at will and probably as the head of the majority party, promote himself into the Premiership.

GAVE PLEDGE

For the present, however, General Tanaka is bound by a pledge given by Takahashi, his predecessor, to support the coalition until some issue arises upon which he can legitimately assume an opposng position.

Political observers predict that this issue will arise in July when the Government begins to draft its financial budget for 1926-27. Several pet schemes of the Seiyukai were rejected when the budget of 1925-26 was drafted and a divergence of opinion is certain to arise over items in the forthcoming budget. It is not improbable that General Tanaka may seize this opportunity to break away from the calition and seek a test of strength with the Kenseikai.

General Tanaka's only previous experience in governmental affairs was in 1922 when he was Minister of War in the Cabinet of Premier Hara. His teure of this office was marked by the famous Nikolaievsk affair when he sent a military expedition to Siberia in retaliation for the alleged massacre of Japanese by Russians at Nikolaievsk. The sending of this expedition was widely criticised at the time.

General Tanaka was born in 1863, being 62 years old, and has held many important commands in the Japanese army. He was created a baron in 1920 in recognition of services to the government during the European war.

AILMENTS OF YOUNG GIRLS

Relieved by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound School Teacher's Experience

Evanston, Wyoming.—"A few years ago I had troubles every month such as girls often have, and would suffer awfully every time. I was teaching school and it made it hard for me as I had to go to bed for two or three days. One day my mother suggested that I take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which I did, and it did wonders for me. In the course of a year I married and after my first baby was born I got up too soon and it caused a displacement. This troubled me so that I could hardly walk or do my housework. I knew what the Vegetable Compound did for me before so I took it again. It strengthened me and now I have five little kiddies. The eldest is six, the baby is five months old and I have twin boys three years old and a boy of five years. I do all my own housework, washing and ironing, and I never felt better in my life. I owe my health to your wonderful medicine and I recommend it to all my friends."—Mrs. VERBENA CARPENTER, 127 2nd Avenue, Evanston, Wyoming.

LADIES' AID SOCIETY OF FIRST M. E. CHURCH TO PUT IN FLOORING

Authority was given the Ladies Aid Society of the First M. E. Church in its arrangements to place a new flooring in the church auditorium, at the meeting of the official board Monday night. The plan has been contemplated for some time, and the members have the money raised to finance the work, which will probably be done during the pastor's summer vacation.

The following program of Bishop T. S. Henderson, outlined for the entire Cincinnati Area, was adopted for the month of May: the pastor to observe the risen life of Christ from Easter to Pentecost; the evangel of stewardship to be presented; minute men to be appointed to speak each Sunday upon World Service.

Charles A. Bone, E. F. Canby, George McKee and Harvey Elam were appointed "minute men." May 17 is to be observed as Life Service Sunday; May 24 as Ascension Sunday and May 31 as Pentecost Sunday. An every-member canvass for pledges for World Service for the coming year, will culminate Pentecost Sunday. The month's program will close with an evening of special music by the choir, May 31.

The pastor, the Rev. F. W. Stanton, was authorized to carry out the above program. Reports showed the church to be in a prosperous condition.

PROSECUTOR SPEAKS ON ENFORCEMENT

Prosecuting Attorney J. Carl Marshall delivered a brief talk after Sunday School at the Reformed Presbyterian Church of Cedarville Sunday on "Law Enforcement" in which he characterized the present period as a test of law enforcement in the country.

Prosecutor Marshall told his hearers that this was the testing time in the country of whether the law is being adequately enforced and expressed his belief that the United States has never yet failed in the crisis. Law enforcement is a paramount question today, he said.

"I believe that the law would be better enforced if officials were placed in responsible positions that sincerely believed in the law which they are charged to enforce," declared the prosecuting attorney.

PASTEURIZER EXPLODES

Defiance, May 5—Leaking steam caused the $500 pasteurizer at the creamery of the Gray and White Company here to explode with such force that the cap to the tank was hurled forty feet across he room where it smashed a hole in the wall. The twenty-two pound cover was fastened down with three [illegible] screws which broke. The past[illegible] was a complete wreck.

Junior Cross Word Puzzle

HOW TO SOLVE PUZZLE

The words start in the numbered squares and run either across or down. Only one letter is placed in each white square. If the proper words are found each combination of letters in the white squares will form words. The key to the puzzle—the first word—is given in the drawing. Below are keys to the other words.

RUNNING ACROSS

Word 1. It's in the pitcher.
Word 3. A greating.
Word 7. A large constellation in the heavens. Also a Greek god.
Word 8. A narrow flat surface or shelf.
Word 9. One who rules.

RUNNING DOWN

Word 1. One who attends school.
Word 4. Before.
Word 5. That which covers the opening of a box or chest.

U. S. Bureau Chief and Civic Leader Urge Better Homes For Sake of Growing Boys and Girls

The home in its relation to the child, as the place where the character of the future citizens of the republic is most influenced and molded, is one of the major concerns of Better Homes in America. The National Congress of Parents and Teachers with its 12,000 local Parent-Teachers' Association, for instance, is one of the great national organizations co-operating fully with Better Homes in America.

Miss Grace Abbott, chief of the Children's Bureau of the United States Department of Labor, who is a member of the Advisory Council of Better Homes in America, has expressed this phase of the educational work of that organization in the following terms:

"The home is the child's world during the most important habit-forming period of his life. 'Better homes' could be provided for the vast majority of American children during this year of our Lord 1925 with little real sacrifice. Better Homes Week could serve no more useful purpose than as a rededication of the home to the object for which it really exists and stimulating community co-operation in the elimination of everything that defeats its purpose."

J. Horace McFarland, president of the American Civic Association, also a member of the Better Homes in America Advisory Council, speaking of the movement, says:

"The work that has been done and is being done by Better Homes in America cannot be comprehended in the accomplishments of one year. The movement as it has proceeded is the best answer to the old, un-Christian, unsocial and uncitizenshiplike fallacy which refers the housing of our people to the law of supply and demand.

"The Better Homes movement, even if construed by this fallacious old law, improves the demand, but far more important than that it sets up ideals, provides principles and promotes accomplishments which go far toward securing the stability of our government by promoting contented citizenship, only possible when homes are suitable, sightly and satisfactory."

Better Homes Week this year is from May 11th to 17th, inclusive. Dr. James Ford, executive director of this organization reports from its National Headquarters at Washington that more than fifteen hundred communities have organized campaigns in co-operation with Better Homes in America this year in order to do what they can to raise the standards of local housing and of home life.

IRISH FARMERS ARE OPPOSED TO TARIFF

Dublin, May 5—The Irish Farmers Union wants the tariff policy of the Irish Free State either abandoned or applied to the agricultural industry.

The high cost of living is being maintained by the tariff policy, the union maintains.

The Farmers' Union has passed the following resolution:

"We protest against what is apparently the settled policy of the Government in imposing protective tariffs in favor of certain industries outside of agriculture.

"The advantages of any such policy are more than counter-balanced by the resultant increase in the cost of living, which reacts mainly against the national industry—agriculture.

"We demand that, if the Government persists in its protectionist policy, this policy be then applied to safe guard the agricultural industry also.

Deputy Gorey, Leader of the Farmer's Party in the Dail, declares that the imposition of tariffs is "protection for inefficiency and going slow." "It does not build up the country," he said, "but maintains inefficiency, small output and dishonesty."

BURGLARS OBTAIN CASH AT FAIRFIELD

Sneak thieves broke into the residence of John Miller, in Fairfield, about 8 o'clock. Monday night. They completed their work in about fifteen minutes time, taking only money.

Oscar Richman, who with his wife, rooms at the Miller home, was relieved of $40 and a bank book but the thieves over looked about $75 of Mr. Miller's.

It is thought the thieves were frightened away by Mr. Miller returning from church. Marchal W. A. Schnider, Osborn, was called but has obtained no clue.

MONEY AT WORK

Brief but Important Lessons in Finance, Markets, Stocks, Bonds and Investments

If you depend on luck to build your future income, remember, although there is plenty of luck in finance, lost of it is bad luck.

You may be able to engage in a piece of speculation and through sheer luck make money. Some large sums have been made in this way, but probably one thousand times as many large sums have been lost through "luck." At best, good luck is very much more uncertaiin than bad.

There is nothing uncertain about a steady accumulation of funds through regular deposits and investments Funds built up in this way stand ready to produce regular incomes for your benefit—and there is nothing lucky about that income.

If you really wish to have surplus money depend upon the "steam roller" method rather than the "will o' the wisp" luck.

DEPARTMENT ADOPTS ORPHANS OF HEROES

Paris May 5— The department of the Seine, through the General Council, has decided to adopt the children of all employes of the Civil Government who lose their lives in the performance of their duties.

A policeman of the Department of the Seine was recently shot by bandits and his widow was left with four children to support. This prompted a special meeting of the Council, which decided upon the adoption of the orphans. In the future the Government will assure thes upport and education of all children who may become orphans through their father's faithful service.

OPENING OF XENIA'S

Xenia is City of Homes and Homes Make the City After All, Contractors Point Out; You Must Visit "Dream Home"

"The character of a people," says Herbert Hoover, "is largely affected by the homes in which they dwell. The profoundest influences of early childhood are those of the family circle. The warmest memories of later years center in the home. It is the environment of most of life's deepest experiences of human life. The house should always be a fitting symbol of the ideals and aspirations of the family which it shelters.

"The highest civilizations have been built, not by nomadic peoples, but by nations in which the mass of the population is of home-owners and home-lovers. Countless American families who in the past struck out into the wilderness, breaking their old associations, have shown us the value of setting out in a practical way to make our visions come true."

Thus does Mr. Hoover, president of the "Better Homes in America" movement, explain his idea for nation-wide cooperation and participation in the campaign for better and more livable homes.

There has been more private construction, that of homes and other personal structures, during the last two years in Xenia, than during any previous like period in the history of the city, according to Frank McCurran, of McCurran Brothers, Xenia contractors.

Building conditions are drifting toward a pre-war status, according to Mr. McCurran and he voices the optimistic sentiment of other builders. People are realizing the value of building as an investment, and in these times, when every dollar must make its return, building has been on the increase in Xenia, which is typical of every city in the country.

The cost of labor and material for building is on an average with the past two years, Mr. McCurran said. Xenia and Greene County should appreciate the large addition of public buildings in this locality, recently, he said, a number of business and public structures being completed.

It is the purpose of the "Better Homes in America" organization to encourage home ownership and to advise with the earnest energetic man of small income regarding ways and means.

There is no word in our language that holds so much meaning as home, lest it be mother. And the two are closely aligned, so tightly bound to all that the heart of a boy or girl holds dear, as to be synonymous.

The movement for better homes and for home ownership has swept the country, and the interest of Xenians in the "Dream Home" has reflected the co-operation of Americans the country over in domestic interests.

Through a visit to the "Dream Home" you will learn those slight touches which translate home into a better home. You will view on display pieces of furniture that you will admire and cherish through the long years of friendly association.

The completion and opening of the "Dream Home" has united Xenia merchants and builders who appear in this issue in one big organization to help make your home into a better home. Each and every one will gladly give you his counsel and experience.

A city is often measured by the size and scope of its business district, and the important factor of its homes neglected. Visitors to Xenia are immediately attracted by the residence districts of the city and the number of pretty homes that are situated on every street.

Xenia's homes are results of the investment of its citizens and the experience and fine workmanship of its contractors.

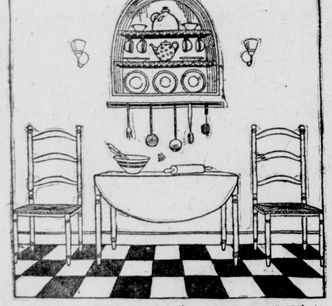
Xenia's "Dream Home" which has just been completed by Mr. Frank Johnson will be thrown open to the public Thursday and hundreds are invited for the privilege of inspecting the "Dream Home"t wit its prfect modern equipment and its complete and artistic furnishings. Everything is in place, from the coal in the basement to the clock ticking on the mantel piece and the flowers on the dining room table. Electrical appliances of all kinds are just ready for the touch of the hand of the "Dream Home's" yet unknown mistress—a Hudson coach stands in the garage, and no detail within or without the house has been overlooked.

Painted Walls and Furniture



A "treadmill of dreary routine" is the name some women apply to their kitchen work, for beauty, that all important item which oils the mechanism, is frequently neglected.

The free use of paint solves the the question of kitchen beauty. Moreover, a kitchen in which all wood and plaster surfaces are painted is easy to keep clean, sanitary and durable.

Woodwork and furniture enameled, outlined and stenciled to match will give the kitchen that desirable complete look. Almost any kitchen furniture, if it be plain or quaint in design, can be made beautiful if this simple idea is followed. A painted and varnished floor, or floor covering, needs no scrubbing. Wiping with a damp cloth leaves it absolutely clean.

Of the number of people that have visited the "Dream Home" on North Galloway since its recent completion, and who will, preceding the opening, Thursday, May 7, all have realized how lacking in inviting atmosphere is the house, a mere skeleton of a home," without the comfortable fittings and furnishings.

Realizing the importance of the right selection of furniture with every home lover and the big part furniture plays in bringing out every attractive detail, the Adair Furniture Store, North Detroit Street, furnished the "Dream Home" Tuesday, every one of the rooms being completely outfitted.

Now the "Dream Home" has every necessary that goes to make a real home, from the washing machine in the basement to an automobile in the garage.

From the large stock at the Adair Furniture Store, the handsomest pieces of furniture were chosen to outfit the "Dream Home." Visitors at the newly completed structure, will be received in the living room, which will be fitted with a davenport, rug, chair, spinet desk, davenport table, floor lamp, bridge lamp, console table, and mirror.

In the dining room, which is situated in the room adjoining the living room, there will be a buffet, six chairs table, tea wagon and rug.

In the homey kitchen, which attracts the eye of the domestic woman, there will be a white porcelain range, kitchen stool and chair. A breakfast room adjoins the kitchen, and in here will be a breakfast set in red and gilt.

Three bedrooms are on the second floor and in the smallest of these will be a day bed, writing desk, straight chair and rocker.

Three-piece bedroom suites will be placed in the two larger bedrooms.

The Adair Store also furnished the rugs and blinds for the entire house.

The importance of good taste in the selection of wall paper for the dream home was satisfied at the W. C. W. Company, East Main Street, where the wall fittings for the entire house were purchased.

The walls of each of the rooms have been papered with subtle designs, delicate color etchings and patterns being selected in the right taste. In the dainty little breakfast room, a vivid coloring was used in the paper, to bring out the attractiveness of this nook.

The electrical fixtures in the "Dream Home" were installed by the Hornick Electric Company, East Main Street. A silver chandelier was hung in the living room, with a candle effect being brought out in the electric tapers. Adequate but soft lighting characterizes the other fixtures.

The plans of F. L. Johnson for a real "Dream Home" have been realized with the completion of the attractive residence. Mr. Johnson's plans were carried out with the assistance of several Xenia business houses.

The construction of the house was in charge of A. J. Wyatt, Xenia contractor. After Mr. Wyatt's work was completed, Humphrey Brothers, New Jasper, painted the structure, using a pure white body with green shutters and other trimmings.

The material for the house construction was purchased from The Greene County Lumber Company, this city, insuring best quality.

The plumbing fixtures were installed by John A. North, who conducts one of the oldest plumbing houses in Greene County. Sand and gravel purchased during the work on the house were purchased from Ralph Horney, and taken from the Horney pit, West Second Street.

The coal bin in the basement of the "Dream Home" was filled with the choicest mining of The Stout Coal Company, Xenia firm. Another important basement fixture, the furnace, was installed by Frank Scott, who contracted for the furnace and sheet metal work.

The charm of music in a "Dream Home" will be furnished by the Sutton Music Store, East Main Street, which installed a piano in the living room.

If any of the hundreds of visitors that are expected to be conducted through the "Dream Home" during the next few days, happen to meet with injury, they will be covered with liability insurance by the Ray Cox agency, South Detroit Street. Mr. Cox has also covered the household goods with insurance against damage.

If a family took up its abode in the "Dream Home" Thursday, they would be ready for any emergency, even to a well stocked pantry, a large supply of groceries, being placed in the kitchen by the Dunkel Grocery Company.

Those interested in the "Dream Home" have made every effort to supply every need of a home and can think of no item that has been neglected. Xenians are urged to visit the ideal home and realize its attractiveness.

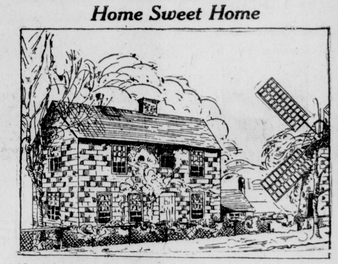
Home Sweet Home



ONE Christmas Eve a long time ago, a weary exile found himself in London, amid its cheerless fogs and alien firesides. During the night, while he suffered all the pangs of homesickness, the agony of his heart leaped into verse and he poured it all out to the world in the tenderest song ever written. The song was "Home, Sweet Home," and the man was John Howard Payne, a wandering American playwright and actor.

The original of the song, the "Home, Sweet Home," which Payne had in mind, and which he hungered so for on that lonely Christmas Eve nearly a hundred years ago, was his boyhood home at East Hampton, Long Island.

DRINKABLE ALCOHOL BEING SHIPPED TO U. S. FROM GERMANY?

Washington, May 5 — Federal authorities may soon have a new prohibition problem on their hands as the result of a veritable flood of German alcohol that is flowing into the United States, it was learned today.

Tests are now being conducted in government laboratories to determine whether this liquid, described as methyhol alcohol and manufactured by a cheap process that costs but slightly over 20 cents a gallon, is drinkable. More than sixty thousand gallons came in last month.

Not only the prohibition authorities are interested, but the American wood alcohol manufacturers as well, for the German product, is being utilized by American manufacturers to such an extent that the American makers have professed fears of being driven out of business. The German product is made at about one third the cost of American wood alcohol.

Prior to this year, American manufacturers were exporting considerable wood alcohol to Germany, but since the discovery of the new process, the tide has turned and Germany is now exporting a huge volume.

Request has been made to the treasury for an anti-dumping order to restrict the portion.

Prohibition authorities heretofore have considered the German product to be poisonous and unfit for human consumption. The astounding growth of imports in recent months, however, have raised in their minds the question of whether this German concoction is not readily convertible into beverage alcohol. The tests now being made will decide this point.

"There is some doubt as to whether it is poisonous," said Wayne B. Wheeler, head of Anti-Saloon league. "We are going to find out. However, we are not worried."

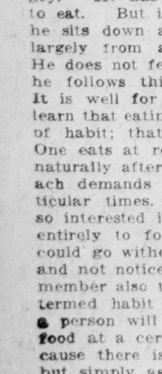
MOTORS REPLACE DUTCH WINDMILLS

The Hague, May 5—Holland's chief characteristic—the windmill—is threatened by electricity.

Little by little windmills have been giving way to electric motors, whch are now used not only for grinding corn, but also for pumping and fighting the continual battle against inrushing water.

So rapidly have windmills disappeared that it has now become a public issue. A society, "Holland Mills" has been formd to wage a war for the retention of the windmill, charging that Holland will become a dull and dreary sight to the traveler when all of the windmills are gone.

Professor Van Eysinga argues thtat in times of international disturbance Holland's electrical supply may be cut off, and therefore it is the duty of the Government to maintain the windmill as a measure of political safety.



BERNARR MACFADDEN

Health Hints by the Father of Physical Culture

The greatest difficulty experienced by those who are not familiar with fasting methods is to strengthen the will to the extent that it is essential to the maintenance of a fast. One may say, after a hearty meal in the evening, that he will fast all the next day; he has eaten too much; he has a feeling of discomfort because of the hearty meal. He arises the next morning and recalls his determination to fast during the day. Breakfast time is nearly at hand. His determination begins to waver, and finally he concludes that he will try the fast at some other time. A policy of this kind will, of course, make fasting more difficult. Do not, however, give up after your first failure, but continue with your determination to fast and it will not be long before you will develop the strength of will essential. Times often appear when one is really not hungry. He has no especial desire to eat. But it is meal time and he sits down and takes the food largely from a matter of habit. He does not feel just right unless he follows this particular habit. It is well for all my readers to learn that eating is largly a matter of habit; that is regular eating. One eats at regular times, and naturally after a while the stomach demands food at those particular times. If one could be so interested in his occupation as entirely to forget meal time, he could go without his regular meal and not notice it. You must remember also that there is what is termed habit appetite. That is, a person will have the desire for food at a certain time, not because there is actual need for it, but simply as a matter of habit. The proof of this statement is found in the disappearance of appetite in many persons if they pass by meal-time without eating. You have often heard a man say, for instance, if he has been compelled to miss his regular meal, that his appetite has disappeared. On occasions the wife will neglect to get the meal on time. The husband comes home then he proceeds to berate his spouse because of her neglect, maintaining that he had lost his appetite through waiting so long. An appetite lost in this manner is better lost, because it was not real hunger in the beginning; it was simply habit appetite

WALL STREET CLERK BECOMES LEADING PAINTER IN PARIS

Paris May 5 —The delightful Gallery Simonson has never attracted more distinguished visitors to its rooms in the little Rue Caumartin than were the visitors of the last few weeks during the exhibition of the paintings of the American artist George Waller Parker, who is well known to the French in Paris.

On the opening day Monsier Frantz Charlet, the celebrated Belgian artist said that he believed Mr. Parker's would be one of the most successful expositions of the season. Within an hour after the opening two acnvases were marked "Sold" — "Perspective" and "Les Peupliers Jumeaux."

Mr. Parker comes from the small town of Gouverneur, up in New York state, but has spent much of his time in the Adirondacks and in New York City itself.

BROWN GRADUATE

He was graduated from Brown university and was well established inn a broker's firm when he decided he wanted to study art. He went to the country, accepting ten dollars a week as a hotel clerk, studying and painting during his off hours. It was not long before his talent began to appear.

At the Lake Placid Club, in the Adirondacks, he studied landscape problems and later taught in the Montemare School, taking the pupils to Florida for six months and painting in the mountains the remainder of the year.

After attending the Art Students' League in New York, the artist came to Julian's Academy, in Paris. Then the war came on, and commercial art in the advertising line was about all he had time for between battles. When it was over he came back to fill two commissions—a decorative frieze for the Montemare school and decorations for the home of Mrs. Frank Warren, on Park Avenue, New York City. Paris has been his home ever since but he is on the "go" much of the time in search of material.

PAINTS SPAIN

Many of his pictures are the artistic results of his excursions into Spain and Northern Africa. In the latter he penetrated as far as the fascinating oasis of Touggourt, "Le Marche aux Dattes," "Une Vielle Rue a la Constantine", "Le Marche aux Chameaux" and "Pont Elcantara," are all delightful bits of life one sees every day in this sunny land. His color is rich and studied, each picture presenting a striking unity of effect.

The more familiar spots have no less interest, for Mr. Parker has the faculty of giving each its true value from the point of view of the picturesque and interesting light and atmospheric effects. He is a landscape painter who works with great care and neatness.

This successful exposition certainly shows that Parker has found a place among the most highly reputed landscape painters of the French school and yet he doesn't seem as pleased over it as he might be. He says that the long run of his exhibition has kept him in Paris and away from his favorite sport—skiing. But then some people are never satisfied.

DARWIN'S COFFIN FOUND IN ENGLAND

Farnborough, England, May 5—Charles Darwin's coffin, in which the body of the author of "The Origin of Species," rested for thirty-six hours after his death, has been found here in the coach-house of New Inn.

The brass nameplate carries the inscription:

"Charles Robert Darwin. Died April 19, 1882."

The coffin was made of solid oak from the estate of Darwin, at Down, near here, where the great scientist wished to be buried.

When it was arranged that the burial should take place in Westminster Abbey, another and more elaborate coffin was provided. Proprietors of New Inn do not know how the coffin found its way to the old coach-house, now used as a garage.

OLD-TIME BASEBALL STARS FIND JOBS IN MINORS; ALL ACTIVE

New York, May 5—Where are the stars of yesterday? asked the great bard, and echo answers where? A fortunate few retire to a life of ease and go into various small businesses, some of which make money. But the vast majority find a haven in some minor league, getting by on what they know, if anything. Sooner or later, Age, the inevitable, overtakes them and then—oblivion. They can't all be Joe McGinnitys, pitching winning base ball at fifty-two.

Some of them, however, last an unconscionable time. Take the case of Beals Becker, for example. Beals was in the majors some seventeen years ago and since passing down below has been one of the leading hitters of the Class AA leagues. He is doing nicely right now with Seattle. On the same club is Jim Bagby who topped the American League pitchers as late as 1920.

OLD TIMERS

Not far away, at Sacramento, is Ray Keating, a Yankee pitcher of the pre-Chance era; Merlin Kopp, with the Athletics eight years ago and Bob Schang, brother of Wally and once with the Giants. At San Francisco you will find Jeff Pfeffer, Pete Kilduff and Sam Agnew, to say nothing of Archie Yelle. Tim Hendryx, another old-time Yankee, and Frank Brower.

Ferdie Schupp, who left handed the National League silly in 1917-18, is with aKnsas City in the American Association. So is Dr. John Lavan, Jimmy Zinn, Frank Ellerbe and several others.

Down below we find Harry Courtney ex-Senator; Hugh Bedient, star of the 1912 world series while with the Boston Red Sox; "Red" Smith, ex-Dodger and ex-Brave; Wilbur Good, Paul Fittery and Bert Niehoff teamed up on the Atlanta Crackers with several recent major league discards, identity unimportant.

Larry Kopf, Red shortstop in the same series, is another Little Rock asset, and right alongside of him is Russel Blackburne, whose $12,000 purchase by the White Sox years ago startled the baseball world of that time.

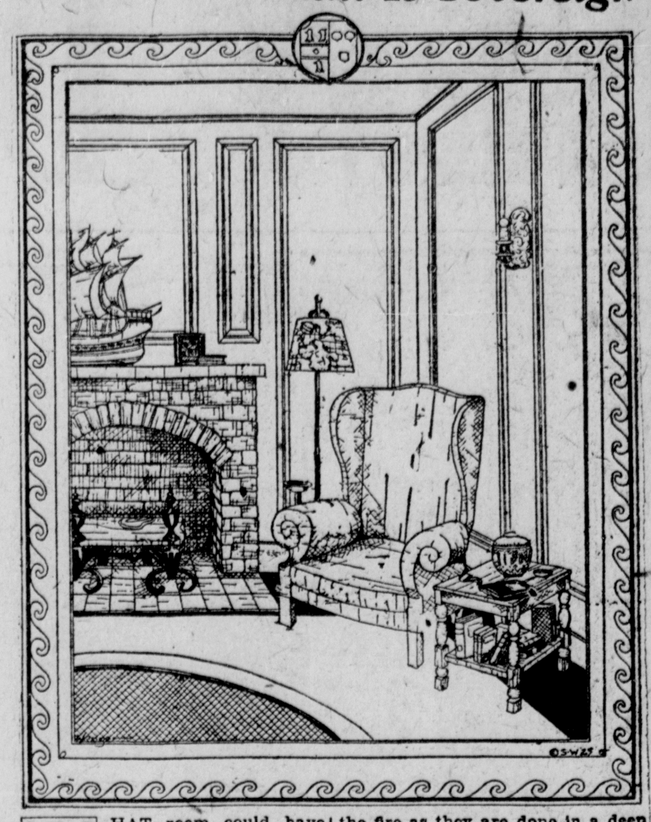
A Comfy Room Where Man Is Sovereign



WHAT room could have about it more the atmosphere of a place for a man to secret himself among his trophies and books than the one sketched above? From the old ship model, beautifully preserved in its coat of velvet finish varnish, to the handy table in a colorful enameloid, the room bespeaks its ownership.

The walls and ceiling are in a soft gray old Dutch enamel, the latter being a trifle lighter in tone. The panels and mantel-piece as well as the floor are finished in floorlac, a varnish and stain combined.

The tiles bring out the glow of the fire as they are done in a deep rich red, and the andirons in a flat tone black paint. The comfy chair is of a vari-colored velour tapestry and the room is further enhanced by having the rug brought out in a warm red combined with deep blue and gray shades.

An individual touch is given through the adjustable lampshade. It has an interesting old map glued on the parchment frame being protected and retaining its antique appearance by a coat of velvet finish varnish.

A room so arranged cannot help but prove engaging for it suggests comfort and snugness as well as beauty.

Let Them Laugh,
Young Man,
Let Them Laugh!

Certainly the average old man's store misunderstands you—so what's the use of wasting your young life in a place where they still think John L. could have knocked the tar out of Jack Dempsey.

You are animated—they are antiquated.

You are up and doing—they are down and out.

You want what you want—the "old oaken bucket" store cannot supply it—

WE CAN.

"NOT POSSIBLE TO CLASSIFY" BY MACK SAUER

A few jottings of the day by Samuel Pepys, Jr.: I out of bed when the clock went four and got me a heavy coat to put on the bed to keep us warm, but could not find the cat, as did Edgar Allen Poe, so the story goes. Finally, up to fix the furnace at which I shot my ire, but long it took to return the fire, so that my coal bill will be high enough, heaven knows.

To breakfast, where my wife, poor wretch, had me some sausage and a mince pie, and we dined in state, but of a truth the mince pie a luxury I could ill afford. By and by to my labors where came a poem about bobbed hair, it being well done and of choice phrasing, but of a truth just a little too trashy for putting in print. Many letters, too, about good results from Gazette classified ads.

Came two fellows walking from coast to coast to visit me, and right away I observed something of good character they ahve got, but a great deal, if not too much of a liking for roaming about, but fear all profit they have made in travel will signify little. Made them a brave speech about a rolling stone gathering no moss, yet if the truth were known, I would like to be with them myself.

To the Bijou in the evening where sat close to the pipe organ, a mighty good show and well put on; sat through the show crunching some parched corn I carried in my pockets, much to the discomfort of those around me, who said nothing,only giving sharp glances.

Home through the throng and at the Presbyterian church, was come upon by a beggar, who asked me for a helping. Gave him a handful of parched corn which he threw in the street and so late home reading about Charles Dawes, a man I love above all else.

GRAND JURY RETURNS SIX INDICTMENTS AFTER MAY SESSON

Six true bills including one secret indictment were returned by the May Grand Jury after deliberating slightly more than three hours Monday afternoon.

Eight witnesses were examined and four joint indictments were retured against Forest Sibole and Herschel White, both of Springfield, on charges of burglary and larceny. One indictment was returned against Lewis Swan, Xenia, on a charge of unlawfully possessing drugs.

After conducting the usual inspection of the County Jail, it was respectfully suggested by the jury that the jail be better ventilated.

The first indictment against White and Sibole on a burglary and larceny charge was in connection with the robbery of the Reeves and Bryant clothing store, Jamestown, April 12 of a quantity of men's haberdashery. A value of $255.75 was placed on the loot obtained.

A second indictment against the pair charged them with robbing the M. C. Nagley grocery store of Cedarville, April 23 of cash and merchandise valued at $26.08.

The third indictment was in connection with the burglary of the Ross Company Store, of Bowersville April 9 of goods valued at $86.40. Another indictment charged them with implication in the robbery of the Vincent Rigio pool room, of Cedarville of goods valued at $26.70 including 2,000 cigarettes.

Lewis Swan, was indicted on a charge of unlawfully possessing drugs, namely, six tablets of morphine.

Each of the men indicted by the Grand Jury will probably be arraigned in Common Pleas Court within three days on the charges.

ZIMMERMAN

Mr. and Mrs. Alvah (Joe) Stine were callers at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Stine, Sunday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Homer Koogler and Monroe Snyder and family, of Belmont, spent Sunday with the latter's parents. Mr. and Mrs. Snyder, at Brookville.

Ed Wright and wife and Harley Parker wife and baby, of Dayon, were recent Sunday guests of their sister, Mrs. Charles Stewart, and Mr. Stewart.

A very enjoyable concert was given at this place Wednesday evening April 22, by the Manchester Glee Club, composed of eighteen students of Manchester College. Both sacred and secular songs were beautifully sung. Several readings were well rendered. Much credit is due their excellent training as shown in their solo, quartet and ensemble singing.

The primary grades and their teacher, Miss Gladys Grier are very proud of the banner which they won for the highest per centage in attendance and punctualty for April, for the the schools of Beavercreek township.

Simplicity marked the ceremony which united Miss Pauline Brown and Mr. Raph Shoup in marriage, at 6:45 Thursday, April 16, at the home of Dr. Christman in Dayton. The double ring service was used. The bride was becomingly attired in grey crepe dress with hose to match, and black kid pumps.

Mrs. Shoup is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Brown,and a graduate of Beavercreek High School, Class of 1922. She is an accomplished young lady and a popular singer. The groom is an industrious young farmer, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Shoup, and grandson of Mr. Ephriam Shoup of Shoup's Station.

Following the ceremony the briday couple went to the home of the groom's parents where refreshments were served. Only the immediate family were present. They are now domiciled at the houp farm home on the Xenia Pike, which was recently vacated by Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Shoup, who now live at Shoup's Station

Then young people of Mh. Zion neighborhood gave a pleasant affair at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Shoup Saturday evening, following their marriage, honoring Mrs. Shoup with a shower of many beautiful and useful presents. Games were played, and refreshments served. Present were: Viola Huston, Sarah Ferguson, Dessie Thomas, Olive Belt, Marcena Hawker Helen Benham, Irene and Forence Stafford, Etta Marie Kable, Charlotte Gabler, Helen Greer, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Swigart, Mr. and Mrs. Ward Boyer, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Shoup, Mrs. I. N. Kable, Mrs. E. Stafford, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas, Estel Johnson, Oscar Kable, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Shoup.

Mr. and Mrs. Hower Cosler entertained at dinner Sunday, the latter's mother, Mrs. I. N. Kable, and Miss Eta Marie Kable and Oscar Kable.

Garfield Zimmerman and wife were guests of the latter's parents,Mr. and Mrs. George Stine Sunday.

Rev. E. B. (Colonel) Bagwell, of North Manchester, Ind., preached at this place Sunday morning and evening. Rev. B. was pastor of the church here for several years. This is his first visit since he left twenty six years ago. He is now connected with Manchester College and came Sunday in the interest of that institution.

Mrs. Lewis Stewart was a dinner and supper guest of Mrs. I. M. McCoy, Sunday.

A Mother's Day program will be given at this place Sunday, May 10, at 10:30 fast time.

How's Your Stomach

MRS. LAURA HAGER

"It is just wonderful what Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will do for any one who suffers with stomach and bowel trouble," said Mrs. Laura Hager of 630 Vinton St., Toledo. "I had typhoid fever and it left me in very bad health, my bowels would not act, my food would set heavy on my stomach, did not digest properly. Gas would form and cause me great distress. I was weak, nervous, and in a rundown condition. I took the 'Golden Medical Discovery' and it cured me of my stomach and bowel trouble and built me up in good health. What 'Golden Medical Discovery' has done for me I am sure it will do for others."

Step into any drug store and ask for Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery in Tablets or liquid, or send 10c to Dr. Pierce's Invalids' Hotel Buffalo, N. Y., for trial pkg. and write for free advice.

GAS BUGGIES—Isn't That Just Like A Woman? By BECK

NEW PASTOR WILL BEGIN PASTORATE IN XENIA THIS WEEK

Appointment for the coming year of the Revs. F. H. and Zelda Landgrabe as pastors of the Church of the Nazarene in this city was announced at the annual Ohio District Assembly at Marion, O., which adjourned its meeting Monday.

The Rev. M. R. Gilley, pastor of the local church, who resigned at the annual meeting April 22, has been assigned to the Church of the Nazarene at Warren, Pa. The Rev. Gilley left Monday for his home in Olivet, Ill., for a few weeks vacation before taking over the pastorate at Warren June 1.

The Rev. and Mrs. Rev. F. H. Landgrabe were called to the pastorate here following the acceptance of the Rev. Gilley's resignation and will arrive in Xenia the latter part of the week, it is announced.

They come highly recommended by the district superintendent and the church of Newark where they have served as pastors for the last five years.

Among other appointments made at the district assembly, is the announcement of the assignment of the Rev. H. W. Welch, district evangelist at the local Church of the Nazarene for the past two years to Hamilton, O., for the coming year. The Rev. Mr. Welch was elected by the assembly two years ago from Franklin, O., and has served successively here for two years. The Rev. Mr. Welch will leave next Sunday for his new post at Hamilton.

The Rev. Frank Watkin, former pastor of the local church was again assigned to the pastorate at Marion, O., for the coming year, it was announced.

Mrs. Mary Belle Spencer, of Chicago, one of the best known women lawyers in the country, in defending Pedro Rojas, who was accused of burglary, openly accused Judge Williams of prejudice. Her client was acquitted, but after the trial was over she was sent to jail for contempt of court.

EARL SHORT NAMED CLERK OF ELECTION BOARD AT MEETING

Earl Short, Republican, was re-elected clerk of the Greene County Board of Elections and John Alexander, Democrat, Yellow Springs, was elected chief at the organization meeting in the Court House Monday night.

Mr. Short, who is deputy clerk of courts, was elected clerk on the first ballot, a departure from the usual conflict of recent years when a division between Republican and Democratic members resulted in the clerkship being decided by a drawing after five ballots.

Mr. Alexander was also elected chief on the first ballot, succeeding H. A. Higgins, whose place on the board has been taken by Ed Wood, board are D. O. Jones, Beavercreek, and Walton Spahr, Bellbrook, both Republicans.

The board prepared petitions on request of residents of New Osborn to be circulated in that village for additional taxation to provide $3,247.64 for current operating expenses. If the petition attract sufficient names, they will be returned to the board and certified by the board to the county auditor to be put on the tax duplicate, eliminating the necessity for a special election to acquire the extra levy. Action on this matter influenced the early meeting of the board.

INDIANA TEACHES SCHOOL BOYS HOW LAWS ARE ENACTED

Indianapolis, May 5.— When Hoosier educators this year made possible the first Indiana Junior Legislature, they set a precedent. But present indications are that when the second session is held in 1927, the Junior General Assemblies also will be convened in a dozen other States.

As introduced in Indiana, the purpose of the junior body of "lawmakers," is to give the high school students practical experience in disposing of the State's big issues of the day.

Senators and Representatives are selected from the high schools in each community in much the same manner as the regular Legislators are elected, only the student's scholarship, rather than popularity is the deciding factor.

REGULAR SESSIONS

At the close or the regular Legislature, the high school "lawmakers" journey to the state capital, where their session is convened under the guidance of officers of the regular Senate and House.

The experiment in this State proved such a complete success that requests have been received by Dr. Henry Noble Sherwood, State Superintendent of Education from sixteen other State Boards of Education interested in adopting the plan.

Student Legislature avails the youth

Dr. Sherwood points out that the of the State actual experience in the art of lawmaking this being materially more profitable and instructive than information culled from textbooks.

REAL BENEFIT

"The real benefit to the high school pupil," said Dr. Sherwood, "is not alone the widening of his perspective by discussing the pressing problems in open forum. Obviously, present-day problems must be solved in sweat from the brows of bona fide lawmakers, but the Junior Legislature does prepare the youth for shouldering this responsibility when his time comes."

The junior Indiana "lawmakers," at their first session, followed closely the calendar of the regular General Assembly, even to the staging of a "strike" by the minority Senate group which differed with the majority on a "gerrymander" measure.

A student Speaker presided in the House and the Senate elected a President pro tem. from its own ranks. But the presiding officers of the regular Senate and House sat close by to unravel parliamentary knots and define legislative procedure.

Governor Ed Jackson frequently conferred with the "administration" groups in both Houses and outlined at the opening of the session his desire for the enactment of certain "laws."

SCOUTS TO MEET

Boy Scout Troop No. 1 will hold its regular weekly meeting Wednesday night at 7:30 o'clock in the new quarters at the Company L Armory, East Main Street, it is announced by Scoutmaster R. H. Kingsbury. A full attendance is desired.

Dr. H. C. Messenger delivered a short talk to the scouts at the last meeting on first aid treatment and bandaging, Scoutmaster Kingsbury said.

Local Boy Scouts are looking forward to exercises on Memorial Day and it is desired that each scout have a regular uniform by that day.

MICHAEL'S MARRIAGE

By MICHAEL

CHAPTER XXXIII.

What does one talk about at the dinner-table with an undertaker? The question occupied Michael as he drove to the Pharley house. There was the weather, of course, but could one ask if the weather had any effect on business? He smiled. He imagined that Lonnie Cappers could give some amusing answers to the question.

He was admitted by a coal-black but intelligent appearing maid and led to the library. "Miss Lilah asks to be excused for a few minutes." The room impressed him favorably. It really was a library, containing many cases of books. "I wonder if they're all about embalming and that sort of thing?" He smiled and inspected one of the cases. Hardy, Meredith, Fielding, Lever. The pictures on the walls were not those that are usually seen in American homes. There was an original landscape by Relinck, a good Corot reproduction, two etchings by Whisler and a portrait that Michael imagined might be a family heirloom, celebrating some stone-faced Puritan ancestor. Taken in general the library was a room that radiated cultivation and taste.

Lilah appeared in the doorway between her father and mother. Mr. Pharley wore his dinner coat in a comfortable manner that reflected ease and familiarity. It was plain that Lilah derived her good looks from him, not from her mother. Michael did not feel as uncomfortable as he had expected.

"Well, this is the whole damn family," Lilah laughed. Mrs. Pharley appeared slightly shocked; her husband's welcoming smile was unchanged.

They were not kept long waiting for dinner. It began with a fruit cocktail in which Michael was sure he detected a trace of liquor. "Well, well!" he thought.

The conversation moved in conventional channels. Michael was very comfortable. He thought of Elaine Alloway and the letter he had received from her that afternoon; and he contrasted the Pharleys with the Alloways. He was glad the Pharleys were giving him that prospective son-in-law look. Lilah was regarding hi madoringly and smiling encouragingly. He wondered how he would broach the subject to her father. Should he just say: "I wish to marry your daughter!" Somehow that didn't see madequate. He suddenly decided that it would be better to speak now than to wait until he was alone with Mr. Pharley.

"I suppose Lilah has told you that I asked her to be my wife?" He spoke calmly, addressing himself midway between Lilah and her father. There was no response for several seconds. The eyes of Pharley pere and Pharley mere met. Lilah flushed. She was surprised.

"Yes, she has, Michael," Mrs. Pharley answered finally. "We are proud of the fact." Her husband nodded.

"Then it is all right with you—I mean you consider me worthy of being Lilah's husband?"

Mr. Pharley cleared his throat.. "This is a matter I expected to hear from you about in private, Mr. M—er, Michael. There are several points that I think should be taken up before we—er, give our final consent." Lilah's eyes were upon the table. Michael was regarding the speaker with intensity.

Mrs. Pharley spoke: "Mr. Pharley means that we have no objections, Michael, but that there are several matters which we think ought to be agreed upon. Parents you know—" She did not complete the sentence. Tears appeared in her eyes. Lilah jumped up and went to her mother's side.

"There, mother!" she patted her upon the shoulder. Mr. Pharley was uncomfortable. Michael, glancing furtively at him, wished ardently that it was all over. He always wanted to flee when a woman began to cry.

The dinner went on, but it was enveloped in the same restrained air.

"An or deal, wasn't it?" Lilah said gayly when she at last was alone with Michael, admiring the engagement ring sparkling in the dim light.

"Well, I suppose a fellow gets used to it along about the time he gets married the sixth time."

Lilah cuddled closer to him. "Let's plan what we're going to do," she said enthusiastically.

"All right. But, Lilah, there's one thing I wanted to discuss with you."

She looked up at him expectantly.

"I think we ought to have a long engagement. It'll give us time to know ourselves for sure."

She sat up erect and her eyes bored into his: "Aren't you SURE now, Michael?"

Ride on GENUINE
LOW AIR PRESSURE

IF YOU can cut down the air pressure in your balloon tires it will add just that much more to their cushioning effect.

Because—

These tires have the new U. S. "Low-Pressure Tread." This tread gives a much greater area of road contact than a round tread.

It distributes the load evenly over the tread surface and reduces the weight on the individual tread blocks. This does away with early, uneven and disfiguring tread wear.

U. S. Royal Balloon gives long service even at lower air pressures than have been recommended in the past.

For in addition to this new Low-Pressure tread they are built of Latex-Treated Web Cord. The only cord construction in which the cords are webbed together with pure rubber latex. This gives maximum strength and maximum flexibility.

Ride on genuine low pressure.

It will surprise you to know what a difference it makes.
